VOLUME 96 | OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., FEBRUARY 15, 1973 | PER COPY 10c | NUMBER 51

Right to Work . . .

A bi-partisan group of Congressmen is sponsoring a bill which would prohibit compulsory unionism in all fifty states—a national right to work law. The National Right to Work committee is mounting a nation-wide campaign to mobilize grass roots support for enactment of the bill.

We have always felt that Americans should not be compelled to join a labor union in order to hold a job. We have always believed this violated the tenets of a democracy.

Today under sanction of federal laws, unions and management can make agreements whereby employees can be forced into a union. Under such compulsory "union shop," agreements, the employe must either join and pay dues and fees to the union or be fired from his job.

This situation exists in 31 states. Only in 19 states which have enacted state right to work laws, can employes exercise freedom of choice to join or not to join a union.

Compulsory union membership is the source of monopoly power by these unions, and is the real root of most of the corruption in labor unions today. It is also one of the reasons for inflation.

The right of workers to organize has been perverted to include the compelling of men to join labor organizations against their will. Right to work laws seek to remedy these abuses of power.

Right to work simply means that an individual has the right to join a union, and a right to refrain from joining a union without losing his job. A union ought to be able to stand on its merits.

We would certainly favor a right to work law which guaranteed a free choice.

House Rejects Sloan's Plan On Districting

The House of Delegates, with just a few days left to act on a legislative reapportionment plan, engaged in its first floor debate on the governor's redistricting package Tuesday.

Delegate Sloan of Allegany county had an amended plan which was defeated. Sloan's proposal would have extended a district shared by Allegany and Garrett counties farther into Allegany and, according to delegates, would have given the Republicans the opportunity to elect another Republican delegate from Allegany county. The GOP currently holds three of the county's four house seats.

Delegate DeCorsey Bolden of Oakland, explained that Sloan's attempt would have put Westernport and McCoole in the 1-A legislative district. At present the towns of Barton, Lonaconing, Midland, Shaft, Pekin and Gilmore are included with Garrett county in that legislative district. Sloan's Amendment was defeated 59 to 41.

The General Assembly must enact its own redistricting plan by the 45th day of the session or the Manee program, submitted on opening day, would automatically take effect.

Man Pleads Guilty Forgery, Uttering

A man pleaded guilty of forgery and uttering a forged check in Circuit Court before Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., last Friday. He is also AWOL.

Steven Clinton Bowen, Crellin, pleaded guilty of two charges. The one charge was forgery by using another's name on a check and the second count was uttering the check in the amount of $147 on April 2, 1972, at the Crellin Service Station.

He was sentenced to three years on each count to the Department of Correction of the Maryland Penitentiary. Sentences are to run concurrently.

The sentence was suspended and Bowen was placed on parole under the supervision and jurisdiction of the Department of Parole and Probation for three years. He is to be of good behavior, refrain from any infraction of the law and abide by the rules and regulations of the Department of Parole and Probation.

Bowen will be held in the Garrett County Jail until picked up by U. S. Army authorities because of being absent without leave.

Named A Finalist Under 1973 Merit Scholarship List

Donald R. Richter, student at Northern High school, Accident, has received a certificate of merit signifying that he has advanced to Finalist standing in the 1973 merit scholarship program, an honor shared by less than one-half of one percent of the nation's graduating secondary school seniors. Notice of his achievement was sent by Darrell A. Malone, counselor at Northern High school.

As one of about 14,500 finalists he remains in competition for merit scholarships. Some 3,000 merit scholars are named. Finalists will be notified between mid-March and mid-May.

A letter from the executive vice president of the National Merit Scholarship corporation told Richter the program recognized him as "an academically talented person who has the ability to become one of our country's future leaders in your chosen field. Your potential will be realized only through perserverance and the most extensive training you can obtain; thus, we urge you to continue your formal education."

Richter, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Richter, was recently named Northern's Betty Crocker winner, and also winner of the American Legion oratorical contest on Jan. 26.

Two Jail Inmates Caught Smoking Marijuana Monday

Two inmates of the Garrett County Jail have been charged with possession of marijuana, having been caught smoking it Monday morning. Whether it comes from the confiscated marijuana of a few weeks ago or from some other source, was uncertain.

Jerry Waybright and Harry Wrightsman apparently had obtained the substance and were smoking it. A strong odor of burning marijuana had been detected by officials at the jail.

When caught the two men apparently tried to dispose of it.

No trial date has been set.

His retail experience includes 17 years as manager of a large department store in Atlanta, Ga., prior to coming to the H-P organization in February, 1953, in Oakland. Since that time he has managed stores in Meyersdale, Lewisburg, and Petersburg.

A native of Everett, Pa., he served four years in the U. S. Navy prior to going with H-P. He has served as a scoutmaster and is an active volunteer fireman.

The court found the youth to be a delinquent minor and recommitted him to the Maryland Training School for Boys until released by due process of the law.

A 15-year-old male of RD 1, Swanton, was charged with being a delinquent minor and specifically on three counts: operating a motor vehicle without a license, operating an unregistered motor vehicle on a public highway, and failing to stop after a property damage accident. He was placed on probation before verdict. He is to make restitution by $10-per-month payments to Ritchie 11 Sharpless for damage done.

ing, and an infection in the blood vessels and arteries going into his kidney, which caused his temperature to rise as high as 105 degrees at times, combined to make removal necessary.

After a 60-day interval, a second operation may take place, using a specially matched kidney from a child donor. A computer is used to ensure close matching.

He will be contained on the dialysis machine until his second operation. Of the thirteen children recently having second kidney transplants, 11 have now accepted their new kidneys and are recuperating.

Medical prognosis remains good for up to three or four kidney transplants.

According to his grandmother, Mrs. Jonas Beachy, 10-year-old Brian seems in fairly good spirits and in a few days he should be able to get around in a wheelchair.

He has been at the Richmond Medical Center since December, when he 1st underwent surgery. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Beachy, are living in an apartment in Richmond to be near their son.

Contribute Over $17,000

Donors to the Brian Beachy Kidney Fund, including donations from the January 21 radiothon by the Rotary club, and from individuals, organizations, and schools, now totals $17,200.

This report was obtained Wednesday afternoon from Richard Stanton, treasurer of the fund, at the First National Bank in Oakland.

Summons To Greatness

"Summons to Greatness," is a collection of inspirational thought and practical ideas from the messages and addresses of Richard M. Nixon, president of the United States.

Here is another one of his messages:

"The world's hopes poured into America, along with its people—and those hopes, those dreams that have been brought from every corner of the world, have become a part of the hope that we hold out to the world.

"We seek an open world—open to ideas, open to the exchange of goods and people, a world in which no people great or small, will live in angry isolation.

"I believe we must build an Alliance strong enough to deter those who might threaten war, close enough to provide for continuous and far-reaching consultation, trusting enough to accept the diversity of views, realistic enough to deal with the world as it is, and flexible enough to explore new channels of constructive cooperation.

"We are not allies because we are bound by treaty; we bind ourselves by treaty because we are allied in meeting common purposes and common concerns.

"What the United States wants for South Vietnam is not the important thing. What North Vietnam wants for South Vietnam is not the important thing. What is important is what the people of South Vietnam want for South Vietnam.

"Partners are not expected always to agree. But they are expected to consult. Our partnership should be one in which the United States lectures less and listens more. It should be one in which clear, consistent procedures are established to ensure that the shaping of the future of the nations in the Americas reflects the will of those nations.

Now I know there are those who say the domino theory is obsolete. They haven't talked to the dominoes."

KATE STEWART

This week our column is featuring Kate Stewart. Kate has been working for our company for over eight years as a cashier. On a recent evaluation from one of the front-end managers, Kate was described as being neat, friendly, courteous, accurate, dependable and popular with customers and fellow workers.

Kate holds the record for the longest service as a cashier in our company. She is an expert at her job and we're proud of the fine job that she does on the front line everyday.

If you've ever seen Kate, we don't have to tell you that she is always neat and well-groomed. Apparently she must be friendly, courteous and popular among shoppers because in our 1971 and 1972 "Cashier of the Year" contests, Kate accumulated more customer votes than any other cashier.

Accuracy is a very important part of a cashier's job. It's a very rare occasion when Kate is more than 10c off.

If we ever get into a jam and need extra help, we can always depend upon Kate. Also in her eight years with our company her work attendance record is almost perfect.

Kate is serious about her work. She goes out of her way to help a new employee and is well-liked and highly respected by all of her fellow workers. She is helpful in her department and has made recommendations which have aided in making the front end a smoother running operation.

Kate and her husband Bill live in the Hutton area. They have two children and two grandchildren. Believe it or not, after working with food all day, Kate enjoys baking and cooking at home. For relaxation, she and Bill enjoy bowling, a sport in which they both excel.

There's something for everyone in an FNB checking account!

CLOSED Washington's Birthday Feb. 19, 1973

An FNB Checking Account does have something to offer everyone.

Many people like the convenience of banking at The First National Bank of Oakland as much as they like the convenience of the checking account itself. And, they find they can pay their bills from their favorite "easy chair" by mail.

Others like the "no extra cash around the house" aspect of an FNB Checking Account. Yet, their money is always at their fingertips when they need it. And, they find that figuring their household budgets and Income Taxes are made easier . . . because they always have receipts for expenditures with their cancelled checks.

But, everyone likes a First National Bank of Oakland Checking Account most of all because . . . IT'S FREE! You will too . . . just try it and see!

Could State Police Be Sprouting Wings

State policemen can function almost as well as a guardian angel, as they proved during an emergency Saturday evening.

Garrett County Memorial Hospital had sent an emergency call for blood to Cumberland's Memorial Hospital. A state policeman from LaVale barracks picked up the blood and lost no time in bringing the essential plasma to the Oakland hospital.

The officer took less than an hour and ten minutes from the time the emergency call had gone out.

Can state policemen be angels in disguise?

Snowmobile Trails Open In County

Three experimental snowmobile trails have been opened in State-owned forest lands.

The trails will be monitored by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources to determine whether snowmobiles can be operated without danger to animals, birds, vegetative cover, land and water resources.

DNR officials will observe the effects of the trails on natural resources to provide a basis for deeding whether to expand, maintain, or curtail the snowmobile network.

The trails, all in Garrett County, have been designed to protect area wildlife and vegetation, while providing recreational opportunities for growing ranks of snowmobile enthusiasts. Trails avoid the valleys which provide shelter for mountain game, small animals and birds, and by following the ridges of the mountains they minimize or prevent damage to trees, shrubs and ground cover.

Snowmobile trails are marked with the international snowmobile symbols and vehicles must stay on the marked and approved trails. Hard surfaced roads may only be crossed at adesignated points, and stop signs must be obeyed. The three trails now open are at Deep Creek Lake, Herrington Manor and New Germany.

The Deep Creek Lake trail starts at a small parking area on the Glendale road and roughly follows the Meadow Mountain fire trail.

The Herrington Manor trail has facilities for parking at Herrington Lake. The trail can be negotiated in three directions. One section follows Herrington Creek and connects with Brier Ridge. The two southern loops go through the even-aged management area and follow the Garrett Memorial Trail.

At New Germany, the trail begins at a parking area about 4 miles southwest of the intersection of route 40 and New Germany road and runs along an old abandoned section of Meadow Mountain road.

Complete trail descriptions and detail maps may be obtained from the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, at Annapolis, or from the DNR regional service center, in, LaVale, or from Oscar Cryer, Forest Superintendent, Savage River State Forest, Grantsville; Myrl Wilt, Forest Superintendent, Potomac State Forest, Deer Park; Charles Thomas Park Superintendent, Herrington Manor State Park Oakland

Seek Funds For Historic Preservation

The Allegany County Delegation has introduced House Bill 604 in the current General Assembly which seeks to transfer $100,000 previously appropriated for the restoration of the old Queen City Station in Cumberland, to save other historical sites, according to David J. Williams, delegation chairman.

The bill which was requested by the local Bicentennial Committee would provide that the funds be spent under the direction and supervision of the Board of Public Works of Maryland in cooperation with the Allegany County Bicentennial Committee.

Projects slated to receive portions of the funds include a model replica of Fort Cumberland; research and restoration of the Narrows area; and a Bicentennial Historic Trail to extend across Allegany, Washington and Garrett Counties.

Also included in the plan is an extension of the terminus of the C and O Canal to downtown Cumberland where an archives building and visitors center will preserve and protect relics of the era of the canalers. Other sites due to benefit are the Cresap House at Oldtown and access accommodations for the scenic elevation known as Dan's Rock.

The original appropriation for the Queen City station remained intact when the required additional matching federal funds failed to prove adequate for estimated restoration costs. The station was subsequently demolished.

Set-Aside Needs Under 1973 Feed Program Reduced

The U. S. Department of Agriculture recently announced that the set-aside requirements for the 1973 Feed Grain Program are being reduced in order to achieve larger corn and soybean crops and thereby meet an increase in domestic and export demand which has developed since the program was announced on December 11. J. Walter Margroff, Chairman, County ASC Committee, said that the following changes in set-aside acreage and rates have been made.

Option A—The set-aside for full compliance changed from 30 percent to 25 percent set-aside of the farm's total feed grain base. Payment will be on an acreage equal to one-half of each feed grain base established for the farm. Per acre payment rates will equal the farm program yield times 32 cents per bushel for corn; 30 cents for grain sorghum; and 26 cents for barley. Through a combination of the set-aside payment and the 5 month (October-February) national average market price for the respective grains, participants who set aside 25 percent of their feed grain base will be guaranteed a national average return equal to 70 percent of Parity on October 1, 1973. This guarantee is based on production from one-half of their corn, grain sorghum, or barley bases. Supplemental payments, if any, to such farmers will be made as soon as possible after March 1, 1974. Under this plan farmers can harvest hay or graze set-aside acreage if they agree to a 30 percent reduction in payment.

Option B—The set-aside requirement changed from 15 percent of the farm's total feed grain base to zero. Payment will be on an acreage equal to one-half of each feed grain base established for the farm. The per acre payment rates will be equal to the farm program yield times 15 cents per bushel for corn; 14 cents for grain sorghum; and 12 cents for barley.

Farmers electing to participate under this plan will receive payment as soon as possible after July 1, 1973, but will not be eligible for any supplemental payment and will have no minimum guarantee. In addition, the total feed grain acreage for 1973 cannot exceed the planted feed grain acreage for 1972.

Mr. Margroff said that the farmer must maintain the conserving base established for the farm under either option. Commodity loans will be available to participants on the farm's entire production.

Signup under the 1973 feed gram and wheat set-aside programs began on February 5 and will continue through March 16. Eligible farmers having a farm with a feed grain base or wheat allotment may visit their local ASCS county office to inquire about the program.

B & L Plant Lure To City People

After a couple of years in the big city driving a truck in the Washington suburbs, Stanley DeWitt, Jr., was more than ready to return to Garrett county. A feature story about him and other residents appeared in Tuesday's issue of The Sun, with photos of DeWitt and Pat Fischetti, plant manager for the Bausch and Lomb lens plant near Mt. Lake Park.

The feature continues: "Two years ago he couldn't have gone back home to Garrett county. But now he was able to find a job in the new Bausch and Lomb optical lens grinding plant.

"These days, fewer Garrett county men are being forced to find jobs in the city. The opening of the Bausch and Lomb plant, as well as the development of the tourist industry, and dissatisfaction with urban crime and congestion, is making it possible for them to earn a living close to home.

"'There's just less crime here,' DeWitt said. 'You're not always getting stuff stolen out of your car.'

"Industrialists, community leaders and workers say that it is becoming less likely that a high school diploma means a one-way ticket to Baltimore, Washington, or Pittsburgh.

"'So many of these people left only because there were no job opportunities', according to Pat Fischetti, manager of the Bausch and Lomb plant. 'And they don't really think of themselves as having left.'

"The company moved into the county two years ago with some apprehension but with about 1,000 job applications already waiting. Many people filled out the forms at the Employment Security Administration without knowing what kinds of jobs were available.

"In a survey, the employment office discovered that some 6,000 people in 15,000 households wanted full-time work but couldn't find it.

"There are only 2 other small plants in the area and work done outside, such as construction, is often interrupted by cold weather.

"Bausch and Lomb took a chance in moving to Oakland. The local people had almost no experience as plant workers, the slow pace of life can be unattractive to executives and the main industrial access is by truck.

"But the drawing points were a more reasonably priced site, workers, and a town willing to acquire any industry that would allay the 13.1 percent unemployment without polluting air and water, thus hurting the tourist trade.

"The company brought in a core of a dozen executives from the home office in Rochester, N. Y. Most of the other 260 jobs are semi-skilled but medical problems like bad eyesight and bad teeth caused some hiring problems. Also adapting to shift work and quotas caused problems for some.

"'The biggest thing,' says Dale Gnegy who quit a TV repair business to come to the plant, 'is no windows to look out.'

"According to statistics, the plant hasn't reduced unemployment yet. Charles Briner, manager of the employment security office, says that the estimated unemployment rate last month was 13.1 percent, but a lot of that was due to the lack of snow that caused a slump in the Winter tourist trade.

"Briner noted that it is steady, year-round work and there is the likelihood of expansion.

"The plant was the largest single employer of graduates from Southern Junior-Senior High School last June and Vocational Counselor Kenneth Bittinger said that for the 1st time students are transferring in because heir families are returning to Garrett County."

Was Freshman; Is Now A Sophomore

Three students who entered Marshall university in Huntington this past fall as freshmen are now sophomores as a result of the new College Level examination program. One of those students is Ed Naylor, of Oakland, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Naylor.

Naylor received 24 hours of credit as a result of the test. Naylor told a school newspaper reporter he "didn't expect this much from it." He said it would speed up his selection of a major. Naylor attributed his success on the test largely to his "college prep curriculum in high school." Admissions director James W. Harless stressed the difficulty of the tests which are based on sophomore norms. He noted that a sound indicator of a student's success seemed to be a "high ACT score," as well as "wide reading experience."

Answer Three Alarms

The Oakland firemen answered three alarms over the weekend two concerning automobiles, and one at a Loch Lynn residence.

An automobile fire on Sunday afternoon shortly after 12 o'clock, damaged a 1967 Pontiac automobile of Eugene Pritts to the extent of about $500, firemen estimated. The fire occurred on Third street, not far from the Oakland fire hall. The inside of the automobile was gutted.

Another truck fire occurred at the corner of Second and [illegible] streets on Saturday evening about 6 o'clock. The 1951 Ford of Eugene Helbig driven by William Mahaffey apparently exploded when Mahaffey started the truck after being parked, the blaze burning the wiring but causing no further damage.

The residence fire occurred on Friday afternoon about 3:30 at the home of Danny Bowman on Lone Lynn. There was no damage to the house but the place was filled with smoke. [illegible] some bones on the stove in the kitchen be[illegible]

U.S. Senator

Proposal Seeks To End Nuclear Testing

Last year I submitted a resolution which called on the President to propose an extension of the Nuclear Test Ban Treaty of 1963 to include underground testing. The resolution was not adopted and I plan to introduce a similar measure this year. I believe the proposal merits the close examination of the Senate, for it could provide the President with the support he needs for a bold new approach to international affairs.

The United States is committed to seek a comprehensive, total and complete ban on nuclear tests. In October 1963, the United States ratified the partial test ban treaty which indicated we are "seeking to achieve the discontinuance of all test explosions of nuclear weapons for all time, determined to continue negotiations to this end."

This commitment, reaffirmed on July 1, 1968, in the Nonproliferation Treaty, has not been fulfilled. Neither the United States nor the Soviet Union has negotiated determinedly to extend the partial test ban treaty to a comprehensive test ban treaty. Indeed, the negotiation positions of the two sides have remained essentially what they were in 1963 when a gap between three onsite inspections offered, and seven requested, deadlocked the talks.

During the years which have passed since the deadlock, there have been ample technical reasons for the updating of our negotiating position. Seismological capabilities have increased substantially. Underground testing above 10 or 20 kilotons can be made extremely risky for the tester by the use of seismic monitoring alone. Meanwhile, reconnaissance capabilities have also improved enormously. These capabilities make it possible for the United States to identify otherwise suspicious events. Many experts believe that these methods, together with other intelligence methods, can provide a firm basis for the negotiation of a suitable treaty using national inspection alone. But in any case, no experts will deny that these technical advances deserve an updating of our negotiating position. And, as noted, our treaty commitments demand such revision.

The test ban is not just unfinished business. It is an important part of our national security requirements. Any dramatic new improvements arising from continuing testing are likely to undermine our security, as other nations learn of these discoveries. The possibility of a truly cheap bomb is a most significant possibility of this kind. The richest nation in the world — armed already with thousands of weapons— does not need it. But poorer countries, unable to invent such a weapon themselves, might well learn it from us. They might then aim the weapons at us.

There are other compelling arguments for a total ban on nuclear tests. The test ban will encourage the effort to prevent proliferation. It will prevent the expense and pollution associated with underground nuclear tests, and it will serve as another step toward wider agreements— just as did the partial test ban treaty.

If the executive branch reopens the question of the test ban, I believe that it will conclude that the case is strong for reaching comprehensive agreement. I believe it will decide that onsite inspection is of only marginal significance today and that verification has ceased to be the important obstacle to agreement. My resolution does not require that this latter conclusion be reached. It calls only for reopening the question. I want to emphasize that the commitments that exist and the technical background have changed. These alone justify a new look at this entire question. The meaning of the proposal is: The administration and Congress have an obligation, after years of unchanging negotiating position, to reconsider the total test ban and make new proposals.

Mishaps Injure Two Last Week

Two persons were slightly injured in two different accidents in the Deer Park-Altamont area February 3 and 6. In five other accidents there were no injuries but moderate to light vehicle damages.

Mrs. Mary Frances Sanders, 32, near Deer Park, operator of one car, was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a two-car mishap February 3 about 12:30 p. m. The accident occurred on State Route 135 at the Deer Park Hotel road.

Mrs. Sanders apparently headed west on Route 135 was stopped, waiting to make a left turn, Mrs. Caroline B. Mellinger, Swanton, noted the Sanders car, applied her brakes and started to skid on an icy patch on the road but hit the Sanders' car in the right rear. Mrs. Mellinger and her passenger, her mother, Mrs. Mabel Brown, both had their glasses thrown off by the impact. Tfc. Robert E. Friend charged Mrs. Mellinger with failing to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

Lawrence Leedinger, Cumberland, one of three passengers in the car driven by Helen E. Bosley, also of Cumberland, was slightly injured in a two-car mishap the afternoon of February 6, in the Altamont area. Helen E. Bosley followed by a truck driven by Lloyd O. Brelsford, Keyser, was proceeding west on State Route 135. Helen Bosley noted a log truck proceeding east. She pulled to the right, sliding into a guard rail. The Leedinger truck then hit the Bosley car in the rear. Trooper Dale Williams investigated.

John C. Demarco, Thomas, W. Va., was traveling north on U. S. Route 219 a short distance south of U. S. Route 50 about 4 p. m. February 6, when a deer came from the right and directly into his path. He struck the deer headon and killed it outright. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater investigated.

Ronald D. Friend, RD 1, Oakland, was driving north on the Swallow Falls road just south of the Oakland-Sang Run road shortly before midnight February 4. He lost control of the car, crossed to the left side of the road and struck the parked car of Janet R. Reams, Beltsville. Tfc. Broadwater charged Friend with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

McLaughlin, RD 1, Swanton, started to pass the Dixon car and hit it in the left rear. Tfc. Friend charged Dixon with operating an unsafe vehicle.

Key 73 Steering Committee Meets

Twelve persons representing fifteen churches in the Salisbury-Grantsville area met Tuesday evening, February 6, at Springs Mennonite Church.

The treasurer, Mark Folk, reported a balance of $395.99. A motion was approved that the treasurer pay back $200 of the original $400 loan to get the treasury started. It was agreed that the treasurer should continue to pay bills as they come in, without waiting for the Steering Committee meetings.

It was reported that a number of churches have already completed their Phase 2 Scripture Distribution, and others are working at this currently. In light of the shortage of the Key 73 Brochures that go with the Scripture portions, the committee asked Rev. Ronald Grossglass, Phase 2 chairman, to print another 500 copies.

Rev. David Fetter, Phase 3 Chairman, reported on the various churches in each denomination that will be participating in the Lenten Service Series, beginning March 11. Posters listing the dates and locations will be placed at a number of public places in the community and the information will be sent to the churches, newspapers, and radio stations. It was agreed that announcement be made at each Lenten Service that whatever amount is received from offerings above Key 73 expenses throughout the year, will go 50 percent to the American Bible Society, 25 percent to the Salisbury Rescue Squad, and 25 percent to the Grantsville Rescue Squad.

Rev. Larry Diehl reported that the Phase 4 committee will be meeting soon to make plans to give assistance to the Vacation Bible Schools in this area, and to place posters in public places that would invite summer vacationers to attend our churches.

Rev. Paul Lovejoy reported that the Phase 3 committee will be meeting on March 6 to begin planning for one or two Galilean services.

The next meeting of the Steering Committee will be held at Springs Mennonite Church 7:30 p. m. Tuesday evening April 3, it was announced by John R. Kraybill, secretary.

Alletta Jane Umbel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Wampler became the bride of Wilbur Arthur Hinebaugh, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Arthur Hinebaugh, Sr., on December 24, before an altar decorated with white poinsettias.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Pastor Joseph L. Hull at the Sand Spring Church of God.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride wore a full-length gown of white velvet with a detachable velvet tram. Tiny blue flowers accented the long fitted sleeves, empire bodice and high collar. Her fingertip veil of nylon tulle was held in place by a Camelot headpiece of white velvet, and scattered with the same blue flowers as her gown. She carried a white Bible which was a gift of her mother, topped by a cascade of white carnations and babies' breath intertwined with white lace. Her only jewelry was a cameo brooch, given to her by Mrs. Ethel Friend.

Serving as maid of honor was Miss Virginia Wakefield, Pensacola, Fla. She wore a floor length princess gown of royal blue velvet featuring a high collar and long puffed sleeves, accented with white flower trim. Bridesmaids included Patricia Wampler, sister of the bride, Mrs. Ruth Umbel, Silver Spring, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Nancy Umbel, sister-in-law of the bride. Their bouquets were also identical to that of the maid of honor.

The groom chose John Moyers, Petersburg, W. Va., as his best man. Ushers were Dana Umbel and Don Wampler, brothers of the bride, and Jim Wood, of Kearny, Arizona.

Mrs. Lucille Sines accompanied Patricia Wampler, who was also a bridesmaid, as she sang "My Love for Thee," and "Wedding Prayer."

The bride's mother chose a brown coat dress with beige accessories for her daughter's wedding. The mother of the groom wore a coat dress ensemble of light blue with navy accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception was held afterward at the Friendsville fire hall. Assisting were Mrs. Ohlen Umbel, Jr., Mrs. Cecil Umbel, Mrs. Dale Umbel, aunts of the bride, and Mrs. Joseph Blachut, aunt of the groom. The decorations, carried out in a baby blue and white theme, were done by Mrs. Charles Strauss and members of her family. Registering guests was Mrs. Carol Sisler, while Linda Hinebaugh and Karen Hinebaugh registered gifts. Wedding bulletins were distributed by James Wampler, brother of the bride.

A child's faith is beautiful in its simplicity and in the little things it encompasses. Like, for instance, the nightly ritual that comes at the end of prayer. "God bless Mommy and Daddy and Cousin Peter and Kitty Kat and my blue teddy bear."

To a child, there is no reason why God should not bless also a crumpled and slightly soiled teddy bear, and a pet kitty. For God is goodness and love and kindness and tolerance . . . not perhaps in those words, but in the feeling this child has as she says her prayers.

Prayer, to the child who has been taught to pray, is a natural thing. It should be as much a part of everyday life as eating and sleeping and playing. To pray for what is good . . . to give thanks for what one has is an all-important step in that all-important right direction on the road of life.

MY HARDEST LESSON

Lesson for February 18, 1973

Background Scripture: Zechariah 1:1-6,4. Devotional Reading: Micah 6:6-8.

Basically, I am an activist, a doer.

Usually, I would rather tackle a problem than debate it. Even when things seem bleak, I would rather, as the saying goes, "light just one candle, than curse the darkness."

Rev. Althouse

That is why it is particularly hard for me to "let go and let God." Intellectually I know better, but practically speaking, I forget that this is God's world and He, not I, will determine its course through time and space. Because I believe in "doing something" when confronted by a challenge, I neglect to remember, necessary as it is for me to "do something," that God also is at work in this world. For me, no matter how many times I return to this realization, this is always my hardest lesson to learn.

"Not by might, nor by power . . ."

There is nothing wrong in being an activist or in being a "doer," so long as we keep our own efforts in perspective. Singular reliance on our own efforts, our own resources can amount to subtle self-deification. There is in this attitude a conviction that "If I don't do it, it won't get done."

To carry this line of motivation a step further, what we are really saying, although usually without quite realizing it, is that we do not truly trust God. There is in our attitude the implication that God is not dependable, that we can't count on him when "the chips are down," that we are, in fact, the only ones upon whom we can depend.

If that line of reasoning sounds somewhat blasphamous, it is because it really is! To fail to trust God, to trust only our ownselves, is definitely a rejection of God, whether or not we are aware of it. The man who needs no one else, not even God, has made a religion of himself.

". . . But by My Spirit"

The prophet Zechariah is not trying to discourage the returned exiles from doing what they can do in meeting their problems and challenges. He is not counselling them to sit back passively and let God do it all. What he is trying to communicate to them is that when they have done their best, when they have exerted their "might" and "power," it is still the Spirit of God that makes the difference, that can turn defeat into victory, failure into success.

What I need to learn is what they resisted learning: that when we have used all our God-given "might" and "power," we must put it in God's hands and trust him to do even more than we ask. "Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, says the Lord of hosts" (4:6). I ought to have that inscribed across the face of my wristwatch where hourly I could be reminded of it and approach life with the realization that I do not face it alone.

That is my hardest lesson.

What about you? Have you learned it yet?

"GOOD" DRUGS AND "BAD" DRUGS

The word "drug" probably gets as much abuse as do drugs themselves. For many people a drug has now come to mean a substance associated with crime and the criminal underworld.

Actually, a drug is any substance which by its nature has an influence on the structure or function of the living organism. This influence can of course be either good or bad for the organism. In our prescription department, we have always in stock thousands of "drugs." When they are prescribed by your doctor for a specific condition these drugs usually perform with "good" results.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Cumberland Has $21 Million Facelift

The city of Cumberland has received a $21 million facelift in its downtown business area.

Utilizing a population of 29,000 and $14 million in grants from the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development, Cumberland has committed 100 percent of its 91-acre central business district to redevelopment.

Phase I, involving 27 acres of downtown, is completed, a number of businesses and buildings have been replaced with a Holiday Inn, insurance offices, filling station and a Roy Rogers restaurant.

Phase II plans involving an additional 12 acres, will include a Gee Bee department store, and supermarkets have contracted to occupy a $4 million shopping center and complex. Another major store has expressed interest in an existing downtown building.

An administration building and two municipally owned parking garages are now on the drawing boards. A new bank building, C. and P. Telephone company office building, twin movie theatres and other projects are in various stages of construction and development.

The agency also is constructing a storm sewage separation system and a project moving all utility lines underground is planned. The area will be enhanced by open, green areas throughout the downtown with a pedestrian mall.

UNDER GOD.

Text "In the beginning God" Genesis 1:1

What is it that makes America unique? What is the central reality that has shaped our being? When all the history books have been read, our heritage reviewed, and our culture assessed, we can come to no other conclusion than that America in its authentic sense because of its faith in the transcendent God as sovereign ruler and Lord of life.

1. America began its life where the Bible begins its story. The first words of the Bible are these: "In the beginning God." The words written in English over the first instrument of government used in this land, the Mayflower compact, were these: "In the name of God, Amen." God was to be the first cause, the foundation, the source of all that followed. Faith in him was the premise and presupposition for all that came thereafter.

2. Our founding fathers said that there were some things that were self-evident and self-authenticating. (1) Fundamental belief in God was, at our founding, the public philosophy. (2) Our fathers said it was because God had invested individual man with dignity and supreme value that this kind of society could be created. (3) Man's value derives from the faith that man is an immortal soul with an eternal destiny. (4) The freedom we cherish is the gift of God at creation. Man is intended to be free "under God."

3. To be "under God" means that the individual persons and the collective entity known as the nation are "under God." (1) Individual citizens and the whole nation are under his creation, his providence, his guidance, his daly and ultimate judgment.

2. Only as men are 'under God' and remain "under God' do they possess the qualities and create the institutions that make possible a life of maximum personal freedom When men are truly "under God' under a transcendent order, they can have maximum freedom under the lower order called the nation.

I In a nation "under God" the moral law takes on supreme significance. For our faith teaches us that the moral law was given by God for man's welfare. In resting this nation and its destiny in God, the founding fathers built into its structure the moral law derived from the Ten Commandments and their supplemental truths in historical process. The moral law, given by God, was to be the foundation of all law. Civil law was to derive its authenticity from the higher law given by God.

5. In acknowledging God as the Supreme Ruler and Giver of the moral law, our spiritual kinsmen, like the biblical people of old, entered into a solemn covenant. (1) They believed that the people who obeyed God's law, who sought to know and to do God's will, were blessed and used by God for the welfare of all mankind. (2) They covenanted with God as the universal God, who, although he is the God of all men, nevertheless bestows his blessing upon those people and upon that nation which obeys his laws, does his will, and in all its ways seeks to serve him.

Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me:

I will be 65 the end of this year and would like to know if I will be automatically enrolled for the medical insurance part of Medicare?

Under the new Social Security law citizens eligible for Medicare hospital insurance, who become 65 after June, are automatically enrolled in the medical insurance part of Medicare. However, you may decline the enrollment if you so desire.

Who should I contact on matters concerning weather modification?

Agencies with special expertise and jurisdiction in this subject area include the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration of the Department of Commerce; the Department of the Air Force; and the Bureau of Reclamation under the Department of the Interior.

Last year you offered constituents copies of the Consumer Product Information Guide. Do you have any extras?

My office has received a limited number of specially updated Consumer Guides which will be made available to citizens on a first come, first-served basis. The Guide contains an index of selected federal publications on how to buy, use, and take care of consumer products and includes an order blank and ordering instructions. Those interested in receiving the booklet should write me, U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515.

I read with interest your proposal to establish nation-wide physical fitness facilities for adults. By what standard would these facilities be built?

A non-profit Athletic Foundation would oversee all such questions and recommendations. It would, for instance, encourage such projects as the construction of athletic facilities built in accordance with Olympic standards.

My Dad worked in the mines for 37 years until he couldn't breathe anymore. I have tried to obtain black lung benefits for him without success and would appreciate your assistance.

Upon receipt of your letter my office contacted the Social Security Administration and based on new evidence the claim for your father has been approved. As you are now aware a check will be sent retroactive to October 1970 and monthly thereafter. Citizens experiencing similiar difficulty receiving government benefits justly due them should contact my office for assistance.

Internal Revenue Service Expanded

The Internal Revenue Service has expanded to help taxpayers with their tax problems.

All IRS offices will be open on telephone and walk-in service Thursday evenings, 6 to 9, and Saturdays from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. to offer assistance to taxpayers who do not have the opportunity to visit offices during regular working hours. Office hours are 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m., Monday through Friday.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to take this opportunity to extend my deepest appreciation to all of my relatives and friends who sent cards, flowers or visited me while I was a patient at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A special thanks to Dr. Feaster, Dr. Alvarez, the hosoital nursing staff, North Glade Methodist Church and the members of the clergy who offered prayer.

May God bless you!
Sincerely,
Howard R. Wilt

Sen. Beall Gets Com. Assignment

U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall, Jr., has assumed a high policy making role in maritime affairs as the ranking Republican on the Merchant Marine Subcommittee of the Senate Commerce committee.

The assignment places Sen. Beall in a key position to act on many of the issues of shipping and foreign trade that will be taken up by the 93rd Congress.

Sen. Beall noted that the timing of his assignment coincides with loss of another Maryland voice in maritime affairs.

The retirement of Maryland Congressman Edward A. Garmatz, who was chairman of the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries committee since 1963 ended the state's hold on a powerful position.

Beall said he was "extremely gratified to have been able to attain the ranking position on the Merchant Marine Subcommittee."

Beef prices rose 2 cents a pound in December.

Two Advisory Committees Are Named By Board

In action of the Board of Education last Thursday, February 8, the Board approved the formation of two advisory committees. A Health Advisory Committee was approved to promote cooperation between the school system, health personnel, and members of the community in working with health related educational concerns.

A Camp Hickory Advisory Committee was formed to provide a nucleus of public understanding and support for the program at Camp Hickory. The group will advise the Board relative to the solicitation and use of funds received to improve this facility. Camp Hickory has been federally funded, but the operational expenses will need to come now from local and State funding.

In other important business the school board approved the schematic drawings for Broadford Elementary School and Southern Middle School to be placed on the thirty-two acre Broadford site. These plans now need approval of the State Interagency Construction Committee prior to the architectural firm's going ahead with design development documents.

A considerable amount of time was spent by the Board of Education with Lewis Domenick, Chief Negotiator for the Board, on progress in reaching an agreement with the Garrett County Teachers' Association. Dr. William Buser, County Superintendent, and the Board also reviewed budget requests from local schools and the staff relative to needs for fiscal year 1974. The school board has developed a tentative schedule for completion of the budget in cooperation with the County Commissioners, Dr. Buser stated.

Madman Escapes

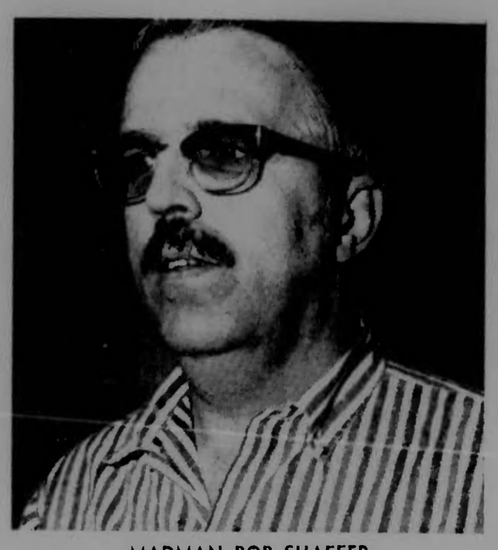
Last seen in Oakland at Manor Builders Supply

Authorities at Manor Builders Supply in Oakland this morning reported the escape of a convicted madman. Mr. Bob Shaffer, owner of the store, was last seen running through the aisles viciously assaulting price tags. By the sly smirk on his face and the gleam in his eyes, one couldn't help but think that Manor Builder's Anniversary Sale must be approaching.

Mr. Shaffer's record of merchandising madness dates back to February, 1970, when he was captured by the FBI (Fantastic Bargain Investigators) and charged with: (1) Assaulting high prices with the intent to kill inflation, (2) Disturbing the peaceful buying habits of Mountaintop residents, (3) Selling merchandise at discount prices out of season. Shaffer was tried and found guilty on all three counts, but a pre-sentence investigation conducted by his competitors cast some doubt as to his sanity.

It was suggested that Mr. Shaffer be "sent away" to some institution so that prices could once again be raised in the local stores. This suggestion was overlooked, however, and Shaffer was released in the custody of his employees with the admonition that he not be allowed to plan any future anniversary sales of this nature. His record since that time has been fair, with only a few minor infractions, until this morning's disturbing news of his escape.

Although the employees are working frantically to re-mark the prices Shaffer has slashed, they will never complete their task before the Anniversary Sale. This fact should make local consumers very happy indeed.



MADMAN BOB SHAFFER

ANNIVERSARY SALE STARTS TODAY

Employees of Manor Builders Supply, Inc., view with enthusiasm the beginning of an anniversary sale under better-than-usual conditions for you, the consumer. Following the mad price-chopping spree by Mr. Bob Shaffer, sales are expected to be greater than ever. The three day event (today, Friday and Saturday) is, in fact, a combination of three sales: Anniversary, Washington's Birthday and Dollar Days.

Instead of reducing prices just once, Mr. Shaffer has run all over the store marking price reductions on merchandise already reduced for another sale.

Besides the tremendous selection of merchandise displaying drastically reduced prices, Manor Builders is also offering FREE COFFEE and DOUGHNUTS to all their customers.

The airwaves on the mountaintop are expected to be filled with beautiful music, news and weather information originating from Manor Builders and broadcast live over radio stations WMSG, Oakland, and WFRB, Frostburg.

Every department in the huge, modern store was visited by the escaped madman and the mere stroke of his pen on those price tags will save local residents thousands of dollars on the items they most want and need.

From hardware to housewares to plumbing supplies to electrical items to furniture to appliances to building supplies to paints and wallpaper to toys to sporting goods and almost anything else you can imagine, Bob Shaffer has really outdone himself this time. Come in and see for yourself.

Customers dash for Dollar Days values

A scramble is developing at Manor Builders as buyers swarm in to take advantage of the Lucky Buck Dollar Days sale that is now in progress there. Hundreds of items are marked down to just one dollar. And, there are many items listed at two, three, four . . . even eight for a dollar.

The following is only a small sample of the items on sale:

1. E-Z-DO Jumbo Storage Chests. Big 25" x 13½" x 11½" unit with stay-lock cover . . . and the cost is just one dollar.
2. Ten-inch Gourmet Skillets. Heavy duty steel with a solid wood handle . . . just one dollar.
3. American Hardware 100% Corn Brooms. Regularly priced at $1.39 . . . now just a dollar.
4. TI-DEE Sponge Mops made of scratch-proof plastic . . . only one dollar.
5. Wooden Clothespins, Pack of 72 . . . only a dollar.
6. American Hardware Silicone Ironing Pad & Cover. Regularly sells for $1.49 . . . now just one dollar.
7. Big A Caulking Cartridges. Regularly 49c each . . . now three for a dollar.
8. 2" x 150' Masking Tape. Regularly 69c each . . . now three for a dollar.
9. 12" Starlight Light Fixtures. Regularly $2.25 . . . now only one dollar.
10. American Hardware D-Cell Batteries. Regularly sells for 19c each . . . now eight for a dollar.
11. Woolly Paint Roller Covers. 9 inches wide. Pack of four for a dollar.

As you can see by the listing above the values are terrific and you are urged to hurry to Manor Builders while their stock is still complete.

Labor dispute is resolved

Employees of Manor Builders said today they have accepted management's terms for the anniversary sale dates and hours. Employees had wanted to hold the sale the sixth week of February with store hours from 10 pm to Midnight.

Bob Shaffer, however, sent down an order as follows: "Dates and hours of our Anniversary Sale are:

Thurs., Feb. 15 — 8 am to 5:30 pm;

Fri, Feb. 16 — 8 am to 9 pm;

Sat., Feb. 17 — 8 am to 5 pm."

Asks public support to help nab escaped madman

Public support is being solicited in an attempt to apprehend the escaped madman, Mr. Bob Shaffer. If you wish to volunteer in this effort, please attend the anniversary sale which is now in progress at Manor Builders Supply, Inc.

In the opinion of the employees, Mr. Shaffer MUST be caught before he has a chance to chop down prices even farther. If you should see Bob Shaffer, report it at once to any of his favorite employees, who are: Ben Shaffer, Jr., Charlie Grubb, Art Miller, Harry Rounds, Eugene Kitzmiller, Larry Gnegy, Lee Shaffer, Dixie Perando, Ruth Hall, Ruby Slaubaugh and Robin Shaffer.

PANELING PRICES PLUMMET TO $2.59 PER SHEET

If you thought paneling prices were low at Manor Builders before, be prepared for a pleasant shock. A huge truckload of paneling arrived here today and Bob Shaffer is simply furious. With the anniversary sale now in full swing, there's no one to unload all this paneling. So he has decided to let you help him unload the truck. In order to get you to help him, he is offering you a choice of three shades of Lauan paneling for only $2.59 per 4 x 8 ft. sheet. That's the lowest price he has ever offered for quality paneling!

There are three additional shades of paneling on this truck which Bob Shaffer is offering for $3.99 per 4 x 8 ft. sheet.

Vinyl coated paneling on plywood in a choice of five shades is being offered for only $4.99 per 4 x 8 ft. sheet. These are high quality panels which have proved to be very functional in work and play areas such as kitchens and rec rooms.

Manor Builders Supply also has a complete stock of prefinished moldings, color-coded nails, panel adhesives and panel cleaners.

Bathroom and kitchen panels are available in the Paneling department and are being offered for ridiculously low prices. Some panels are priced as low as $6.98 per 4 x 8 ft. sheet.

If you don't buy paneling at these prices, you just don't want paneling. Stop at Manor Builders Supply today through Saturday to take advantage of this special truckload offer.

Furniture prices chopped by twenty percent

Perhaps the most devastating damage to price tags occurred in Manor Builders' new Furniture department on the second floor. The marauding madman, Bob Shaffer, has chopped 20% off every item's price.

The beautifully decorated, brightly lighted showroom is fully stocked with your favorite brands of quality furniture. Choose delightful room groupings of Mediterranean, Spanish, Early American, Contemporary and Ultra-Modern styling in colors to fill a rainbow.

Manor Builders' handsome selection of living room chairs, rockers and recliners is perhaps the most outstanding on the mountaintop. Lamps, tables, mirrors, pictures and all sorts of decorating accessories are in good supply in the second floor showroom.

You are cordially invited to come in and browse through the Furniture department, but most of all, you are invited to take advantage of this special sale. Buy now for your spring redecorating and save twenty percent.

Building Boom to continue

The current trend in building is expected to continue for several more years on the mountaintop, not so much because the population keeps increasing, but because homeowners and builders just can't resist the low prices Manor Builders Supply offers on building materials. Here are three examples: 2" x 4" x 8' framing lumber $1.17 each; 12" x 12" ceiling tile, 10c per tile; 12" x 12" vinyl coated ceiling tile, 17c per tile.

There is also a good supply of furring strips, all sizes of insulation, roofing, floor tiles, lighting fixtures, bathroom fixtures, plumbing and electrical supplies and more. Come see for yourself.

George Washington never slept here

Word was received late last evening from the historical society that George Washington, first president of the United States, never did sleep at Manor Builders Supply in Oakland. Although the shock of disbelief still lingers in the minds of some local residents, the following historical account sounds logical to us: George had trouble finding a comfortable mattress. They were either too soft, too firm, too expensive or too cheap. Manor Builders has the right mattress for everyone at just the right price, so if George had come to Manor Builders, he wouldn't have had to travel all over the country trying out different beds . . . would he?

Manor Builders has box springs and mattresses priced as low as $34.88 each piece, or $69.76 for the set.

Local store accused of promoting spring early

It's true! Manor Builders now has their spring lawn and gardening merchandise displayed on their main sales floor. They apparently think that the "early bird gets the worm" . . . and he usually does!

Watt Watchers . . .

For 200 years the people of the United States have lived in a country blessed with a great abundance of natural resources. Now we have come to a time when our continued national well-being depends upon developing a new attitude which includes learning how to produce the things we need with minimum environmental impact and involves wise, rather than wasteful, use of the natural resources upon which our very lives depend.

One of the resources which we must learn to use more efficiently is electricity. To help consumers to use most effectively the electrical energy we buy, a major northwest electric utility company has made available to customers a booklet, "The Watt Watchers' Guide." It tells how we can conserve electricity in the home, while getting maximum comfort and convenience from the electric energy we buy. It deals with heating efficiency, home cooling tips, watt watching in the kitchen, and how to get the most from electric appliances.

The electric industry is aware of its responsibility to produce at the most reasonable cost possible and with minimum environmental impact, a reliable and adequate supply of electric energy. It must help also to get the message across that while there is no need to turn the clock back, there is need to establish new habits of using the nation's essential resources, including electric energy, as efficiently as we can.

As one of some 14,500 finalists she remains in competition for merit scholarships. Some 3,000 merit scholars are named.

Your potential will be realized only through perservance and the most extensive training you can obtain; thus, we urge you to continue your formal education."

Miss Leighton is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Leighton, and was recently named Southern's Betty Crocker winner.

PE Has Power Failure At Lake Saturday Night

Summer residents at Deep Creek Lake who neglected to empty their water lines last fall probably are in for a shock when they next visit the area, particularly if they live south of the Glendale Bridge.

Potomac Edison Company reported that a fuse blew on a main feeder line about 7 p.m. Saturday, causing a major power failure in that area.

Temperatures of about 10 degrees below zero were felt there. Electricity came on briefly during the night but full power was not restored until about 10 a.m. Sunday, according to Edward Ewald, Western Division manager.

Affected were parts of Turkey Neck, Pergin Farm, Sky Valley and Hoophole South. Many year-round residents make their homes here.

According to one spokesman, quite a few residents plan to protest "poor service" to Potomac Edison. This is the second such power failure in this area this year. The first occurred January 6, when the power was off for nine hours, and temperatures hovered near the zero point.

This last time, some residents complained that their water pipes had burst, and some were forced to empty their hot water heating systems after they began freezing.

Other Troubles

Potomac Edison also had another power failure on Monday morning, affecting the Searstown-LaVale Plaza shopping centers near Cumberland. Electricity was off there from 9 a.m. until 10:10 a.m., due to trouble in an underground line along Winchester Road.

Koton Continues to Fight Extradition

John Koton, 24, of Kingwood, W. Va., who escaped from the West Virginia penitentiary at Moundsville, and from the county jail in Oakland, indicated Tuesday in Annapolis he planned to fight extradition on a request to return him to Moundsville.

Koton escaped from the penitentiary at Moundsville on New Year's Day, but was recaptured several days later at Crellin. He has been held in the county jail since that time except for a few hours last Sunday when he and three other inmates at the Oakland jail escaped. All were recaptured within a few hours.

Koton, who contends his life will be in danger if he goes back to the penitentiary, appeared before Noland Rogers, a hearing officer of the secretary of state's office in Annapolis Tuesday.

Mr. Rogers issued a warrant of rendition in the case, meaning Gov. Marvin Mandel has no basis to deny West Virginia Gov. Arch Moore's request to extradite Koton.

However, Koton was taken back to Oakland where an attorney is to be appointed for him. He was expected to seek a writ of habeas corpus in the Garrett County Circuit Court to block extradition.

Koton is scheduled to testify in a case involving four other Moundsville Inmates accused in the slaying of a prison guard last fall. Koton allegedly was an eyewitness to the slaying of William Quilliams.

Storm Dumps Heavy Snowfall On Mt. Top

A typical winter storm dumped about six inches of new snow on the Mountain Top last night, continuing through this morning. Winds were mostly light to moderate thereby not causing too much drifting as yet. The mercury stood at 12 degrees this morning.

This snow is in addition to the 2.3 inches already registered during the past week which brings the total for the week to near eight and a half inches. This then brings the total for the month to about 13 inches which is just short of the normal for the full month.

Last Thursday's rain changed to sleet, snow and freezing rain which continued into Friday. During this time nearly two inches of snow fell. Snow flur-

Bolden Supports Executive Order On Aging Problems

Delegate DeCorsey Bolden (R-Garrett Co.) has announced his support of Executive Order No. 1 which would restore the Commission on Aging to the highest independent level in the Executive branch of the state government, reportable directly to the Governor.

According to Bolden, "There are now at least five different departments within the state structure which have programs affecting our elderly people. They are Employment and Social Services, Health and Mental Hygiene, Community Development, Transportation and Recreation, and Education."

Bolden sees the move as a definite step forward on behalf of the elderly since it would set responsibility and provide the power to act. This responsibility and power is presently submerged and diluted because the Commission is a part of the Department of Social Services, he said.

The Commission on Aging was created by the General Assembly in 1959 to deal with "financial, social, educational and organizational problems of the elderly."

"Aside from the fact that I don't believe our elderly citizens should have to be lumped under the welfare umbrella to receive benefits they deserve and have earned, I just don't think the problems of the aging are receiving the attention they deserve under the present setup," Bolden said.

Delegate Bolden continued, "I'm happy to support the Governor in this action. It is a mature and responsible attempt to meet the increasingly complex problems of the aging. It is a step toward assuming the responsibility we must all bear."

Art Exhibit On Tap At College

Garrett Community College, McHenry, is sponsoring a West Virginia artists exhibit, in cooperation with the Maryland Arts Council.

Entitled "Contemporary West Virginia Art," by Sonia Long Pratt, artist, the exhibit will be on display February 20 through March 2.

It is open to the public daily, 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., and 6 to 9, Mondays through Thursdays, and from 9 to 4 on Fridays.

Mrs. Pratt, native of West Virginia, is a recent graduate of Fairmont State college. Upon her graduation with an ABA degree in art education she was given recognition by the fine arts faculty as an outstanding art student.

Designs consist predominantly of people and places. She works primarily in oils but does not limit herself to one media. The exhibit will include drawings, water colors, graphics, sculpture and oils.

She has exhibited her work through West Virginia. Critics say her works display a richness of design, brilliance of color, and a sensitive approach to subject matter.

She is an art teacher in the Marion County school system and maintains a studio in the Fairmont area.

Three of the four escaped prisoners from the Garrett County jail are lined up shortly after their capture Sunday evening. From left to right, Harry E. Wrightsman, Lawrence H. Moats, and John E. Koton spent nearly six hours hiding from police. Although armed, they had not put up a fight when confronted by police. The other escapee, Harry Hebb, was recaptured earlier in the day. — Shaffer photo.

Lottery Agency Said Too Lavish

Maryland's new lottery agency is overpaid, overstaffed, unnecessarily housed in leased facilities and can have its budget chopped by more than 10 percent without harming its efficiency, a General Assembly report has charged.

In a critical study the legislature's Department of Fiscal Services recommended cutting $496,550 from the agency's budget request of $3.33 million for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Nearly half the suggested cuts would affect salaries and wages. In this area the report said the $32,800 a year post of chief deputy director should be eliminated.

A move by the General Assembly in this direction could result in a fight with Gov. Mandel. The job was given to Stanley Fine, 29, aide to the governor before he became the No. 2 man behind director James Slicher.

The report further recommended that the director's annual salary be chopped from

There was a larceny of a tape recorder and other items valued over $125 from the Loch Lynn School. The thefts were reported February 20 at 8 a. m.

Two juvenile girls ran away from their homes during the past week, on different days. Both have been returned to their homes.

Jail Escapees Back In Custody

Four Have Brief Freedom After Overpowering Deputy

Four prisoners of the County jail escaped Sunday afternoon, but within six hours of their flight all were back in custody.

The four had overpowered Deputy Sheriff David Livengood, who is also a special criminal investigator, in the inner office. Escaping were John Everett Koton, 24, Harold D. Hebb, 20, Harry E. Wrightsman, 19, and Lawrence H. Moats, 23.

Livengood, who was the only deputy on duty at the time, said that Wrightsman had asked for the opportunity to talk with him about a matter, and that he had brought him out into the waiting room for that purpose. After completing their conversation he was re-admitting him to the jail. As he unlocked the door Wrightsman grabbed him and held him while the three other escapees came out, took Livengood's jacket and .38 calibre revolver, and after locking him in the jail, took off.

A state policeman appeared sometime later, found Livengood, released him, and the alarm was spread.

First to be recaptured was hitch-hiked a ride to the vicinity Hebb, of Deer Park. He had of his home and was apprehended in the woods about a mile from his home, having been traced by foot prints in the snow. Livengood made the apprehension.

Freedom ended for the other three escapees at 8:42 p. m. Police dogs and a helicopter had been brought into the area to aid in the search. Deputy Livengood and Cpl. Donald A. Tucker, criminal investigator for the state police, had skirted the Underwood area and were returning to Oakland when they noticed three men around some school buses parked behind Ed's Mt. Top Tire, corner of Oak and Third street, and just two blocks from the county jail. They radioed for help and within minutes town police, deputies and state police had the school buses surrounded. The escapees surrenderd without a fight.

Captured at the bus with Koton were Wrightsman, of Mt. Lake Park, and Moats, of Salisbury, Md.

Considered the ring leader of the four was Koton, who on New Year's Day had escaped from the West Virginia penitentiary at Moundsville. He said he fled the penitentiary because he witnessed the slaying of a prison guard and believed that his life was in danger.

Koton was apprehended in Crellin, at his brother's home on January 4. He has refused to waive extradition to West Virginia and was scheduled for a hearing this week in Annapolis. Koton was armed with the deputy's revolver.

Wrightsman and Hebb had been lodged in the county jail for more than two months, being charged with a number of burglaries around the county and were being held pending action of the grand jury. Moats, who was charged with larceny, had been brought to the jail Saturday night.

Nine other inmates did not attempt to flee the jail.

Sanitary Survey Is Being Planned

The Environmental Health Section of the Garrett County Health Department is undertaking a sanitary survey of all streams and rivers in Garrett County. The purpose of the survey is to identify and eliminate the discharge of raw sewage into the streams and rivers of the County.

Due to the great volume of work involved, it is anticipated that the survey will take several years. Therefore, priority will be given to recreational waters. The initial part of the survey will be conducted on the tributaries of Deep Creek Lake.

The cooperation of the County residents is being requested during this survey as only CLEAN waters are a natural resource that can be used and enjoyed in many ways.

Students See Dr. Zhivago

Approximately 300 Southern students saw the movie Doctor Zhivago last Tuesday and Wednesday at Red Run Lodge Theater.

Students from the world history, American history, ecology, and psychology classes made the trip with some of their teachers by bus. Teachers supervising the educational activity were Ruthyan Morrow, Mrs. Judith France, Miss Henrietta Lease, and Mrs. Lucille Marsh.

Southern To Play Beall, Bruce

The Southern Rams will travel to Frostburg this Friday to take on the Beall High School Mounties. Beall won an earlier meeting on the Rams' home court.

On February 27 Southern will play host to the Bruce Bulldogs. The preliminary will start at 6:30 between the J.V. teams.

Fund Drive in Full Swing

The Health Career members are currently directing a Heart Fund Drive at Southern High School. They are using a different activity each week to reach their goal of $500.

In the first week they held a King and Queen of Hearts contest. Students voted on the candidates by giving money to the one of their choice. Stanley Skiles and Cheryl Ashby were named King and Queen. This event produced approximately $50.

Slave Week netted $105. Students from the different clubs of school were auctioned off before school each day. These slaves had to carry the books, get hinches, and take up the trays of the students who bought them.

Homerooms are collecting money during the third and fourth weeks. The homeroom that collects the most money in this period wins two boxes of candy to share among its members.

On Valentine's Day students voted for their favorite teacher by giving them a valentine which had money taped to it. Mrs. McLaughlin won the contest by receiving a total of $4.47. Her prize was a box of candy.

At each home basketball game during February red and white pom-poms are sold. At halftime spectators are asked to contribute by tossing coins into a sheet carried near the stands. $20 has been collected so far.

When asked whether she thought the drive had been a success Sandra Tasker, HCC president, said, "I think that so far this year it has been fairly successful and if we really try hard we can reach our goal of $500."

Organize Ski Club

The new Ski Club of Southern High recently organized with 30 dues paying members. Mrs. Judith France is the sponsor of the two-week old club.

To be a member the students must pay $1.00 dues. This entitles them to discount rates all week on tickets and equipment at the Wisp Ski Area. A member can also get ski lessions at reduced rates on Wednesday night.

Mrs. France urges anyone planning on buying a season's ski pass next year, to join the club and get twenty percent off on the ticket before a special deadline.

At a recent meeting the club elected Dale Bowers president and David Naylor as treasurer.

Blasts X-Roted Movies

Nancy Martin, a resident of Fairview, W. Va., wrote to the Dominion News of Morgantown, W. Va., the other day, blasting the X-rated television movies.

She pointed out that Dr. Frank Stanton, president of CBS had announced his decision to give air to X and R rated movies on the late shows.

Nancy Martin felt if this was allowed to continue soon it would spread to daytime TV and other networks. With all these types of movies is it any wonder why "our children want this so-called 'free love' and the new morality."

Saying if concerned citizens banded together they could stop this before it starts, she asked that citizens sent letters of protest to Dr. Frank Stanton, president CBS-TV, 51 West 52nd street, New York, N. Y. 10019.

ries which started Tuesday continued through yesterday with little accumulation until the storm started about 4 p. m. Some clear skies and hazy sun appeared Saturday, Sunday and some late Monday. Otherwise skies were mostly overcast.

The coldest morning of this winter season so far, was Sunday with a minus ten degrees. The previous morning it was 7 degrees below zero. Saturday was the coldest day of the week with the mercury rising no higher than 14 degrees. The "warmest" day was Tuesday with 39 degrees.

Winds were mostly calm with the exception of last Friday with some strong breezes during the snow fall and light to moderate winds last night.

Lottery Agency

$38,300 to $32,800 when Slicher leaves the post. It noted that he had been earning $38,300 as state budget secretary and should not be forced to take a pay cut.

The legislature's fiscal analysts warned that the salaries being paid Slicher and other top lottery officials would produce pressure for raises throughout the state system.

"Neither the size, scope, nature of operations or effect on public policy appear to justify a salary level for the director which is equal to that of the cabinet secretaries," the report said.

It stated that top administrators in other departments would use Slicher's secretary-level pay for a non-secretary job, to push for raises, something their subordinates also will do.

The report recommended cutting of four upper management jobs, downgrading many low-level posts and waiting for operational experience before filling all 94 slots requested by Slicher. After personnel and salaries, the largest single suggested budget cut was $130,000 requested to pay the annual rent on privately owned office space leased by the lottery agency.

At a House subcommittee hearing on Tuesday members were told that any cuts in the budget would delay the lottery's start and cost the state $2 million in revenue for each month of the delay.

Mr. Slicher testified to that effect before an Appropriations Committee panel reviewing the agency's $3.33 million budget for fiscal 1974.

Summons To Greatness

"Summons to Greatness," is a collection of inspirational thoughts and practical ideas from the messages and addresses of Richard M. Nixon, president of the United States.

Here is another one of the messages:

"There is no advancement for Americans at home in a retreat from the problems of the world. Only societies that believe in themselves can rise to their challenges. Let us not, then, pose a false choice between meeting our responsibilities abroad and meeting the needs of our people at home. We shall meet both or we shall meet neither.

"As we learn to go forward together at home, let us also seek to go forward together with all mankind.

"This nation is not going to turn inward. We are not going to build protective walls to shelter us from fair competition. We are not going to live in our own cocoon while the rest of the world passes us by.

"Our policy is cooperation rather than coercion. After 20 years the Atlantic Alliance must adapt to the conditions brought on by its success. It must pool not only its arms but also its brains.

"Whoever is President of the United States, whether it is the man standing before you today, or whether it is his successor, let us be sure that whenever our President sits at a conference table with any other nation that the United States is never a second-rate military power.

"If we are to move successfully from an era of confrontation to an era of negotiation, then we have to demonstrate—at the point at which confrontation is being tested—that confrontation with the United States is costly and unrewarding."

Feeding America

Carping critics of our country enjoy hurling the charge that the United States—richest country in the world—is "ill-fed."

In a strange way they are partially right, but very inaccurate. Fact is, we do have millions of people who are well-fed, but who are malnourished.

A White House Conference in 1969 and government studies showed that many people did not get all the nutrients they need, even though they ate plenty of food and could afford a balanced diet. There are several reasons. Americans are people on the go who eat hurriedly and at various times. They don't pay much attention to the nutrient content of foods. Fad eating and snacking have grown.

So it's good news that our major food industry is doing something about providing additional, health-boosting amounts of needed nutrients. It has been announced that today more than 85 percent of all ready-to-eat breakfast cereals have been fortified to provide increased amounts of the B vitamins (thiamin, riboflavin, niacin, B6 and B12 and frequently vitamins A, C and D. More than one-half of these vitamin-fortified cereals are also fortified with iron.

This is the most recent step in a process that began more than 30 years ago, in 1941, when ready-to-eat breakfast cereals were among the first foods to have nutrients restored that were reduced in processing. The nutritional enhancement of cereals had been progressing ever since, with a big step-up coming in the last several years with the introduction of new brands of vitamin-fortified cereals and an increase in nutrients in familiar older brands.

Our biggest nutritional problem is not poverty, but getting people to eat the foods they need. As the noted Dr. Morris Fishbein has pointed out, people eat what they like—not "what's good for them." Having an assortment of cereals, which are well-liked by many people, fortified with nutrients people need is a bright spot in the national nutrition picture. —U. S. Press Association, Inc.

Dollars: Smaller But Stronger

Like everyone else in the United States, I woke up on the morning after the devaluation to find that my dollars were worth ten per cent less gold that they had been the night before. The President's swift and decisive action to head off a new world monetary crisis began with the devaluation of the dollar.

The American decision to devalue the dollar was a sort of shotgun wedding but it will probably have some handsome legitimate offspring. The fact was that the bankers in Zurich, Switzerland, had already devalued the dollar on International trading markets without any official blessing.

But the President's bold seizure of initiative has assured the American people of the greatest possible advantage from the currency realignment. American goods will move more easily in world trade and the non-tariff barrier has been raised against increasing imports on American markets.

What does this mean in dollars and cents within the state of Maryland? For most of us this 10 per cent reduction in gold content or in international value will have very little immediate effect. For many Maryland interests, however, this will be an important move. Maryland companies that trade widely in international markets, such as Black and Decker, McCormick Tea Company and others, sell their products around the world.

This move could be a shot in the arm for these businesses and for the Marylanders who work in them. The price of their products abroad will now be less than they were for most foreign buyers. There is, of course, another side to the coin. Foreign goods, the German automobiles or Japanese tape recorders, will now be more expensive than they were before devaluation.

The port of Baltimore, which depends on trade to and from other nations, also is dependent upon the success of devaluation and other monetary moves we will make in the world markets.

The theory of devaluation is that less expensive United States products increase their sales worldwide while the purchase of foreign products in the United States declines because of the higher costs. The result should be an improvement in the balance of payments that the United States must maintain with the other commercial countries in the world.

That is the theory, but whether it works in practice may depend on the other financial and monetary moves which the United States government will undertake and which we will coordinate with our trading partners around the globe. One of the important follows-up to devaluation will be a review of our entire trade arrangement with other nations. Congress will be a big partner in making these trade decisions.

This is one of the big challenges ahead for this country and for all the world and I am glad that we have now initiated the first steps to making things better than they have been. There is a long way to go, but we are now started on an important journey together.

Meet The Staff

FRANCES CLOSE

When you visit our store it's very likely you'll see this week's staff member who is Frances Close. Frances started working for us in 1962 as a cashier. In 1970 she was promoted to the grocery department where she presently works.

Frances has many duties to perform. She is in charge of correctly tagging and pricing all items in the grocery department. She merchandises most of our non-food products. She is a trained operator on our computerized ordering system and transmits many of our daily orders. In addition to these duties Frances finds time to help out in the bookkeeping department by preparing our weekly sales analysis and taking care of delinquent checks. Every weekend she counts all of our circular coupons and reports on our weekly redemptions.

We really appreciate the extra efforts and interest Frances has given us throughout the years. She goes out of her way to do the little extra things that have to be done to make a supermarket a first class operation. If you're ever shopping at our store and unable to find a product, you'll find that Frances is usually close at hand and willing to assist you.

For relaxation Fran enjoys swimming, boating, waterskiing, horseback riding and bowling. She is a fun person to be around and is usually where the action is. Her residence is on Memorial Drive in Oakland and her favorite people are her son David and grandson Scotty.

Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me:

What were the major accomplishments of the Environmental Protection Agency in 1972?

Your question can best be answered by reading the detailed and authoritative, 450-page third annual report of the Council on Environmental Quality. A few copies are still available free from my office in Washington.

What is the status of your bill exempting pensions from federal income tax?

This legislation would exclude $5,000 of retirement income and from federal income tax up to I plan to reintroduce the bill in the House in the near future.

Please tell me what summer jobs are available with the Federal government, and how do I apply?

Each summer there are a limited number of opportunities for jobs with the Federal government. These positions vary from office jobs to Park Rangers and are located throughout the United States. Interested citizens may write my office here in Washington for a copy of the pamphlet "Summer Jobs in Federal Agencies," which outlines the available jobs and application requirements. The Civil Service Commission tells me, however, that the number of jobs is relatively small and that chances of appointment depend upon the number and kind of summer jobs in the area where you apply, the number of applicants in that area and your qualifications. Based on these facts, the commission suggests that applicants would be wise not to apply for summer work solely with the Federal government.

Doesn't the Truth-in-Lending Act require that consumers be given a full statement of all closing costs in real estate transactions, prior to a down payment?

This is a common business practice but is not required under the Truth-in-Lending Act. The National Commission on Consumer Finance, however, has made a recommendation to Congress to amend the Truth-in-Lending Act to include the stipulation you have outlined.

Can a parent receiving social security apply for benefits on behalf of her 21-year-old son who is also disabled?

Under recent changes in the Social Security law children who become disabled after 18, before age 22, may qualify for social security payments under the circumstances you have outlined. I would suggest you contact your local Social Security office for complete details.

An Open Letter to the Garrett County Commissioners

Dear Sirs:

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County has taken a stand for the orderly development of Garrett County through planning and zoning. After careful study, deliberation and discussion for nearly a year, the League arrived at this consensus in favor of positive action in April, 1972.

Our continuing study leads us to protest the practice of allowing high density development on Deep Creek Lake. We questioned not restricting condominiums and apartment houses on the lake at a hearing prior to the acceptance of the Interim Zoning Ordinance in June, 1971, Deep Creek Lake with its many arms and tributaries has such an extensive shore line in comparison to its surface area that crowding and polluting can occur before the general public may be fully aware of such a disaster.

This type of destruction of natural beauty has taken place in many areas similar to Garrett County. In order to have control of the tremendous future growth that is predicted for this area, our citizens need to have the courage and foresight to support planning and zoning for the entire county.

We, therefore, strongly urge you, as leaders and lawmakers, to enact legislation which will prohibit or severely restrict all types of high density development on Deep Creek Lake as part of a county-wide zoning ordinance.

Signed,

THE LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS OF GARRETT COUNTY

WASHINGTON REPORT

FROM SENATOR J. GLENN

BEALL JR.

Getting Our Money's Worth

The sudden devaluation of the dollar against foreign currencies will demand immediate attention in Congress.

The President's action must be approved through legislation to increase the fixed price of gold from $35 to $42.22 an ounce. This official dollar value of gold is used to compute the relative value, or parity, of all other major currencies in the free world.

The mechanics of devaluation are a rather complicated process, but the visible results are clear enough for an explanation of why it was done and what it means.

The most important thing to make clear is that devaluation of the dollar does not mean that your money is worth less here in the United States. It will not affect the price you pay for any American goods.

What will be affected is the price of foreign-made goods, which will go up. On the other hand, the price of American-made goods will go down on foreign markets.

This is the most fundamental part of devaluation. It encourages other nations to buy more American goods, while at the same time reducing the amount of foreign goods that we import.

In the past two years (and for the first time in this century) the United States has imported more than was exported. This resulted in a surplus of dollars on the world market and created an imbalance between the dollar and other currencies.

The pressure against the dollar would continue as long as Americans kept spending their money abroad instead of here at home, and I am not talking about tourists as much as [illegible].

Americans have been told to tighten our belts through several channels, and by making American goods more competitive overseas, we will be encouraging more exports. We also will encourage more investment in domestic industries rather than overseas firms, which are part of a difficult problem.

The situation involves what are known as multi-national corporations, and at present they are virtually unregulated.

These corporations are financed in large part by investors here in the United States. But as long as our nation is in an unfavorable trade situation, they will use their money to create businesses and jobs in other countries where economic conditions are more favorable.

What this means is that we are investing our money in companies that become our competitors in the world market. But by devaluing the dollar, our trade position will improve, and the investments will tend to remain here in the United States.

In the long run, however, devaluation is not going to settle these international economic relationships. As President Nixon said when he announced the devaluation, this is only a first step that must be followed up by comprehensive trade negotiations.

The United States is a rich, wide-open market for the products of other nations, but we often find that these nations have tariff barriers against our exported goods.

I believe in free trade and competition among nations, but the rules should be the same for everyone. To quote the President, "Other nations must get away from their discriminatory policies, and we must be in a position to bargain harder."

Bolden Introduces Joint Resolution

Delegate DeCosey Bolden (R-Garrett Co.) has introduced a joint resolution in the General Assembly which would direct the State Department of Education to institute mandatory courses in local county and state government in all high schools in Maryland.

In submitting his resolution, Delegate Bolden noted, "I feel that the lack of knowledge about the operation of our government contributes to much of the unrest in our country today."

Bolden continued, "Young people participate in the political process at a younger age than ever before. It is important that their participation be as informed as possible. I have great faith in our young people and we have an obligation to inform them about their heritage and background as well as current affairs. A knowledge and appreciation of our government will provide the best defense against our greatest enemy—ignorance."

Co-sponsoring the Bolden resolution are Delegates Allen (R-Anne Arundel Co.); Boozer Hopkins, Lanton and Price (R-Baltimore Co.).

The Bolden Resolution is now in the Constitution and Administrative Law Committee.

License Sticker To Cost $1.50 More

The extra fee of $1.50 persons will be paying this year for auto license stickers reportedly will be charged only one year, but the Maryland Legislature could reinstate the fee.

House Bill 444 mandated the fee for protection against uninsured motorists for the 1973 registration year only.

Approximately 20 percent of the cases handled by the old Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment fund involved uninsured automobiles from other states. Neither West Virginia nor Pennsylvania has compulsory insurance at this time

There are approximately two million registered vehicles in Maryland that will pay the $1.50 fee

It was in recent years an additional $5 was added to the cost of auto tags each year. Meanwhile a small plastic sticker is being issued each year for a five-year period to replace the large metal plates which had to be changed each year.

Use our HOTTEST competitor, the sun.

We're still in business to supply clean-burning energy.
And we plan to be in business for generations to come.
The future looks bright. But, the problem is . . . now.
We've been telling you about it. The natural gas shortage.
So now we're going to give you some ideas for using less gas.
In fact, we recommend our hottest competitor. The sun.
Even on the coldest day, you should let direct sunlight in through your windows.
It will help heat your home.
When there's no sun, close your drapes to keep your heat from leaking out.
It will make a difference.
And here are some other ways you can conserve gas:
Insulate your home and seal the drafty areas around doors and windows.
Have your furnace checked periodically by your heating dealer to make sure it is operating efficiently.
Check your furnace filters often to be certain they're clean.
Turn your thermostat down to the lowest comfortable temperature and leave it there.
All these things will add to your comfort and you'll use less gas.
Write for our free booklet, "30 Ways to Save", for more ideas.

Gas is precious, pure energy... use it wisely.

Co. Women Join In World Day Of Prayer March 2nd

Church Women United of the Oakland Area council are inviting all women to join in the celebration of World Day of Prayer on Friday March 2, at 1:30 p. m., at St. Matthew's Episcopal church in Oakland.

This 1973 event will be the 86th observance of the day, in 168 countries around the globe. The day is ecumenical as well as international, and is the most widely observed celebration sponsored by Church Women United.

This year's theme is "Alert in Our Time." Mrs. Frances Smith Hoyes, publicity chairman, said the theme expressed the intention of women to be aware of and concerned with crucial needs and problems in the world; hunger, population explosion, fear of nuclear war, pollution of the environment, economic and social needs in our own country and abroad.

Program chairman is Mrs. A. F. Jones. Leaders include Mrs. Gerald Eddy, Mrs. William Riley, Mrs. Vernie Smouse and Mrs. Ruth Viragh. The meditation will be led by Mrs. George Hanst. Mrs. William Naylor will explain the meaning of World Day of Prayer.

Music will be in charge of Mrs. Jack Turney with Teddy Sweitzer as organist and Rev. John A. Grant as soloist.

Participants in the program will rehearse Friday, February 23, at 1:30, in St. Matthew's church.

Two Accidents Occur

Two accidents in the northern and central part of the county resulted in no apparent personal injury and little vehicle damage recently.

One three-car mishap occurred in Grantsville February 9. Richard T. Householder, Westernport, traveling west on U. S. Route 40 apparently fell asleep. His car then collided with the rear of the parked car of Robert V. McKenzie, Lonaconing, which in turn was forced into the light truck of Arthur Murphy, Meyersdale, Pa. Both vehicles were parked on the right side of the street. Cpl. Stephen M. Russell charged Householder with reckless or negligent driving.

A two-car accident occurred on U. S. Route 219 at the Deep Creek bridge February 8. Edward E. Rohitaille, Wheaton, was traveling north on U. S. Rt. 219 and started to enter the bridge. A heavy truck driven by Hershel E. Junkins, Jr., Keyser, W. Va., was traveling in the center of the roadway and hit the Robitaille car. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater charged Junkins with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Sees Movement Away From "Big Brother" Gov't.

The time is passing when government "tries to solve virtually every problem by the enactment of a new federal program and the creation of a new bureaucracy," Senator J. Glenn Beall, Jr., declared.

"The United States Government has grown so large that its very size is affecting its ability to react and respond to the people's needs," the Maryland Republican said.

Speaking at a meeting of the Sons of the American Revolution last Saturday, Senator Beall said there is a need to reassess the proper role of government in dealing with the problems of a modern society.

"State and local governments have matured to the point where needed programs can be effectively and fairly administered without the continual interference of big brother," the senator said.

"It is also a fact that the citizens of this country are tired of the unbelievable red tape and inefficiency of the federal bureaucracy. They want a government that's more personal and more attuned to their needs and well-being."

Senator Beall said there also is a movement towards a new balance between Congress and the Executive Branch.

Trying Reform Of Budget Procedures

U. S. Senators Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) and Adlai E. Stevenson III (D-Ill.) have introduced a bill to reform congressional budgeting procedures, the fourth measure proposed by the two senators since their joint hearings on congressional reform.

The bill will form a basis for discussion of new procedures to control Federal spending. It would require both houses to set a spending ceiling, based on the budget submitted by the President, and other pertinent data, and then require congress to set spending priorities within that ceiling as it considers individual appropriations. The bill would also prohibit unpoundment of appropriated funds by the Executive to prevent programs from being carried out.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Harry G. Sanders who died four months ago.

LOVING MEMORIES

Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all
The voice is mute and stilled the heart
That loved us well and true.
Ah, bitter was the trial to part
From one so good as you.
You are not forgotten loved one
Nor will you ever be.
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by we miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

Mother and Father

Sermonette By Area Ministers

"Blow the Trumpet in Zion"
Joel 2:1

Blow the trumpet in Zion, and sound an alarm in my holy mountain. Let all the inhabitants of the land tremble; for the day of the Lord cometh, for it is nigh at hand.

The trumpet that the Prophet has reference to here is none other than the Word of God in its most powerful reality, that word of God that is quick and powerful and sharper than any two edged sword, that is piercing, that is a divider of the Soul and Spirit and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart, as was described by apostle Paul in Hebrews 4:12. In this day of gross immorality and unrighteousness and sin, the only hope we have of the situation becoming any better is through the power of the Gospel message and the sounding of the trumpet of God without fear or favor.

No longer do we have to go into the darkened areas of heathenism, or to the skidrows or slums of our cities to find a challenging mission, or a dire need of the trumpet sound of the Word of God, for we see the evidence of the great need of the cutting edge of the gospel right here in our own beloved county. Evdence such as the liquor store opening on Sunday, just because it's New Year's Eve, disrupting the Lord's day, helping people to celebrate the coming of a New Year in one of the most damning, dangerous and deadening ways possible. We see evidence of the need of the "trumpet sound" in the fact that our children, youth and teens can no longer walk the aisles of our drug stores without being tempted by filthy, pornographic, trashy literature, that tempts them to immorality, lust and rape. Then they are prosecuted punished, scarred for life.

Our children can no longer accompany us on our food buying trips to some of our stores and supermarkets here without being exposed and tempted by the filthiness of playboy magazines, nudity or many other covers of the suggestive books and literature, and by the beer that's sold with the necessary food of life, all because greedy merchants place more value on the dollar than on the purity and holiness of life and the worth of a soul. Little wonder that the prophet says "Blow the trumpet in Zion, send out an alarm." The facts are alarming. All the people should tremble because of it. The fact remains the day of the Lord cometh. It is closer at hand than it has ever been before. Every Christian should put the trumpet of God, His Word, to their lips and let it sound out to the issues of the day. We must speak the truth in love, not in hatred, envy or strife but love for the souls of all men.

In Ezekiel 33 we have this lesson. If the watchman sees the sword of destruction coming and does not sound the trumpet to warn the people and they are taken away in their sins, their blood shall be required at the watchman's hand, but if he sees the destruction coming and sounds the trumpet and they heed not, their blood shall be upon their own hands. Amos 3:6 says "shall a trumpet be blown in the city and the people not be afraid." The Bible message is "wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you. II Cor. 6:17. Right in the midst of your greatest spiritual needs still stands the Master of Men, Jesus Christ, with that ever valid invitation of "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy ladened and I will give you rest." I pray that many will heed that message and turn before it is everlastingly too late.

I know that this is not a popular, or appreciated or even many times an accepted message but it is what God called and ordained me to do and I must come under the power of this cutting edge the same as you all.

Rev. Donald Matthews, Pastor, Oak Grove Church of the Brethren, Pine Grove Church of the Brethren, Elder Hill Community Church.

Doll Collection Captivates Youngsters and Adults

Standing before the living room fireplace, Mrs. Whitehair displays a German bisque doll over 100 years old. Behind her is a Chinese coin doll and an Ivory Christ Child, two of her older exhibits. Instead of greenery, Mrs. Whitehair has a stuffed peacock in front of her unlighted fireplace.

by Carol Canan

For most people, a large doll family would include ten or twelve dolls. For Mrs. Jeannie Whitehair, of near Aurora, several hundred dolls make up her family, along with four children, her husband Walter, and assorted relatives, friends and pets.

Mrs. Whitehair's interest in dolls stems from her childhood years, when she asked her mother to put away and keep for her any delicate, adult-type doll. Now her collection spills out of a display case, fills a trunk and ornaments her house.

Finding her house is not easy, but most assuredly is worth the effort. Warm lamplight spills from her home as easily as warmth and friendliness radiate from Jeannie herself.

Mrs. Whitehair is both interested and interesting, chatting easily about whatever subject comes up. She uses her doll collection not only as conversation pieces, but also as centerpieces and as teaching aids in school.

Her first love in teaching is French, but while on maternity leave for her youngest, she has been teaching third and fourth grades at Red House Elementary School. Her dolls are sometimes brought out to help illustrate a country's customs, or simply to spark some interest in children.

Mrs. Whitehair says her interest in dolls dates from a normal little girl's love of dolls, and that her interest "just grew" from then on. Most of her collection she has obtained as gifts from friends, or from an occasional trip she has made.

She prefers each doll to have a meaning, either because someone she likes sent it to her, or because of its value as an heirloom. Her favorites are handcrafted dolls from different parts of the world.

Her most valuable doll is an Ivory Christ Child dating from about 1492, found in an Italian monastery many years ago. She recalls that it was the only item her parents ever bought "on time."

She also has a Chinese coin goddess, one of only 25 ever made.

Her other dolls are made from materials of every description, including fleas, bananas, clay, stockings, fabrics, dried apple, felt, mahoghany, leather, ceramics, china, and bisque.

Her home is warmly and attractively furnished, not only with items to interest adults, but also with toys and prized possessions of her four children, her real life "dolls," as she calls them.

She and her husband Walter live in a sheltered oasis in the Youghiogheny woods. Their property abounds with pets, including two dogs, some cats, a pet frog, three geese, and a parakeet. Her husband is a cattleman with numerous farms in West Virginia, and is also a leather goods dealer in the tri-state area. He also spends some time indulging in his favorite hobby, horse trading. Jeannie and the children all enjoy horseback riding in the summer months.

Her doll collection is no more varied than Mrs. Whitehair's own experiences. Reared in Baltimore, she attended Hood College and the University of Dijon, France and majored in French followed by a minor in English. She obtained her education courses the "hard way" with night courses at Frostburg and Morgantown.

Her mother, Mrs. Nina Schmidt lives beside them, and another mainstay of her family is Mrs. Nina Shaffer, a neighbor who cares for the children while she is teaching.

N. Hagerstown Is Winner In District Wrestling Tourney

North Hagerstown captured its first District 1 wrestling championship, edging favored Thomas Johnson of Frederick Saturday night at Bruce High school in Westernport.

The Hubs, with only one grappler winning a championship, still managed to score 59 points to edge Thomas Johnson who finished second with 58. South Hagerstown was third with 55 points, followed by Northern High school, Accident, with 39. Valley was next in the 11-school field with 32. Fort Hill had 29, Bruce 21, Allegany 11, and Southern 11½.

Thomas Johnson had three wrestlers win in the finals while Northern and South Hagerstown had two champions each.

Joel LaRue, Bruce, who won the 101 pound class, and Valley's Joe Yates, the 122-pound champions, were the only winners from Allegany county.

The only pins recorded in the championship round were by Northern's Lynn Brenneman in the unlimited class, and Paul DeBolt, of Thomas Johnson, in the 141-pound class.

The four top wrestlers in each weight class advance to the regional tournament set for Friday and Saturday at Hagerstown Junior college.

In the finals Lee Sutherland, Northern, decisioned Mike Duncan, Valley, 12-3 in the 158-pound class.

Lynn Brenneman, Northern, pinned Dave McCauley, S. Hagerstown, in 1.52 of the third period.

In the consolation round were the following:

Jack Sowers, Southern, decisioned Dennis Toms, N. Hagerstown, 8-0, in the 108-pound class.

John Platter, Northern, pinned Tom Lyons, Fort Hill, 26 seconds of the third period, in the 129-pound class.

Bob Ingram, Southern, decisioned Joe Goodwin, Valley, 2-1.

Don Richter, Northern, decisioned Ed McConnell, Bruce, 4-3, in the 188-pound class.

A Federal take-over of bankrupt railroads is sought.

When an aviator encounters a storm, he directs his plane through the clouds and goes higher. In that clear, rare atmosphere he is free from fear and difficulty.

Similarly, when we find ourselves surrounded by clouds of doubt, we need to direct our lives into a higher level where we may free ourselves of weaknesses and seek the will of God.

How can we attain these heights? Through the Church! It offers continuous opportunities for new growth, new life, new understanding. We need not wait for a more convenient time. We can enter into the life of the Church NOW.

WHAT THE WORLD'S COMING TO

Lesson for February 25, 1973

Background Scripture: Zechariah 8, 13; 14:9
Devotional Reading: Micah 4:1-5.

"What's the world coming to?" How often we hear that phrase that is both a question and an assertion. People today are genuinely concerned about our present "state of affairs" and the future that seems contingent upon it.

Rev. Althouse

They are deeply troubled by what they see and even more fearful concerning the future that they can't see. They desperately want to know where we are headed.

The frightening darkness

Still other people say these words, "What's the world coming to?", not so much as a question, but as a fearful assertion. They are not asking for information about the future because it seems they already know. For them the future appears as the proverbial "dark at the top of the stairs." They have already concluded that what is ahead for human race is not a better day, but chaos and strife that culminates in a terrible and complete terrestrial destruction.

Two years ago I attended a lecture sponsored by Spiritual Frontiers Fellowship. The speaker was a young, dynamic, "spiritual-jack-of-all-trades" named Sebastian Temple. His subject was "The Phenomenon of Man," the religious and scientific thought of Teilhard de Chardin, the late Roman Catholic priest, scientist, and philosopher.

From his work as a paleontologist, Teilhard had come to some conclusions that had startled both the scientific and religious worlds. That evening, Sebastian Temple demonstrated with diagrams and drawings, Teilhard's vision of a world that is, not coming apart at the seams and plummeting toward destruction, but evolving slowly but surely to a glorious fulfillment that was inherent in its creation by God at the beginning of time itself.

I left the church that evening with my eyes shining and my head in the heavens. The stars glowing so brightly above the hazy glow of the city seemed no longer menacing, but warm and compassionate. For the first time for many years I had heard someone say a good word for the future. Finally, the old question of "What's the world coming to?" had an answer that was both inspiring and convincing.

"Fear not"

Every age, every era has known its despair and needed the vision of the fulfillment to which God is moving us. It was with this motivation that the prophet Zechariah came to the returned exiles and gave them a brief view of what God held in store for his world:

> Old men and old women shall sit in the streets of Jerusalem, each with staff in hand for very age. And the streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls playing in its streets. (Zechariah 8:4, 5).

If we will listen to his prophets, God will show us the vision of the "better days" that are, not behind us, but ahead.

3 Colleges Start Program To Reach Counties' Veterans

Frostburg State College, Allegany Community College and Garrett Community College have recently initiated a Veterans Outreach Program. The purpose of the program is to "reach" into the community to find Veterans who have not taken advantage of their rights to the G.I. Bill. Veterans Outreach Workers (VOWs) are recent veterans themselves who can go into the community and relate to the veteran who has not been able to compete in the job market. The VOW can advise the veteran concerning his benefits to enable him to better his educational or vocational training.

Some of the educational opportunities open to veterans at this time are high school and adult education classes, business schools, and college classes. For example, if a veteran wishes to acquire a high school equivalence diploma, the VOW will help him obtain information on where, when and how he can be enrolled in one of these programs. The VOW can also assist the veteran in choosing a vocational training program in such fields as carpentry, plumbing and electrial wiring.

The Veterans Outreach Program has been established to assist the veteran in a personal way to obtain what best suits his needs. A veteran can receive further information by contacting the VOW in his area.

"Plum Book"...

The "plum book," a guide book to plush federal jobs, just off the press, is fatter than the 1969 version and includes some 2,000 attractive if little known positions in the U. S. Postal Service. The book shows an increase of from 84 to 1,846 non-career jobs in the $15,000 to $60,000 range. Most of the slots were created when the postal service took over the old post office department.

At a time when the mail service leaves a lot to be desired, the list of new titles and pay scales for USPS jobs is revealing. For instance: manager of creative services, $25,183 to $33,493; computer technician, $16,872 to $22,440, same for environmental officer; suggestions awards administrator, $22,767 to $30,280; lobby program officer, $20,589 to $27,383, and so on for a lot of others in the postal service.

According to a columnist in the Washington Post, Mike Causey, the USPS board of governors has asked permission to raise executive pay on grounds it is not competitive with industry. Is it any wonder the postal service is operating in the red?

The postal service has plastered several rate increases on newspapers, magazines and individuals, and threatens more of the same.

And just in passing we think it is perfectly ridiculous for a letter from a customer on Second street, Oakland, to a person who receives mail at the Oakland post office on Second street, to be taken by truck to Cumberland, there cancelled, and returned to Oakland by truck for delivery the next day. Would there be any harm in using some good common sense?

Cases Dropped As Complainants Would Not Testify

Two cases in District Court were dropped February 26 because the complainants would not testify against the defendants.

Joe M. McCloskey, Deer Park, had been charged with assault and battery upon Nancy Lee Upole at Deer Park February 7. It was dropped because the complainant did not wish to testify.

Both cases were dropped by order of Ralph M. Burnett, assistant State's Attorney. He stated he was reluctant to dismiss such cases because of the high incidence of complainants who do not wish to testify.

Lake Zoning Appeals Board Gives Decision

Is Against Proposed Townhouse Development

The Deep Creek Lake Zoning Appeals Board has reached a decision regarding a recent appeal filed by a citizens' group against a proposed Townhouse development in the Turkey Neck area. According to Mr. Aza Stanton, Appeals Board chairman, the decision was reached after careful consideration of the provisions of the Interim Zoning Ordinance for the Deep Creek Lake District and the evidence and exhibits developed at a public hearing held January 9 1973.

The Appeals Board determined from the evidence that the proposed Townhouse Project would result in a concentration of population in a small land area producing a population density inconsistent with the character of present development in the Turkey Neck area. The Board also felt there was ample evidence presented that there would be potential overcrowding of the lake waters immediately adjacent to the development. In addition, the Board recognized the large number of adjacent property owners in the immediate area who opposed this type of development.

The Board rejected testimony that farm use was the highest and best use for this land. They recommended possible construction of single family residences at a density consistent with present development in the immediate area of Deep Creek Lake which would comply with local, state, and federal regulations as a desirable alternative type of development.

The Zoning Appeal hearing was conducted after a citizens' group lodged a formal appeal against an initial zoning permit granted by W. Marshall Rickert, county planning director. The Appeals Board members are Aza Stanton, Edward DeWitt, and Elizabeth Friend.

Upon learning of the board's decision, Fred Warther, of Lanham, developer, made the following statement:

"In the interest of good community relations, we will take the recommendation of the zoning Appeals Board and develop our tract of land for single family residences on individual lots. We still intend to utilize a central sewer and water system even through it will considerably increase the unit cost of each residence. Reason for this is that septic tanks and wells on half acre lots grouped side by side, in front and back, are a definite risk to property owners, adjacent land owners and will ultimately pollute the lake."

Upon being questioned further Mr. Warther said, along with his attorney, that they felt they could have had the decision reversed by a court appeal, but decided against this because of opposition by year round residents of the county. Mr. Warther is moving into the community shortly and said he would like to continue harmonious relations.

More Snow Puts February Fall Over The Top

Another eight inches of snow during the past week put the February snowman over the top for the month.

Cloudy to partly cloudy skies prevailed most of the week. There was some bright sunshine Saturday and yesterday afternoons with hazy sun Sunday. Snow flurries continued from Thursday through Friday depositing about 4 inches of new snow. Two more fell early Saturday and another 2 inches Tuesday. There was some fog yesterday morning. There was little precipitation other than the snow. The snow melted down to .28 inches of precipitation. This falls short of the normal precipitation for a week this time of the year which is 8.6 inches.

Temperatures for the week averaged almost normal. The morning lows averaged 19.8 degrees or about 2 degrees above normal. The lowest reading was 8 degrees Sunday. Afternoon highs averaged 2 degrees below normal with the highest being 49 degrees Monday. Last Thursday and Friday the mercury stayed below the freezing mark all day.

Breezes were mostly calm to light with the most noticeable being brisk breezes during the storm last Thursday and Friday.

Snowfall for the month so far is 19 inches with a surplus of 6 inches, over the normal 13.7 inches, the greatest of any month so far this season. The only other month over the top was, oddly enough, October with a 2-inch surplus.

Bill To Upgrade Purchase Limit On Co. Equipment

After consulting with the Garrett County Commissioners and the County Roads Engineer, Paul DeWitt, Delegate DeCorsey Bolden introduced legislation that would improve and upgrade the purchase limit of county road equipment. Reviewing an inventory of the present equipment and with the urgent need of moderization of the county stone quarry operation the delegate deemed the bill necessary if "we are to continue to progress."

Delegate Bolden stated, "By removing the present restrictive ceiling limit on the annual dollar purchase of road equipment will allow our county government to remain competitive in the stone quarry operation and thus continue employment of 17 or more men."

This bill also would allow a continuance of the comprehensive replacement program of the road maintenance equipment.

Control of spending in this matter will be by the budgetary process. Also, written into the bill is the requirement to secure written competitive bids on all purchases. However, this is presently being done as good practice, but the bill would spell it out in the law, Bolden concluded.

The Communist Plot Against George Wallace —

And Its Meaning For America

THE ARTHUR BREMER STORY

Hear Facts The Media Have Tried To Suppress!

Timothy R. Heinan

Police Undercover Operative

Was Bremer's attempted assassination of George Wallace the work of a "lone fanatic?" Or was it the result of a carefully planned conspiracy?

Who were the men behind Arthur Bremer? What purpose would George Wallace's death have served?

These are important questions. And Tim Heinan, an undercover operative for the Milwaukee Police Department, is uniquely qualified to answer to them. Working under the code number H-680, this courageous young American infiltrated such Communist revolutionary groups as the Students for a Democratic Society, R.Y.M. II, and the Radical Student Union.

It was at one of these Communist meetings three years ago that Tim Heinan first identified Arthur Bremer. At subsequent meetings, he observed the special attention that was given to Bremer by top revolutionaries. Subsequent investigation has confirmed Bremer's Communist affiliations and other details about the Communist plot against George Wallace. Tim Heinan has the facts. And he believes this story must be told — even though the Liberal press is trying to suppress it. Don't miss this exciting, alarming, and explosive talk!

Ski Patrol Is There To Help In Emergencies

Feature Article On Organization Appears In Sunday Sun Feb. 25

A feature article on how the ski patrol at the Wisp area, McHenry, renders assistance after spills and other emergencies occur on the slopes, appeared in the Recreation section of the Sunday Sun, Baltimore, in its issue of February 25.

The full page story by Jack Dawson, was illustrated.

The volunteer Wisp Ski patrol and guest Oregon Ridge group have treated over 60 accident victims this season. Last year there were 54 accidents and two years ago, 106. The Oregon Ridge group was formed in the early 1960s when skiing began in the north Baltimore area but later failed.

Bob Sincell, patrol leader, told the writer the slope usually had five or six a day minimum on weekends, with heavy snow appearing to be the real backbreaker. Skiers catch their edges in heavy snow and cross their skis, resulting in broken ankles. Other common injuries are scrapes and lacerations from falling off lifts or skidding out of control into the brush or rough terrain at the edge of a trail. There are also occasional accidents in which backs are broken or heads cracked.

One patrolman said their job really was first aid and keeping trails in condition, marking trails with flags where there are obstructions, and recommending that they be closed if they look dangerous. The patrolmen try not to be policemen.

Skiers must be 18 to join the patrol. A junior patrol has been formed for skiers 16 and over with Sincell helping to train the junior patrolmen.

The patrolmen explained to the writer how they got an accident victim down the slope by use of the toboggan. Wisp ski patrolmen are known as "mountain oysters," who during the summer host the Oregon ridge patrolmen for sailing, swimming, etc., and in turn the Oregon Ridge "flatlanders" have the Wisp patrol down for crab feasts and bay sailing.

The Wisp ski area provides the stretchers, communications and other heavy equipment but the patrol built the "castle" atop the chairlift and installed it for their own comfort. Wisp also provides the Oregon Ridge patrol with a free winterized cottage on Deep Creek Lake for weekend accommodation.

Patrolmen have learned to never diagnose an injury requiring more than band-aid treatment.

The writer explained that with over 2,000 skiers of all levels of experience and ability on the slopes last Sunday the wonder was there weren't more serious accidents.

Trickett-Williams Nuptials Held

The Bethel United Methodist Church, Mountain Lake Park, was the setting for the early afternoon wedding of Miss Connie Rae Williams, of Oakland to Mr. Michael Wayne Trickett of Mountain Lake Park.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Reverend James Remley, pastor, before an altar of burning candles with vases and standing baskets of ivory chrysanthemums.

Mr. Joseph DiSimone, soloist, and Mrs. Walter Price, organist, presented a program of traditional and wedding music.

Miss Williams was escorted to the altar by her father, then given in marriage by her parents. The bride was attired in a full length gown of ivory silk organza over taffeta with a high ruffled collar, Juliet sleeves and an empire waistline. The transparent yoke of the bodice was of delicate ivory silk edged with a small ruffle. Encircling the waist was a wide band of organza ending in a large bow at the back. The A-line skirt swept into a full Chapel train with a wide flounce of ivory silk lace extending around the edge. The veil of bridal illusion was attached to a Camelot headpiece of organza and Venice lace with a large bow at the back. She carried a colonial bouquet of violet baby mums and baby's breath with long ivory coloured streamers ending in love knots.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Salem Williams, of 1036 East High Street, Oakland. The groom is the son of Mr and Mrs. James H Trickett, 621 Deer Park Avenue Mountain Lake Park.

Joyce Ann Friend of Cleveland, Ohio, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Pamela Trickett, of Mountain Lake Park, sister of the groom, and Connie Fratz of Accident. The flower girl was Jennifer Ann Friend, of Cleveland, niece of the bride.

The bride's mother was attired in a nile green formal gown of taffeta with an overlay of silk organza. The groom's mother was attired in an aqua formal gown of taffeta with an overlay of organza. They both carried purse corsages of yellow roses.

Clarification Needed

Sometimes having a double can be downright confusing, especially if your double is in name only.

In the November 10 edition of The Republican, Jerry Woodrow Waybright, 17, of Bradley Manor Apartments, Oakland, was listed as charged by the sheriff's department with smoking marijuana.

In case anyone might have been harboring evil suspicions, this is not the Jerry Waybright of the Keyser area, who is 22 years old and works for Wolf Furniture Company in Keyser. The latter Jerry Waybright is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Waybright, Route 4, Keyser.

States Get Leeway In Reapportionment

The Supreme Court last Wednesday gave state legislatures considerable leeway in reapportioning themselves.

The 5 to 3 ruling said strict population equality is not constitutionally required when the states want to maintain traditional county and city boundaries.

The court specifically approved a Virginia plan with a range of at least 16.4 percent from the largest to the smallest district, in the House of Delegates.

Justice William H. Rehnquist said for the majority that even in 1964 when the court first applied the one-man, one-vote standard to state legislative districts, it allowed greater flexibility from perfect equality than in drawing U. S. Congressional lines.

He said "application of the absolute equality test to state legislature redistricting may [illegible] notable [illegible] and [illegible]

In his message to the stockholders, Mr. Tusing, president of the bank, highlighted the bank's growth and progress during the year. He told the group that the bank had another "banner year" with a 20 percent increase in net operating earnings while the national average was around six percent. He also cited the bank's physical growth in new facility construction with the building of a new addition to the main office and the building of branches at Barton and McHenry.

Other reports were given by Earl J. Clark, vice president in charge of loans; Marvin G. Graham, trust officer; and Richard G. Stanton, vice president and cashier.

SENSING THE NEWS

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

Southern States Industrial Council

Using The Private Sector

The mushrooming growth of bureaucracies is one of the most serious problems facing the United States. With the increase in the number of governmental workers, the burden on the wealth-creating sectors of society grows heavier.

Dr. Gordon Tullock, director of the Center for Studies of Public Choice at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, analyzed the worsening bureaucratic mess in a speech at the North Carolina Conservative Society Symposium in this city.

Tracing the growth of government over the last century, Dr. Tullock noted that in 1902 the government operations accounted for only 2.4 percent of the gross national product. Seventy years later, the federal government spent 21½ percent of the GNP. Other forms of government accounted for more than 13 percent. In other words, government takes almost half our total product.

Dr. Tullock warned that today "almost one-third of the people in the country are in the civil service—that is, in the employ of one governmental agency or another. These government employes form, he said, a major "self-interest bloc," adding that "a much higher percentage of bureaucrats vote than other people." If something isn't done to curb the fantastic growth of government, the employes of government will form a majority of voters before 1980.

There is cause for grave concern on this inasmuch as the various bureaucracies are less than productive. Dr. Tullock described "massive inefficiency in government services," citing the postal service as an example of a giant government enterprise which renders ponrer service today than it did a generation ago. Dr. Tullock also pointed out that efficiency is an almost impossible goal for government inasmuch as "if a bureaucrat tried to improve efficiency, his agency would shrink." Under existing civil service regulations, it is almost impossible to fire a government worker who performs inadequately. "If bureaucrats can't be fired," Dr. Tullock observed, "they can't be disciplined."

The problem with the government bureaucracies also lies in the fact that many government departments and bureaus have a monopoly on providing services. The postal service, for example, has a monopnly on delivering first class mail. Private organizations are prohibited from engaging in this business.

As a matter of fact, ending the monopoly position nf government departments seems the only practical way of dismantling the bureaucracies which crush the taxpayers. Privately owned parcel delivery services have demonstrated their efficiency as compared to the federal government's parcel post. Indeed if the American people are to enjoy fast delivery nf the mails, it is essential that the postal service's monopoly privilege be removed.

Dr. Tullock suggested that all levels of government in this country could and should subcontract for services now provided by governmental units. There is no reason why a city has to maintain a sanitation department, especially at a time when such departments are the target of public employe unions. Cities, he indicated, would find it to their financial advantage to contract for waste removal. Companies specializing in such operations already exist and have extensive business. They could remove trash and garbage in as cost-effective a manner as investor-owned utilities provide electric power and gas. In many Communities, private guard services police many residential and business properties. Some communities might find it economically sensible to turn over most police services to private guard systems.

Years agn, U. S. Navy discovered that the best shipbuilding and repair work is done in privately owned shipyards, not in the federally owned shipyards where government red tape and the civil service spirit inhibits efficiency. The Air Force also has used civilian contractors to haul freight and military passengers.

The states, which have copied the federal government in creating new bureaucratie echelons, could sub-contract for many activities now provided by costly state agencies. Agricultural and environmental research are two examples. Education, of course, is perhaps the biggest area for new private initiatives. State and local educational bureaucracies could be reduced or eliminated by contracting for various types of instruction. State educational systems, after all make little or no provision for pay in accordance with a merit system. Private educational contractnrs would employ merit pay and, therefore, the quality of teaching would be superior.

Dr. Tullock's suggestions in this area deserve respectful attention from citizens who want to do something ahout the cost and quality of services needed by the public. He has indicated that the way to progress involves greater use nf the private sector. The Conservative Society of North Carolina has performed a valuable service of its own in getting Dr. Tullock's innovative thinking known to a wider audience.

Listen, Americans!

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON
President—National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

This column is a review of the textbook Up Against The American Myth which was assigned in a history course at North Carolina State University. A student who signed up for the course was required to purchase and use the book. After reading it, he withdrew from the course and called the book to the attention of Jesse Helms, a Raleigh newsman. Helms did a column on it (and he later ran and was elected to the United States Senate, Nov. 7).

The book begins: "Capitalism stinks! It is a highly destructive, wasteful, exploitative and irrational way to organize the resources of a society We can only solve our social problems by doing away with capitalism and the institutions that support it. This is the point of the book, and we make it again and again."

The textbook authors are Tom Christoffel, David Finkelhor, and Dan Gilbarg. They say the book was inspired by a course they took at Harvard University. They identify themselves as Socialist revolutionaries, and the book itself clearly states that the ultimate goal is a Socialist-Communist society. They are bold and brazen authors.

Here are some excerpts from the textbook: "The mobilized power of the people can overthrow capitalism and bring about a socialist revolution No mere policy changes are going to alter its nature. No mere politician is going to uproot it through elective office. A solution, or rather dissolution, to the American Empire will only come about from the combined forces of people around the world who mobilize to throw it out and the people within the United States who mobilize to uproot the capitalist system itself A socialist revolution is needed

"In the book we present reasons for optimism, some strategic outlines and some reasons for taking Socialist revolution seriously as a political goal to be achieved."

Concerning the need for violence, the book says: "Those who advocate revolution do not do so out of an affection for violence, but rather out of a belief that human needs can be met in no other way Some of us who believe it is necessary also believe that others can be as sensitive to their own and civilizations needs as we are Marx and Engels believed it was possible. So did Lenin. So does Mao. We are happy to be in that company." (Emphasis added)

Socialist Paul Sweezy, former economics professor at Harvard, Stanford and Cornell, says in a chapter in the book that the true goal of the radical revolutionaries in the U. S. is Marxist communism: "As Marxism rose to dominance among the radical tendencies of the day, the word 'socialism' returned to favor From the Marxian point of view, therefore, Communism must be thought of as growing out of socialism and to understand the sense in which Communism is the goal of the whole movement, one must view it as not an abstract Utopia but as the end product of a historical process which has to be treated as a continuous whole." (Emphasis added)

If parents and citizens could be sure that propoganda falsehoods in textbooks such as this are rebutted in classrooms by the instructors, and that, even more important, every student at the same time is given the true facts about Capitalism, Socialism and Communism, the results wouldn't be so dangerous. But I'm afraid this isn't happening. What is happening must surely be a challenge to any complacency left among our citizenry.

Promises Not Fulfilled

At ten o'clock on Friday night, February 2, 1973, Washington, D. C. Police and the FBI arrested a self-styled "revolutionary" and put him in jail. At the time of arrest the prisoner was carrying a sawed-off .303 rifle—the same gun which, it is known, was used to murder at least 4 innocent victims since the first of the year. All had been slaughtered in cold blood. Robbery was not the motive, but hate.

There is another part to the story, but it, too, is not unusual. The self-same suspect had been arrested less than two months before, charged with several minor offenses, fined $20 and released after being held less than 20 hours in a detention center.

At the time of his first arrest, the suspect who was standing outside of his automobile made a sudden lunge toward the car, but he was halted when the police drew their guns and ordered him to stop.

Reaching in the car, one of the policemen picked up a snub-nosed, .38 caliber revolver from the floor of the car in front of the driver's seat. The suspect did not have a Washington permit to carry a gun. The gun law carries stiff penalties. But the suspect was not charged with this crime.

Why?

Because the arresting police picked the gun up off the floor of the car without a search warrant.

One of the campaign promises made by President Nixon, when he was running for office five years ago, was that he would correct the imbalance in law which protect's criminals at the expense of the innocent.

It is perfectly clear that the legal mess left by the ultra-liberal Warren court is still costing the lives of law-abiding citizens, while criminals are allowed to roam at will, because of court-created loopholes in the law.

This is one campaign promise that has yet to be fulfilled. Let us hope that Mr. Nixon will get around to it, and quickly.

What's Wrong With MacMillan?

MacMillan and Co., a textbook publsher is back in the headlines again, this time with a history book that has met with strong objections by parents of children in public schools.

A UPI news story reports that "A history book proposed for use in Texas' fifth grade has a sentence here and there about George Washington, but devotes 6½ pages to Marilyn Monroe," quoting testimony given during hearings before the Senate Education Commissioner, J. W. Edgar.

Complained one witness, Mrs. Mel Gabler of Longview, Texas: "They (the fifth graders) are not going to remember the story of her life. They're going to remember this sexy picture," pointing to a revealing photograph of the movie star included in the "history."

Witnesses complained that the book, "Search For Freedom," put too much emphasis on wealth versus poverty and charged that the book's handling of the Vietnam War blamed all civilian deaths in South Vietnam on American bombs, but made no mention of Communist rockets, bombs and mines.

This is not the first time that MacMillan textbooks have run into opposition. In 1970 the Texas State Board of Education removed a MacMillan book, "Gateway English," from the state's approved list because it did not comply with clean language rules.

Parents of children in public schools have enough cause for concern without having to worry about the contents of their school hooks. Would it be unreasonable to suggest that the MacMillan publishers clean up their hooks before they offer them for sale to schools? —U. S. Press Association, Inc.

Summons To Greatness

"Summons to Greatness," is a collection of inspirational thoughts and practical ideas from the messages and addresses of Richard M. Nixon, president of the United States.

Here is another one of the messages:

"Neither the defense nor the development of other nations can be exclusively or primarily an American undertaking.

"The nations of each part of the world should assume the primary responsibility for their own well-being; and they themselves should determine the terms of that well-being. We shall be faithful to our treaty commitments, but we shall reduce our involvement and our presence in other nation's affairs.

"If peace and freedom are to endure in this world, there is no task more urgent than lifting up the hungry and the helpless, and putting flesh on the dreams of those who yearn for a better life.

"Whatever mistakes we have made in foreign policy we can be proud that in four wars in this century Americans have sacrificed their lives not for domination or conquest, but always to help others to enjoy the freedom which we ourselves gained in 1776. We shall never betray that tradition. We shall always use our strength to keep the peace, not to break it; to defend freedom, not to destroy it.

"Never has there been a time when hope was more justified or when complacency was more dangerous. We have made a good beginning and because we have begun, history now lays upon us a special obligation to see it through. We can seize this moment or lose it, we can make good this opportunity to build a new structure of peace in the world, or let it slip away.

"Together, let us seize the moment so that our children and the world's children live free of the fears and free of the hatreds that have been the lot of mankind through the centuries.

"Then the historians of a future age will write of 1972, not that this was the year America went up to the summit and then down to the valley again—but that this was the year when America helped to lead the world up out of the lowlands of constant war, and onto the high plateau of lasting peace."

Brenneman's Maple Grove Idle After Long, Productive Career

SMOKE IS ROLLING from the sugar maple camp, operated by Lawrence Brenneman near Bittinger for the past 39 years. Mr. Brenneman has informed his customers that he will not be able to operate his camp from now on due to poor health. Mr. Brenneman is standing at the corner of the storage building. — Photo courtesy of the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission.

By Carol Canan

Brenneman's Maple Grove near Bittinger stands as majestically lovely as ever, but it's a little lonely there this year.

There are no tractors tumbling through, no hammering sounds as spiles are pushed into the wood, no smoke coming from the sugar camp.

After spending 39 of his 68 years making maple syrup from his grove of over 1,200 trees, Lawrence Brenneman is retiring from the maple sugar making business, due to increasingly poor health.

Seemingly, no one else is interested enough in the maple tradition to carry on the work, although Mr. Brenneman has many faithful customers who waited each year for sugaring time. Some customers have been with him more than 25 years.

It's hard, tiring and cold work outside in Garrett County in February. Here, the weather usually spits heavy snowstorms, and the thermometer can drop to zero or below.

But when the sap is flowing, there's no way to ask a tree to wait until it warms up. To them, spring is on its way and they're getting ready.

So, for six weeks or more, those who gather the water must get up before daybreak and work all day until about midnight, bringing in the sugar water and boiling it down.

It takes about 50 gallons of sugar water to produce a gallon of the syrup, and in 1959, it took 708 man hours to produce the 28,629 gallons sold that year.

Last year, Brennemans yield totaled 765 gallons.

Providing extra backs for lifting and extra hands for all jobs were Harold and Russell Brenneman, brothers of Lawrence, and Herb, William and Ken Buckel and Larry O'Brien.

The process itself has changed little over the years. Gathered in buckets, the sap buckets are emptied into other buckets and hauled on wagons to the sugar camp, where is is poured into a spout which takes it to the boiling vats.

Mr. Brenneman has made many repairs to his sugar camp building, but the building itself is the same one his father-in-law, the late Perry Broadwater, used during his years as maple syrup producer.

Mr. Brenneman uses metal, not wood, buckets and spiles. He uses tractors instead of horse teams, but says he misses the horse days. Tractors are not only noisy, but don't respond to word commands, as the horses usually did. Once in a while, Mr. Brenneman recalled, a team would decide to "break loose" and run, but never was there a serious accident or even a bucket of sap completely spilled.

Patience is a byword in the maple industry. Producers can neither stop nor hurry the flow of sap, and the trees must be at least 50 years old before they produce the sugar water. Some of the monarchs in the Brenneman grove are at least 250 to 300 years old.

Now instead of beginning six weeks of hard labor every February Mr. Brenneman plans to devote his time to raising beef cattle. He has one daughter, Mrs. Donald Hershberger, Grantsville, and two granddaughters.

The grove was becoming a drawing card, not only for its beautiful stately trees surrounded by a chestnut rail fence, but also as an educational jaunt for schoolchildren.

Their oohs and aahs are probably still echoing through the grove, as they saw first hand where that delicious maple syrup which so enhances pancakes, waffles, cakes and desserts, comes from.

Yes, the grove seems a little forlorn this year without the tractors moving around and the smoke rising from the sugar camp chimney.

Maybe the echoes of all past spring activity are still wafting around the trees, to keep them company until some good "fairy" in the form of school children, or county residents, take up the good, but hard, work where Mr. Brenneman was forced to leave off.

Buckets are emptied into the large vat and taken to the sugar camp for boiling the water down into the final product. -- Credit photo Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission.

CAREFULLY emptying the buckets during maple sugar time is Russell Brenneman, who has helped his brother Lawrence operate Brenneman's Grove for many years. Discussion Held On Merit System By Commissioners Rules, regulations and specifications regarding the merit system were discussed at a special meeting of the County Commissioners on Friday, February 23 with Robert Diehl, Leo Rinker and Earl Foster, the Merit System committee; also Jack Turney, attorney to the commissioners, and Paul DeWitt, administrative engineer for the Garrett County Roads department.

After discussion they were amended and are now being prepared for finalization. The merit system will give the county employes an opportunity to realize increases in pay based on their merits, attitude, productivity, seniority, etc., it was pointed out.

On Monday the Commissioners' office received a check from the comptroller in the amount of $112,865, the county's fourth quarterly share of state income tax revenue for the ending year of 1972, and is included in the county's estimated income for the budgeted funds.

On Tuesday, roads board day, the commissioners discussed the forthcoming budget and also explored some possible sites for obtaining limestone in the future.

Many State, Local Taxes Are Deductible, IRS Says

You can deduct many kinds of state and local taxes on your Federal income tax return, if you itemize your deductions, William D. Waters, District Director of Internal Revenue for Maryland and the District of Columbia, announced.

Deductible taxes include real estate and personal property taxes, state and local income taxes, state and local gasoline taxes, and general sales taxes.

Taxes and fees that are not deductible include liquor and cigarette taxes, most auto license fees, water service charges, hunting and fishing licenses, and dog licenses. Federal taxes are also not deductible on Federal tax returns, Mr. Waters noted.

IRS Publication 516, "Income Tax Deduction for Taxes," has complete information on deductible and nondeductible taxes. It's available free from your IRS district office.

Southern Trounces Bruce Hi 84 To 70

Southern Rams took advantage of a cold shooting 1st half by Bruce High to defeat the Bulldogs 84 to 70 at Oakland on Tuesday evening.

The Rams moved in front by 25-11 score at the end of the first period and increased their advantage to 23 points, at 42-19 at the end of the first half.

The Bulldogs began to find the range in the third period but Southern continued to score and Bruce could cut only two points off the Rams lead by the end of the third quarter.

The Bulldogs had their best period in the final eight minutes but Southern had long before the surge wrapped up the game.

Southern was led by Denny Skeweris with 22 points. Three other Southern cagers reached double figures, Paul Lewis with 19, Randy DiSimone with 16 and Jim Bosley with 12. Southern outgunned Bruce 37 to 28 and the Rams converted 10 of 19 foul shots to 13 of 18 for Bruce.

Jim McConnell topped Bruce with 18 points while Jim Wills had 15, Ocie Raines 14 and Everline 11. Others scoring for Southern were Cvetnick 7, Sharps 3, C. Bosley 1, Panther 4.

ACCIDENT, MD. VA 6-8121

Pat Fischetti, Bausch and Lomb plant manager, gets a warm handshake from Bernie Zlomek, board of directors president of the Southern Garett Co. Rescue Squad, for a $500 check in support of the squad's initial fund raising effort. Looking on is Roy Hinkle, Jr., financial secretary for the squad, and an employee of Bausch and Lomb. The rescue squad is aiming for a $10,000 goal.

Brad Stewart, Oakland Jaycee, and Rex Teagarden, treasurer of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad advance the pointer on the fund drive score board. The board is situated on the Court House lawn. Teagarden reported that donations now total in excess of $3,500 in the squad's attempt to reach $10,000. Donations have come mostly from businesses in Southern Garrett County.

Rescue Squad Fund Raising Nets $4,000

Throughout the month of February the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, Inc., has been conducting its initial fund raising campaign.

The first phase has consisted of contacting businesses, professionals, clubs and organizations. The result of phase one has been an approximate total of $4,000.00, nearly half of the $10,000.00 goal, the gauge on the Court House lawn will show the amounts which have been collected.

Presently phase two will begin, that of contacting the residents of the area by a door-to-door campaign. This volunteer non-profit organization, has been established for the well-being and peace-of-mind of the community. The hopes of the area that this will be a non-fee non-membership service is expressed as deeply by the members as it is by the community. Great care has been taken by Jaycees, the Squad itself and its instructors, to assure the people that this will be the best it can be. Rigid training and instruction by various area authorities and physicians are being conducted.

The ambulance will soon be seen around the area during the fund raising. Radio appearances are also being scheduled to help acquaint the public with the services to be given.

Clubs and organizations who would like to have guest speakers or demonstrations concerning the course of emergency care or the rescue squad contact the president of Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, Inc., Bernard Zlomek.

WASHINGTON REPORT
FROM SENATOR J. GLENN
BEALL JR.

Protecting the Air Traveler

The subject of airline hijacking has been in the news again, but for reasons other than the grim announcement that another plane has been commandeered.

What has been making the news now are some of the steps we are taking to prevent these acts of terrorism.

The Senate has already passed one bill to improve airline safety by amending the Airport and Airway Development Act of 1970.

This legislation created a trust fund, supported by landing fees and other user taxes, to provide federal matching grants for airport construction and improvements.

Now there is another expense facing just about every airport in the country. It is the cost of implementing anti-hijacking standards issued by the Federal Aviation Administration, which include the purchase of metal detection devices and the hiring of extra security personnel to screen passengers and luggage.

These costs were leading many local governments to impose passenger taxes and local user fees that have been confusing, aggravating and sometimes unfair, too.

What seemed like a better solution was to broaden the eligibility for matching grants from the airport trust fund, and that is what we have done.

The bill passed by the Senate also makes an extra allowance for the purchase of anti-hijacking equipment. These purchases will be eligible for a higher federal contribution of 82 per cent of their cost, so the local share needed to meet these new federal standards will be minimal.

At the same time, however, the local taxes would be prohibited.

An important thing to notice about this legislation is that it is aimed at preventing a potential hijacker from even getting aboard a plane. It is a much better approach than trying to cope with a hijacker who has pulled out a gun after the plane is 30,000 feet in the air.

There are other measures that are needed to discourage hijackers, and they will be dealt with in another bill that will soon be considered by the Senate.

This bill will allow the President to terminate air service between the United States and any nation that gives refuge to an airline hijacker. And it provides for penalties of 20 years to life imprisonment for persons who attempt to hijack a plane.

It also meets one of the unsettled problems about airline safety by creating a federal security force for air transportation.

As it is now, an airport may be relying on local police, U.S. marshals and federal customs agents. These are people who often have other responsibilities and they may not be available for constant surveillance.

They cannot be expected to do the job efficiently or on a full-time basis. Yet with the kind of investment that is being made for passenger safety equipment, we also should be making the best possible use of it.

I think there is something else that should be said about these passenger safety procedures, which some people have called an inconvenience and an illegal search.

To me, this is not a question of harrassment or an infringement of personal liberties. The purpose of these actions is to protect all of us from a potential disaster, and I fully endorse them.

Northern Loses To Bruceton High

Chris Frazee scored 17 points, the only Northern High player to reach double figures but the Huskies dropped a 63-48 decision to Bruceton Mills Tuesday evening at Accident.

Northern pulled ahead 14-8 after the first period, but the visitors gained the initiative and held a 26-23 advantage at halftime. Bruceton was on top 42 to 34 at the three quarter mark.

Bruceton outgunned Northern from the floor 26 to 19, and the visitors converted eleven of seventeen foul attempts compared to a ten for 18 effort by the Huskies.

Wotring led Bruceton with 24 points while Greza had 14. Also scoring for the Huskies were Humberson 8, Russell 1, Slagle 8, Snyder 4, Wampler 6 and Bender 4.

The Huskies will play Bishop Walsh of Cumberland at Accident on Friday evening for their final regular season game.

Bruce High Tops Northern 93 To 67

Shaffer and Laffey had 20 points each, McConnel 19, Everline and Wills 10 each to pace Bruce High as the Bulldogs pulled away in the second period and won by a convincing margin.

Bruce had a total of 37 field goals comparred to 25 for Northern and the Bulldogs converted 19 of 29 fouls compared to 17 for 28 by the Huskies.

Bruce led 16 to 12 at the end of the first period, 43-33 at halftime and 67-43 at the end of the third stanza.

Beall High Wins Over Rams 67-54

Connor had 16 points, Durney 14 as the Mountaineers pulled away from the Rams after the first period. Eddie Moran and John Rephan added ten each. Beall outgunned Southern from the field 24 to 20 and Beall also converted 19 of 29 foul attempts compared to a 14 for 27 effort by the Rams.

Beall led by only two points 15 to 13, after the first quarter and seven points, 34-27, at halftime. It was still a hotly-contested game after three periods with Beall holding a 47-41 advantage but the Mounties rallied to move away in the final chapter.

Paul Lewis led the Southern Rams with 16 points while Rick Skewcris and Randy DiSimone had ten points each. Bosley wound up with 5, Cvetnik 9, and Sharps 4.

In the prelminary encounter the Beall junior varsity eagers registered a 59-48 decision over Southern Jayvees.

Haying, Grazing Is Permitted On Set Aside Acres

The 1973 feed grain and wheat programs have been changed in order to permit participating producers to graze or cut hay from the set-aside acres, according to J. Walter Margroff, Chairman, County ASC Committee. Mr. Margroff said the decision to permit haying and grazing of set-aside acres by the Secretary of Agriculture was made in order to prevent or alleviate a shortage in the supply of livestock feed. The haying and grazing privilege will assist livestock producers in meeting increased consumer demand for meat products by making additional forage available to supplement feed supplies for the production of livestock.

A producer must obtain approval from the County ASC Committee prior to any grazing or haying of the land, otherwise the producer may lose a part or all of his wheat or feed grain program payment. Payment reduction for grazing, haying or cutting silage from the set-aside acreage will be 30 percent of the average payment rate per acre of set-aside under the 25 percent plan for feed grains.

Mr. Margroff says that a producer may graze or harvest hay or silage from conserving crops at any time, including the five principal months of the normal growing season and receive a reduced payment, unless he has had a downward adjustment in his conserving base from the 1972 level. Crops ineligible for grazing, haying or silage include corn, soybeans, grain sorghums, sweet sorghum for silage, and matured small grain. The haying or grazing privilege may be sublet to another producer who does not have an interest in the farm, but this does not relieve the farmer of any payment reduction.

Several important changes have recently been made in both the feed grain and wheat programs. Farmers interested in the programs and the recent changes should contact the county ASCS office prior to March 16th. March 16th is the last date for enrolling in the programs.

Environment – A Base For Curriculum Is Feature Article About Camp Hickory

Students studying the art of taxidermy at Camp Hickory, at the rear of Northern High school, Accident.

"Environment—A Base for Curriculum," a feature article about Camp Hickory as well as the Resource center, appeared in the January issue of "Newsletter," a publication of the State Department of Education.

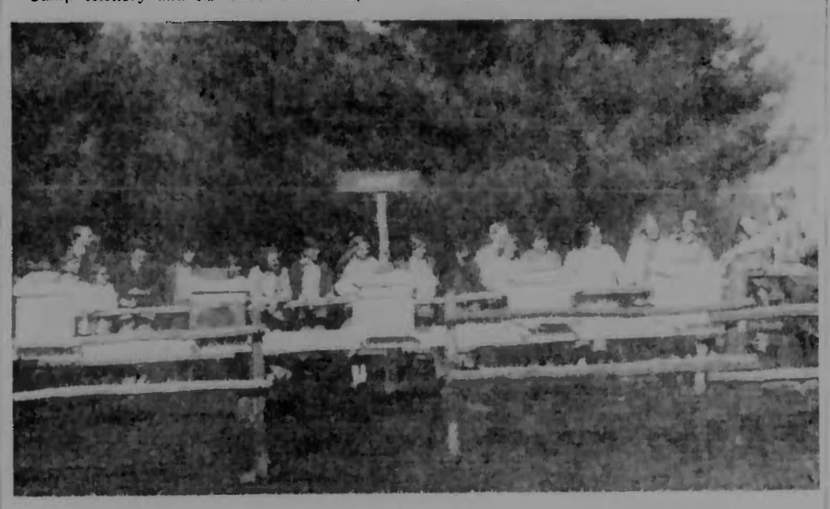
The article was the second of a series of articles covering educational programs being conducted under Title III of ESEA.

"For thirty black sixth graders from Baltimore, the thin mountain air of Garrett County had a peculiar freshness. The ears popped. The eyes bulged. After a five-hour bus ride through the early fall rain, the children, students at St. Cecelia's School, climbed off the bus at Camp Hickory, behind Northern High school, Accident, to begin four days examining more closely what they had earlier seen from a hazy distance. Held in the hand or looked at under the microscope, the elements of that strange landscape continued to stimulate their curiosity.

"The Baltimore city children were no more curious about their closer observation than were the 35 pupils from the Dennett Road School, near Oakland. The children from the city were the first non-public school pupils to participate in Garrett County's "Environment—A Basis for Curriculum," a project that has become a jewel in the county's educational system. The project is funded under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 with the supervision of the State Department of Education.

"Camp Hickory and its director, Charles F. Strauss, play host to hundreds of sixth grade pupils during six weeks each fall and spring. Fridays are reserved for other classes and an eight week program is conducted each summer for grades three to five.

"At the entrance to the camp a sign proclaims the educational principles of the environmental studies program: 'That which can best be learned inside the classroom should be learned there. That which can best be learned in the out of doors through direct experience, dealing with native materials and life situations, should there be learned.—L. B. Sharp.' "



A honey bee lesson taught in the Camp Hickory apiary. Charles Strauss is the teacher.

The camp consists of a large multi-purpose room that serves as the main classroom and laboratory, and dormitory facilities for 75 people. A new dormitory is being built by the construction class at Garrett Community college, assisted by Community Action workers. School officials eventually see the possibility of the camp serving as a statewide environmental studies and fine arts center able to accommodate 125 people.

The 77-acre camp ground contains a variety of outdoor facilities, including a botanical garden, aboretum, apiary, and several nature trails. But the camp itself is only the hub of a ring of outdoor education subcenters. These include a planetarium, a floating laboratory for studies of plant and animal life in Deep Creek Lake and numerous natural resource sites.

The children from St. Cecelias and Dennett Road spent their first afternoon at the camp being given a thorough introduction by Mr. Strauss into the studies that would take them far afield the next day. The session served at the same time as a social introduction, bringing together in a relaxed atmosphere children of the state's most urban area with children of one of the state's most remote areas.

But the expectation of all the children seemed to be focused on the next morning when they would explore at first hand what previously they may studied from books.

Their first stop was a strip mine site. As the group peered into the broad, black scar in the earth, Mr. Strauss pointed out the layers of rock and coal laid bare by the mining operation. After reviewing the formation of coal, he discussed with the students the strip mining controversy as a dilemma faced by society: we need the energy from coal but we cannot afford to destroy the natural environment to extract the coal. He suggested that strip mining be permitted only where complete restoration of the land is possible, through reforestation and other methods.

The next stop on this trip to explore the formation of coal was a plant fossil site. The children began their "treasure" hunt with enthusiasm, an enthusiasm that was quickly rewarded with many good fossil pieces. Each child took back several fossils for further study at the camp and back in his regular classroom.

Such field trips provide the pupils with direct contact with the materials they are studying, thus adding a sense of reality to the abstract classroom work. Judging from the high level of interest shown by the Baltimore City pupils as well as by the local pupils, these field trips are achieving their purpose of stimulating the curiosity necessary for successful academic study.

The scientific study of the environment at Camp Hickory and the other sub-centers is only one component of Title III project, though it is clearly the most prominent. Environmental education is viewed as an interdisciplinary study in which the social studies, career education, the language arts and science are all seen as contributors to an exploration of the interaction between man and his total environment.

The total environment—physical and cultural—forms the core of the kindergarten through sixth grade curriculum. For example, social studies units are built around such concepts as the ways in which man's environment shapes his pattern of economic behavior and resource use; man is a product of his heredity and environment; and human behavior is shaped by the social environment.

If the environment is the conceptual center, the physical center is the Resource Center at the Board of Education. From this center teachers all over the county at all levels are supplied with a steady stream of materials from films and cassettes to books and pictures. To solve the problem of delivery of materials in the large, sparsely populated county, a "pony express" service was instituted which makes the rounds to each elementary school every other day and to the two high schools every day.

Albert R. Ringer director of instruction, sees the Title III project as the "catalyst which allowed innovative and creative ideas to become a part of the total school program."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Letter to Editor:

Friends when are you going to act?" Now the U.S. is going to aid another enemy!! (North Vietnam) If you can find a copy of our Great Document the Constitution of the United States, read what it says about treason. If you can't find a copy try the library; so far the IRS hasn't had it removed.

The way to act is through your letters to Congressmen and also by deciding what portion of your taxes should be paid. The Government needs money to run on but they don't need money for our enemies. Now is the time to start moving; before it gets worse. Every step our Government takes is accepted by us without a word. Why? If we unite against the evil forces we will prevail. We must have courage to stand and resist. The Government will change rather than put one million people in jail, but one million people must be ready to go. It's time to stand fast.

Resist the many socialistic drives being forced upon us. More welfare, more unemployment, more effort to set up "medical clinics" so people can stand in line to be seen by a doctor who has no incentive to practice medicine. He sees bodies, gives out pills. He sees everybody because there's no cost. Untrue, the cost to the taxpayer is twice that of normal medical costs. One of our good doctors expounded upon this sometime ago. Instead of having a medical doctor as an administrative person to shuffle papers, they should hire a clerk and let the doctor go out and do what he was trained to do. Help people get well. A disgruntled taxpayer.

Maryland Senate Goes Distance On Redistricting

Efforts by the Maryland General Assembly to adopt its reapportionment plan failed when a filibuster by Sen. John Carroll Byrnes carried past the midnight deadline without reaching a vote.

The Senate became locked over a compromise on a reapportionment plan for the state.

Shortly before 10 p. m. the House of Delegates accepted a conference committee amendment for Baltimore City and then approved the General Assembly plan, sending it on to the Senate.

Allegany county's two Republican senators repeated efforts to amend the local districting to include Westernport, Luke and McCoole with the Garrett county district in lieu of the five Georges Creek communities which Democrats want in Garrett. The attempt was the third time that local GOP members sought to amend the General Assembly plan and all three times they have suffered rejection.

The Georges Creek communities of Lonaconing, Midland, Shaft, Pekin and Gilmore will be included with Garrett county to make one delegate district.

Reapportionment, necessary because of the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote ruling, will result in just two delegates serving only Allegany county territory. One other delegate will be split between all of Garrett plus the Allegany communities added to Garrett, and another delegate will be serving South Cumberland and a large portion of Washington county.

The new senatorial district will take in all of Gerrett county plus Allegany county down to South Cumberland.

Seeks To Alter Busing Measure

The House delegations from Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties agreed to sponsor legislation to permit school children who live less than one mile from school, but who are subject to "hazardous" conditions along the school routes, to continue to get bus transportation.

The state is set to enforce a one-mile radius regulation which will prohibit any child living within one mile of a school from using the school buses.

The three county delegations are moving to make exceptions to the rule, primarily because of rural conditions in all three counties which they say would often pose a hazard to children forced to walk to and from the school.

Del. David J. Williams, (R. Allegany), said many of the school children live in areas where there are no sidewalks or where highway traffic is heavy. In those cases, he said, the state should continue its responsihllity of seeing that the pupils are taken safely to and from school.

In other House action, a new bill has been drafted to designate two areas in this county as State Wildlands. An earlier bill to establish the same thing became snarled in the House Environmental Matters Committee after a number of technical charges were requested, forcing the committee chairman to direct that the bill be redrafted.

A FORESTRY TRUCK LANDED AGAINST A TREE following an accident at Center and Wilson Streets in Oakland about 4:30 p.m. last Friday. Mrs. Rosalie V. Evans, Swanton, a teacher at Dennett Road School, traveling south on Wilson Street, failed to see a 'stop' sign, entered Center Street and ran into the side of the Forestry truck driveo by Joe Mechem, RD 2, Oakland, causing it to veer into the tree. There were no injuries. Officer Hobert Shillingburg of the Oakland Police investigated.

GOP Again Loses Proposed Change In Districting

The Maryland Senate last week revised and then approved the reapportionment plan adopted earlier by the House but Western Maryland Republicans were again thwarted in an attempt to change part of the proposed local districting.

The plan went back to the House.

The latest attempt by local GOP leaders to have changes made in the reapportionment was made by Sen. Edward J. Mason. Mason sought to have the plan amended to include Westernport, Luke and McCoole in the Garrett county district, rather than several Georges Creek communities but his amendment was defeated 25 to 12.

There will be 47 senatorial districts, four more than at present, hut the delegates' number will drop from 142 to 141.

Both the governor's plan and the one by the House affected this area in the same way. Both plans called for having all of Garrett county plus Lonaconing, Midland, Shaft, Pekin and Gilmore in one district.

Byron Supports Pension Exemption

Rep. Goodloe Byron has reintroduced legislation in the House that would exclude from federal income tax up to $5,000 of retirement income.

The 6th District congressman said the exclusion covers any amount received as an annuity, pension or other retirement benefit during a taxable year providing the amount does not exceed $5,000.

"Retired citizens living on a fixed income today are hit hard by many inflationary pressures such as food prices and property taxes."

"As a result, we must continually search for ways to make certain that America's elderly live their years in security and dignity, and I think this measure is a step in that direction," Byron said.

Which describes your feelings?

Yes__ No__ I could do more enjoyable things if I had the time.

Yes__ No__ I have a good occupation and my supervisors approve of my work, but personally, I'm not satisfied.

Yes__ No__ My realistic conception of an ideal life is very different from that which I'm living now.

Did at least one question apply to you? If so, it's quite possible that you're not getting the most out of life. Only you know the reasons, but whatever they are, God can help you.

Among many other things in the Bible, He promises freedom and a new life to those who sincerely seek it.

Why don't you come to church this Sunday and let Him know that you want to be free of your chains?

To live a half-life when a full life is available isn't really like you.

Is it?

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

"VERY GOOD"

Lesson for March 4, 1973

Background Scripture: Genesis 1:1-26, 31; Psalms 24:1, 2; 104:24-30
Devotional Reading: Psalms 95:1-7.

Several years ago I saw in a magazine a cartoon depicting an American family on vacation at Grand Canyon. Their auto was parked at one of the overlooks perched on the lip of the canyon. The father and mother were standing outside the car, looking with rapt wonder at the glorious sight spreading before them. In the car, however, their little boy and girl were totally engrossed in comic books!

Rev. Althouse

In the beginning . . .

The cartoon reminds us that, blessed with the opportunity to see the world in all its God-given glory, many of us, like little children, refuse to see what is so close at hand. We see the sights and hear the sounds of the world about us, but we do not really either see or hear.

One day recently I walked for the first time along a road on which I often drive my car. I was amazed to see and hear so many things along that road that had always in the past completely escaped my notice. It was the same world I was seeing, but I was seeing it through different eyes.

This is the view of the world to which the Bible would often lead us. It does not show us a different world, but the same world through different eyes. It calls us to see the world as God sees it, not in hopelessness and confusion, but in that light that caused him to say as he first beheld it, "Very good!"

God came to the verdict of "Very good!", not just because here and there he saw something that pleased him, but because the whole of creation, "everything that he had made" (Genesis 1:31), pleased him and met his specifications. As Teilhard de Chardin once put it: All around us for as far as the eye can see, the universe holds together."

"Let them have dominion"

The ancient peoples, for the most part, saw no design or ultimate goodness in the world. It was, for them, a chaos, a jumbled mass of elements and forces that moved the world nowhere in particular. The Genesis view of creation was a startling, new perspective, that saw creation, by the grace of God, not as chaos but cosmos. Despite all its divergences and paradoxes, creation, said Genesis, hangs together because that is the way that God created it to be.

The second great thought in Genesis follows close on the first: that God places man in dominion over his "very good" world so that it may be fruitful and achieve God's purpose. It is God's world, but he gives it into my hands so that I may live constructively in it.

Too frequently men have regarded this as their world. They have used it, abused it, exploited, and ruined it. They have done so because they have forgotten that it is God's world and they are only temporary stewards of it.

So, again and again, God calls us to remember whose world it is and remind us that, if we will be good stewards of it, it will continue as it was created to be: "Very good!"

℞ WHAT IS "DOCTORITIS"
A recent study has shown that there are fewer than half the doctors needed to serve the health needs of our society. As a result, physicians are chronically overworked, and many times unavailable. Hospitals emergency rooms are being overrun with non-emergency cases. And in some areas there are no doctors at all.
There is no cure for "Doctoritis" on the horizon. And by all the data now known, the situation will become more acute during the next few years. Our pharmacy works closely with the doctors in this community to deliver the best health care possible to as many people as possible.

WASHINGTON REPORT
BEALL JR.

Changes And Constants

In the past week, we have observed the birthday of George Washington—our first President, a great patriot a leader in time of war and peace, and probably the most famous individual in American history.

One of the annual traditions of the Congress is the reading of Washington's historic Farewell Address in the Senate and House of Representatives to commemorate his birthday.

When I had the honor of delivering the Farewell Address in the Senate two years ago, I was struck by the enduring truth of some of its passages about our form of government.

At one point he said, "Liberty itself will find in such a government, with powers properly distributed and adjusted, its surest guardian. It is, indeed, little else than a name where government is too feeble to withstand the enterprises of faction . . . and to maintain all in the secure and tranquil enjoyment of the rights of person and property."

We were fortunate then—as I believe we are fortunate now — to have leaders with vision beyond their own times and immediate concerns, and Washington rightly praised the remarkable achievement that is embodied in our Constitution.

It is an amazing monument to man's ability to set up a form of government that has the flexibility, as Washington pointed out, to withstand the pull and haul of two centuries and to respond to the changing needs of a growing and diverse population.

We are now on the threshold of a new era of peace and prosperity in this country, and I feel that the transition will bring adjustments and changes in our governmental structure.

But the Constitution—although amended interpreted and bent out of shape in a few places — has remained largely intact, and we can still look to it for guidance as we seek the course that is best for our nation.

I believe that the federal government has reached the point where it must begin to curb its tremendous appetite. Like the man who ate and ate until he literally exploded, the United States government has grown so large that its very size is affecting its ability to react and respond to the people's needs.

At the same time, state and local governments have developed mechanisms and expertise they once lacked to deal with many of today's problems, and they should be encouraged to operate without the continual interference of big brother.

As the states assume more authority, the need for congressional involvement in so many areas will diminish, and Congress will then be able to do a better job, too, by focusing on fewer areas.

I believe that this will enable Congress to again become a protector of the taxpayer, rather than a conduit for more and more tax dollars.

Congress may also be able to reform its ways of dealing with the federal budget, and thus bring about a realignment of power between Congress and the Executive Branch.

These changes will probably not come quickly, nor without great pain and acrimonious debate. But in the end, I believe our nation will be the stronger for it.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our husband and father, Charles B. Neel, who passed away one year ago March 2, 1972.

Your gentle face and pleasant smile
With sadness we recall,
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
You are not forgotten, loved one
Nor will you ever be.
As long as life and memories last,
We will remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,

National Guard Training Continues

Members of Company C, 121st Engineer battalion will meet March 17 and 18 for a tactical situation. Each platoon is to function on direct orders from Captain William B. Wood, company commander.

The entire drill is to be conducted in an atmosphere simulating as nearly as possible actual combat conditions. Each platoon will be evaluated by battalion staff officers concerning their ability to function effectively as a unit. Various engineering projects will be completed while in the platoon area.

At the meeting on February 10 and 11 the training emphasis was on the possibility of being activated for civil disturbance or disasters. Use of minimum force was stressed in all phases of civil disturbances instruction, which included classes in policies and legal considerations, discipline of troops, evaluation of civil disturbances, and crowd control measures. Additional instruction was conducted in areas of riot control formations, communication and anti-looting measures.

Visitors at the last meeting included Col. Baxter M. Phillips, commander of the 29th support center RAO, Pikesville; Lte James J. Nan, Jr., also attached to the 29th support center, SSM Cole and MSG Pipes, from the 121st Engineer battalion, Ellicott City.

Thoughts
From the Living Bible

Before anything else existed there was Christ, with God. He has always been alive and is himself God. He created everything there is—nothing exists that he didn't make. Eternal life is in him, and this life gives light to all mankind.

God sent John the Baptist as a witness to the fact that Jesus Christ is the true Light. John himself was not the Light; he was only a witness to identify it. Later on, the one who is the true Light arrived to shine on everyone coming into the world.

Meet The Staff

BOB MARTIN

This week we would like you to meet Bob Martin. Bob is a member of our dairy and frozen food departments and started working for us in 1968. You have not seen Bob in our store recently because for the last year and a half he has been working on the night shift. Although you don't see Bob when you're shopping, you can't help to see the fine job that he is doing each night, for he is the man who merchandises most of our dairy items as well as some of the frozen food items.

When we recently remodeled our store, the dairy department was greatly enlarged. This made it difficult to sufficiently merchandise this department during shopping hours. Bob realized that to have a smoother running department someone would have to do the work after hours. He volunteered to accept the night position and it's through his efforts that you don't have to be bothered wih cluttered aisles and stocking carts while you shoo for your favorite dairy products.

Merchandising is only part of Bob's job. It is also his duty to order most of the merchandise in his department. It is an important job because all of these products are perishable. He makes sure that he orders a sufficient amount but is careful not to over order. This enables you to always be able to buy the freshest dairy products available.

Our dairy department has won many outstanding awards since Bob started working for us. It has been consistently rated the best overall dairy department in the Foodland chain. This was made possible through the hard work that Bob has put forth throughout his years as an employee.

Periodically Bob has to devote his time to the maintenance and upkeep of the freezers and coolers. They have to be stripped down, cleaned and defrosted regularly. The next time you shop the dairy and frozen food departments notice how clean and well arranged the coolers are. This is also a reflection of the fine job that Bob is doing.

Bob and his wife Leota, a former emoloyee, reside at Crellin, Box 13. They have one son and spend much of their spare time raising chickens and maintaining a garden.

Ten Are Killed On State Highways

Ten persons were killed on Maryland Highways last week, according to Sgt. James Harvey of the State Police. Five of the ten persons killed were drivers, three were passengers, and two were pedestrians. At least three of the deaths could possibly have been prevented had seatbelts been in use.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in two of the deaths, speed in seven, and "driver error" in eight.

Persons killed through February 25 totaled 127 compared to 118 for the previous year.

Down Monroe Run

"On wildlands, no motorized vehicles are allowed." Thank Providence, then, for some men's minds, which like Tennyson's, have dipped into the future, and are attempting to keep one area for walkers and lookers who also can think, if you would believe it, in this atmosphere of only a falling leaf for noise, or some music of the water racing in its runoff to its big brothers, Big Run and the Savage River.

Monroe Run does not overwhelm you with Appalachian beauty as you hit off down the trail; it approaches the trail in little boy fashion, off to the right and very far removed from vision, unless you get over the edge and peer hard between the undergrowth. Then you find its light stream, laughing east between hard, Garrett rocks to get to the lower widening level, making its own fanning shape over the small rocks to meet another tumbling creek.

Meanwhile, as you walk, it is not easy to disregard the mossy sides of the trail and that alluring arbutus, carefully hiding away until its palest colors and perfumes can emerge in the earliest mountain visitor in spring.

Abandoned timberings, said to be a stone quarry from the 30's reminds us of busier days when these valleys echoed with many human voices of those who mined or felled trees in a new region before settlement. An old settler who was a contemporary of the local pioneer, Amos Broadwater, was a gentleman named Solomon Monroe. His farm was near the junction of Big Run and Savage River, and I suspect that he gave his name to this run. Later he sold his farm to Michael Wilt and then it belonged to Eliza Wilt until lumber interests bought it.

We know that the Maryland Geological Survey of 1902 had listed a sample plot of predominate chestnut and sugar maple forest on Monroe Run. It was considered a representative of the best hardwood growth of the county, with averages of 22 chestnut and 12 sugar maples per acre. This contrasts highly with the natural cover after the blight and forces of man had intervened.

White pine timber was cut first near here in the later 1800's by the Lochiel Lumber Co. Later, the N. U. Bond Company established the community of Bondtown, with about 35 to 40 houses for working men's families, while hardwood logs upon logs were cut and sent out on a spur line built in 1910 by the B and O Railroad especially to haul them between Monroe Run and Big Run, getting the timber into the lumber yard at the mouth of Savage River. Bondtown had actually become a railroad station, with its own post office. By 1932, 200 young men under the C. C. C. were in a camp at Bond, amid keen air and slashed forests where they doubtless learned firsthand of natural ways of living. Gradually they cleared, replanted, and built some of the cabins and the spacious Pavilion now seen near the eastern end of Monroe Run.

Just before the junction of Big Run with our trail occurs, one shaded clump of vegetation reveals a mountain surprise, for a maidenhair fern falls in graceful fans, thrilling the highland hiker. The good thin coolness has pervaded the day, evaporating time.

A writer on wildlands and conservation, Bruce M. Kilgore, accuses men of tearing up "the last remnants of habitat, much as a no'er-do-well spends his

LOCAL NAB JOB DEVELOPER APPOINTED—Jack O. Sermonette By Area Ministers

Give Us Peace, Lord!

"Peace I leave with you, my own peace I give you. I do not give it to you as the world does." John 14:27

"And God's peace, which is far beyond human understanding, will keep your hearts and minds safe in Christ Jesus." Philippians 4:7

Notice the parallel between the words of Jesus and those of Paul. One faced crucifixion, the other was in prison waiting for a fatal verdict. Each had endured persecution from those he sought to help. Both were rewarded with ingratitude, misunderstanding and hatred. And yet, both speak of a peace which the world cannot take away.

Remember, too, that these men were not addressing people who lived on "easy street" but who were suffering all of the tragedies of this earthly life.

And, the offer which they made still stands. When any person gives himself to Jesus Christ, when he surrenders his selfish nature, there comes from God a peace which is truly "out of this world."

The quest for peace is a major preoccupation of humanity in our time. For many it means relief from violence which is now equipped with all the destructive power of nature. Such peace must be sought at all costs for violence must be reduced to a minimum in human affairs.

But, when violence is eliminated, life is still strife, strife minus violence. Man is deluded when he looks for some Utopia which is free from struggle and tension. There is no way to separate case from struggle, joy from pain, security from change, life from death. Worldly peace is good, but change, decay and death warn us that it is not our final and permanent hope.

The word peace has a variety of meanings. What the world means by peace and what the New Testament means are two different things. For the world, peace means deliverance from tragedy; while "God's peace" is the result of deliverance from self. Worldly peace is man-made; religious peace is the gift of God. They are not identical, nor is one supposed to take the place of the other.

Peace, whether it is personal or world, is linked to selfinterest which naturally leads to strife. God created each of us with a will of his own. This naturally brings us into conflict with others who are equally concerned for themselves.

Peace requires a continual process of reconciliation by which differences of will, frictions and resentments are overcome. Jesus Christ is the means of that reconciliation and the source of all true peace. "For he (Christ Jesus) is our peace, who has made us both one, and has broken down the dividing wall of hostility." "And he came and preached peace to you who were far off and peace to those who were near." Eph. 3:14. 17 This is the Christian message of peace for a disillusioned world.

As Paul wrote to the Corinthians, our God is "the God of love and peace." Men and nations will find peace only to the extent in which they have faith in him. This faith has been rightly called "trust-in-obedience." Trust in God and obedience to his will are the conditions of the blessing of peace. It begins with individuals before it is enjoyed by nations. It must begin with you and me.

GIVE US PEACE, LORD! BEGIN WITH ME.

Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information typical of the kind asked of me tion or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked me:

I enrolled in Medicare a while back and would like to know if there is a deadline to sign up for medical insurance?

Eligible persons 65 or over can enroll in the medical insurance program during any general enrollment period the first part of each year. Remember though, that higher premiums result with each year of delay.

What is the status of the police protection bill you sent to Congress last year?

This February I announced my intention to again co-sponsor this measure and it was reintroduced in the House earlier this week. The legislation, which would recognize and protect the civil rights of police officers, was not acted upon during the 92nd Congress despite the support of 100 congressmen and a host of law enforcement organizations.

Do you need tickets to observe the House and Senate when they are in session?

Yes. Special passes for both the House and Senate Galleries are required and may be picked up at my office when you visit the Capitol.

My husband and I are thinking about placing my mother in a nursing home and wonder if you might suggest a good one?

Basic information for the consumer in search of a nursing home is now available in "Nursing Home Care" published by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW). The booklet describes the kinds of care and services found in good nursing homes and has an item-by-item checklist for use in judging and selecting these facilities. The booklet can be ordered from Consumer Product Information, Public Documents Distribution Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Where can I obtain the detailed map of the planet Mars I recently read about?

The first detailed map of the entire surface of Mars can be obtained for 75 cents from the U. S. Geological Survey's Distribution Section in Arlington, Virginia. The shaded relief map measures 36x39 inches and is based upon "mosaics" of thousands of photographs of the planet returned by Mariner 9 spacecraft during its 1971-72 photographic mission.

Capitol Comment

By Charles McC Mathias

Washington's Warning Still Applies

Each year, the Senate marks George Washington's birthday by having one senator read the text of Washington's Farewell Address, on the floor of the Senate. This year, I had that honor and for the better part of an hour, I spoke once again the words that Washington delivered in 1976. A few sections of the speech are outdated, but it is surprising just how much of it has direct relevance to what we are doing right now.

This Farewell Address starts with Washington's announcement that he will not serve a third term as President. Having said that, with no political axe to grind, he proceeded to sum up his thoughts on the dangers which faced our young nation. With no future in politics, he was able to "tell it like it is," and much of what he said is still to the point.

One important warning contained in the Farewell Address was that the limitations of the Constitution must be preserved. Washington said that those in government should be inspired to "confine themselves within their respective constitutional spheres" so that powers of one department do not encroach upon another. Those of us concerned with reinvigorating the Congress can take this for our slogan.

This does not mean that the Congress should rule the governmental roost any more than the other branches. Washington himself put it very well . . . he said, "let there be no change by usurpation, for though, this in one instance may be the instrument of good, it is the customary weapon by which free governments are destroyed." I think the history of the twentieth century is all the proof we need of Washington's insight.

Today, the Federal Government has, by its sheer size and complexity, threatened to demolish the constitutional mood. The solution to many of our problems could be to go back to the basics.

Congress is in danger of becoming a second class branch of government because it has not done the job required by the Constitution.

Senator Adlai Stevenson, III and I have now submitted four measures for congressional reform and more are on the way. I have also given my backing to half a dozen proposals by other senators.

The most recent effort by Senator Stevenson and myself is a Senate Resolution to open up committee business to the public. This is important because it tells the nation what we are doing instead of saying, in effect, "we'll meet behind closed doors and tell you later what we did." If Congress is to survive as the government's closest link with the public, then we must be more open . . . open for inspection and even open to criticism. When Congress acts, it must be able to say it has the support of the people. When we have brought our deliberations out from behind closed doors, open to criticism and correction at every step of the way, then we can say that with confidence, I think George Washington saw this as the way our nation should conduct its business, and I think it is just as good an idea now as it was in his day.

Both Washington's Farewell Address and the Constitution he staunchly supported are imbued with the philosophy the spirit and the style of the eighteenth century. But both of them are not only relevant today, but so meaningful that we ignore them at our own peril.

Should Apply For Togs If No Applications Received

Motor vehicle owners who have not yet received their tag applications should contact the Motor Vehicle administration immediately, giving present tag number, title and serial number of their vehicle, their full name and present address.

This information is necessary, according to Ejner J. Johnson, motor vehicle administrator, to enable the computer-printer to print their correct applications.

Mr. Johnson also reminded residents that 1973 validation stickers for passenger cars and motorcycles went on sale February 13. Motorists were also reminded about the compulsory insurance law which became effective January 1. Validation stickers must be attached by March 31.

There will be a one-time only additional fee of $1.50 for every vehicle registered in Maryland during the 1973 registration year. Passenger car fees for this year will be $21.50 for vehicles with a gross weight of 3,700 pounds or less and $31.50 for vehicles over 3,700 pounds. The additional fee is required by law and provides Maryland citizens with financial protection against uninsured motorists.

Mercury Monterey 4-Door. With steel-belted radial tires standard. Yet within $77* to $190* of the "low-priced three!"

Your 1973 Mercury: built better to ride better. And part of the great ride story is due to the steel-belted radials—most technically advanced passenger car tires made. Included as standard equipment in Mercury's base sticker price, and no other medium-price car can make that statement. Yet the same low sticker price is within $77* to $190* of some "low-priced three" models. The smooth, comfortable ride is what Mercurys are all about—for about $100 more than ordinary cars with ordinary tires. Remember—tests show the average driver can expect 40,000 miles of tread wear from radials under normal driving conditions. That's unusual value right there!

Three Injured In Recent Accidents

There was only one slight injury in five highway accidents last week, but vehicle damage varied. During the previous week one person had been hospitalized and another was slightly injured. One car was called a total loss.

Steven R. Turner, Bayard, W. Va., a passenger in the car of Diana J. Corbin of the Table Rock area, was slightly injured in a one-car accident about 3 a. m., February 19. Diana Corbin was traveling on U. S. Route 50 about a mile east of Red House. When negotiating a left turn the car went off the right side of the road, struck an embankment, crossed to the left side of the road, went over an embankment and through a fence. Trooper Ronald C. Georg charged Diana Corbin with negligent or reckless driving. The car sustained disabling damage.

The small truck of Michael V. Ruppenthal was parked in front of his residence on D Street in Mountain Lake Park the afternoon of February 19. During this time the truck was struck by another vehicle which failed to stop. The owner was not present at the time of the accident. Tfc. Ronald S. Lewis investigated the accident.

Melvin R. Curry, Gorman, was traveling north in a pick-up on the Steyer-Gorman road near Gorman last Thursday morning. Curry noticed an oncoming dump truck on the left side of the road driven by Elmer B. Moreland, RD 1, Gormanla (Md.). Moreland applied his brakes on noticing the pick-up, skidded sideways and hit it. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater charged Moreland with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

John D. Krueger, Deer Park, was rounding a curve on the Deer Park Hotel road just east of State Route 135 about 1:40 p. m. last Friday. His Jeep started to slide on a snowy patch on the road, ran off the right side of the road and struck a utility pole. No damage was done to the pole but the jeep sustained disabling damage. Tfc. Robert E. Friend made no charges.

Willard R. Reckart, Crellin, was rounding a right curve on U. S. Route 219 just north of Lake Shore Drive in his pulpwood truck last Tuesday morning. At this time a chain broke which secures a steel pulpwood pilot to the truck bed. The pilot slipped off the left side and into the path of a car driven by Patty Elaine McCrobie, Friendsville. Her car sustained disabling damage. The chain seemed to have been improperly fastened. No charges were made by Trooper Georg.

Previous Week's Wrecks

Clifford O. Reall, 49, Gorman, was a patient five days at Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a one-car accident about 8:30 p. m. February 9, on U. S. Route 219 at Ben DeWitt road. He was traveling south and failed to negotiate a left turn, ran off the road, struck a ditch and came to rest against an embankment. Trooper David A. Miller charged him on two counts, failing to reduce speed under existing conditions and using tags issued to another vehicle. His car was called a total loss.

John G. Ward, 29, Inwood, W. Va., was slightly injured when his rig jackknifed on U. S. Rt. 40 just west of Amish road about 2 o'clock the morning of February 9. He was going down grade when the trailer began to slide on the snowy road surface. He shifted the tractor to a lower gear causing the tractor wheels to skid and jackknife. The rig sustained disabling damage. Trooper Georg made no charges.

The car of Myra J. Stewart, Bowling Green, was parked on the right shoulder of U. S. Route 40 near the Green Lantern road about 5:30 p. m. February 17, Sylvan E. Wiland, Lonaconing, traveling west, lost control of his car, hit the rear of the Stewart car and fled the scene. Charges are pending according to Tfc. Carl D. Skidmore.

Myrel J. Rochm, Star Route 2, Oakland, traveling north on the Sand Flat road, near the Spring Glade road, about 4 p. m. February 14, lost control of his car on the icy road, started to slide, ran off the right shoulder, came back across the road and struck an embankment on the left side of the road. No charges were made by Tfc. Ronald S. Lewis.

Edward E. Robitaille, Wheaton, traveling north on Route 219 was entering the Deep Creek Lake bridge about 9 a. m. February 8. At the same time, Hershel E. Junkins, Keyser, W. Va., in a heavy truck, was headed south on the bridge in the center of the roadway and hit the Robitaille car as it entered the bridge. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater charged Junkins with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Leona M. Butler, Grantsville, was traveling west on U. S. Rt. 40 near the Shady Hollow road the afternoon of February 14 when her car skidded on the icy road while rounding a right turn and struck some guard rails. Trooper Georg made no charges.

William G. Duling, Jr., Liberty Street, Oakland, was going south on U. S. Route 219 near the Blue Ribbon road about 6 p. m., February 14. Duting saw a vehicle out of control and starting to skid on the icy road in the lane ahead of him. He swerved to the right and went into a large ditch. Trooper Miller made no charges.

Samuel E. Vought, Salisbury, Pa., was traveling west on Route 40 about a quarter mile east of Lower New Germany road about 7 p. m., February 14. As he was rounding a right turn, he ran off the snowy-surface road and struck a tree. Trooper Miller charged him on two counts, reckless or negligent driving and driving while license is suspended or revoked.

Jerry L. Humberson, Friendsville, was traveling east on the Accident-Bear Creek road about 9 a. m. February 16. James V. Walker, Sr., Frostburg, going west, applied his brakes to reduce speed, slid on the snowy and ice-covered road and hit the Humberson car. Humberson was charged with operating an unsafe vehicle (equipment) by Tfc. Daniel E. Tharp and Walker was charged with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

The cars of Robert V. McKenzie, Lonaconing and George A. Murphy, Meyersdale, Pa., were properly parked along Route 40 in Grantsville the morning of February 9. Richard T. Householder, Westernport, traveling west, fell asleep and collided with the McKenzie car, forcing it into the Murphy car. Cpl. Stephen M. Bolden Measure Would Outlaw Jacklight Hunting

A bill (HB 1232) which would make illegal the artificial illumination of birds and animals while hunting has been introduced in the current session of the Maryland General Assembly by Delegate DeCorsey Bolden (R-Garrett Co.).

The Bolden bill would amend the current law so that it would be unlawful to "search out and illuminate any wild quadruped or wild bird" while in possession of a weapon or trap.

The only exceptions to the present law and the Bolden amendment are recoons, opossums which may be hunted at nighttime by use of lights during the lawful open season.

HB 1232 specifically allows state and federally approved studies and permits live stock owners to search for domestic animals that may have strayed or escaped.

Delegate Bolden said, "We must do everything we can to protect our remaining wildlife."

Seat Belt Bill Dies After Legal Hassle

A bill requiring use of safety belts by drivers and front seat passengers apparently died in the Senate Friday, March 2.

The bill was deadlocked by legal hassling by lawyer members, debating what failure to use seat belts would mean to law suits involving negligence in auto accidents.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. Margaret C. Schweinhaut, Dem., Montgomery, had received a favorable 19-16 vote, but the count was three votes short of the margin needed to send it to the House of Delegates.

Previously, Sen. William A. Wilson (R., Allegany and Garrett counties) and Rep. William B. Byrnes (R., Allegany) had voiced opposition to mandatory features of the bill.

Garrett County Republican Delegate DeCorsey Bolden was also on record as against the bill, feeling that "This bill represents an infringement on the freedom of the people." He said he definitely would have cast a negative vote if the bill arrived in the House.

Sen. Wilson, who was one of two members of the Senate Judicial Proceedings committee who voted against the bill, also felt that the bill was a violation of an individual's personal rights and his freedom of choice.

Mrs. Schweinhaut had challenged lawyer members to propose language to overcome their legal reservations before the bill was reconsidered Tuesday.

Marijuana Smoking Detected At Jail

Personnel at the sheriff's office noticed an odor of burning marijuana at the jail Monday night, but an intensive search produced no traces of the drug.

The hunt produced a hunting pin, a knife, a mop handle and other items, and a later search turned up a piece of pipe and some iron from one of the beds.

Sheriff Jack Browning indicated that the inmates had almost certainly obtained the drug from an outside source, probably the wife of one of the men. She could have put the drug in a blanket rope lowered through a broken window by the prisoners.

Browning noted that security precautions have been intensified.

Southern held the upper hand through three periods of the semi-final, before Frederick rallied in the third period to knot the contest. Southern enjoyed two five point leads in the first period, and was paced in scoring by Paul Lewis who had 10 points in the first half.

The Rams continued to hold a slight lead through the early going in the second quarter, only to see Frederick take a three point lead with 2:48 remaining in the half. Randy DiSimone and Denny Skeweris combined to put the Rams on top 31 to 30, at halftime. The third period saw the teams match field goals with the score knotted at 40 to 40.

The lead exchanged hands 3 times in the final period before Whiting scored his first points on a followup bucket with 2:38 left. After Floyd Brown put the Cadets on top with a foul shot Whiting again tipped in a missed shot and the Cadets took a three point lead at 54-51. Paul Lewis pulled Southern within one with a bucket with 38 seconds left and Al Cvetnick pulled a stolen steal with 23 seconds left to give the Rams a new lease on the ball game. DiSimone missed a shot with ten seconds left and Whiting was fouled after grabbing the rebound. With four seconds remaining Whiting dropped in two foul shots to ice the victory.

Dave Gray paced Frederick with 18 points while Mahone had 12 and Green ten before fouling out.

Ex-Editor's Case Set March 19th

John Martin, 58, former editor of The Guardian, a weekly newspaper published at Frostburg, will be given a hearing in Allegany county circuit court on March 19, at 1:15 p. m.

Martin was indicted December 11 by a special session of the grand jury for assault and assault with intent to kill his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Martin, and Gerhardt Theile, a printer at the newspaper. On December 13 he was arraigned in court and entered a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity.

Judge Harold E. Naughton ordered him committed to Clifton T. Perkins state hospital for a mental evaluation. The court has received a report from the hospital on the evaluation and the hospital staff was unanimous that Martin was insane at the time of the alleged crimes.

At the March 19 hearing Martin may be ordered recommitted to the hospital for treatment as provided under state law, according to State's Attorney Donald W. Mason.

Ten Injured In Four Wrecks With Two Hospitalized

Ten persons were injured in four motor vehicle accidents last week and through the weekend in various parts of the county. Two were in satisfactory condition in Garrett County Memorial Hospital Monday. Three were treated and released from the hospital and 5 refused treatment.

Vernon C. Friend, 77, Mt. Lake Park, was in satisfactory condition in the hospital Monday following an accident Saturday about 6 p. m. on U. S. Route 219 near Glendale road. Junior L. Sirbaugh, 11, also of Mt. Lake Park, one of two passengers in the car was treated and released from the hospital. Mr. Friend was traveling north on Route 219 and overtaking another northbound vehicle. Friend then noted a southbound vehicle, cut hard to right to avoid it, lost control of his vehicle, struck an embankment and came to rest. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater charged him with passing when unsafe to do so.

Rose Marie Mullenax, 28, Horse Shoe Run, W. Va., driver of one car, was in satisfactory condition Monday at Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a three-car accident last Friday about 7 p. m. at Gortner. Raymond E. Jones, 28, driver of a pickup, and his passenger, Donna Sue Jones, both of Gorman, were both treated and released from the hospital. Lavern K. Casteel, Mt. Lake Park, driver of the other car, was not injured.

Casteel was driving south on U. S. Route 219. Rose Mullenax traveling south failed to keep to the right side of the road, struck the Casteel car in the left side, continued on and struck the front of the Jones pickup traveling north. Tfc. Broadwater charged Rose Mullenax with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Three persons refused treatment of injuries following an accident on U. S. Route 219 just north of Oakland about 7 p. m. February 26. Austin M. Umbel, Friendsville driver of one car and Allen H. Butler, Jr. Terra Alta, operator of a pickup and his passenger, Ethel J. Hardesty, Oakland, were only apparently slightly injured. Umbel, driving south, came up behind the Butler truck which was moving at a slow pace. Umbel was unable to slow down in time to avoid hitting the Butler truck in the rear. Tfc. Ronald S. Lewis charged Umbel with failing to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

Both drivers in the two-car mishap were slightly injured while driving west on U. S. Route 40 about a half mile west of Piney Run road just before midnight last Friday. Raymond C. Mannick, Jr., and William D. McLuckie, both of Frostburg declined treatment at the scene of the accident. Mannick lost control of his car, crossed the center of the road striking the McLuckie car on the left front and coming to rest on the westbound shoulder. McLuckie then turned completely around coming to rest on the eastbound shoulder. Mannick was charged on two counts by Trooper Dale Williams, failing to keep to the right side of the road and reckless or negligent driving.

In four other mishaps there were no apparent injuries.

As Virginia P. Beckman, Aurora, W. Va., was making a right turn from Old 219 to go east on State Route 135 last Tuesday morning, her car skidded on the snowcovered road, crossed the center of the road and hit the car of Linda D. King, Friendsville. Trooper Ronald C. Georg charged Virginia Beckman with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Herbert R. Ashby, Bradley Manor, Oakland, stated he was parked in a private drive just off the Crellin road about 8 p. m. last Wednesday when Doris Jane Ashby, Star Route 2, Oakland, struck his car in the rear. Doris Ashby stated Herbert Ashby backed into her. Doris Ashby then left the scene. Warrants were obtained by Herbert Ashby for reckless driving and leaving the scene of the accident against Doris Ashby. Tfc Robert E. Foard investigated.

Anna Jane Upole, Terra Alta, W. Va., was traveling east on the Crellin road near the Old Crellin road about 5 p. m. last Friday. She lost control of the vehicle, which went off the right side of the road, struck an embankment, turned over and struck a parked vehicle of Doyle Moats, Oakland. Both cars sustained disabling damage. Tfc Broadwater charged Anna Upole with operating without a license and reckless driving.

Martin J. Mood, Adelphi, was traveling west on State Route 135 near Chestnut Grove road just past midnight Sunday morning. He stated he was in the process of making a left turn into an unnamed road. But because of the extreme fog, he misjudged the road and went down over an embankment and struck a truck sign. Trooper Williams made no charges.

DENNIS MEYERS

This week we would like to introduce Dennis Meyers, the assistant manager of our produce operation. He has four years' experience and is the backbone of the production line in this department. His chief duties include the preparation and merchandising of produce.

Dennis has been trained in all phases of produce management and takes over when the present manager is absent. Every week he receives most of our produce and it is his duty to check all merchandise, making sure that you receive the freshest produce available. Many times it is his job to reject products which do not meet our quality standards.

Each week he assists in the inventory and weekly reports of his department. Also periodically he must help with the maintenance and sanitizing of the produce display coolers.

Recently, when we opened our third supermarket in Elkins, W. Va., Dennis spent one week helping to get the produce department off to a good start in that location. The people in that location admired the professional appearance of the new produce operation in Elkins and much of the credit was due to the hard work and efforts that Dennis put forth.

All of the employees at our store enjoy working with Dennis because he is always jovial and has a great sense of humor. He is the pitcher on our company softball team and a regular on the bowling team. He enjoys sports of all sorts and goes snowmobiling when the opportunity arises.

He is married to the former Barbara Glotfelty, also an employee of Foodland, and they reside on Route 1, Oakland, with their two daughters, Kelly and Becky.

There was an obvious error in the caption under the Heart Fund Scotch double winner picture appearing last week on page 15.

Deadline Nears For Grain-Wheat Sign-up

March 16 is the final date for enrolling in the 1973 Feed Grain and Wheat Programs, J. Walter Margroff, Chairman, Garrett County ASC Committee, announced today. Any farmer having a feed grain base or wheat allotment is eligible to participate.

Several changes have been made in the programs since the original announcement. The changes were made to achieve greater production of feed grains and wheat, he said.

A producer with a feed grain base now has two options; he can set-aside 25 percent of his feed grain base or elect to set-aside no land at all. Wheat growers can also participate without setting aside land. But all must maintain their normal acreage of conserving crops.

There are rather liberal provisions for adjusting conserving bases downward, in cases where production of depleting crops has been increased. Requests for adjustment of conserving bases may be made until the end of the sign-up period.

Interested producers should contact the ASCS office.

SAT Results Are In

The Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) results were received at the guidance office this week and are available to the seniors who took the test.

Seniors who took the American College Test (ACT) have already received their results.

Rams Basketball Team Ends Winning Season

The Southern Rams' basketball team concluded their regular season last week with a record of eleven wins and nine losses. Last week the Ram quintet beat their last two opponents, the Bruce Bulldogs and the Union Tigers.

Finishing their high school careers are three seniors. Jim Bosley, Paul Lewis, and Alan Cvetnick. Lewis finished in fine fashion by leading the team in total points and in foul shooting percentage. Bosley led the team in assists, which is an important department and field goal percentage.

When the reporter talked to Coach Tom Kuhn about his thoughts on the team and its season he commented, "I am happy we had a winning season, but it should have been better. We should have won more games like Parsons which we lost by one, and Brall, Mountaineer, and Bishop Walsh which we lost by four. In these games we lost, we should have had more hustle and the fellows playing as a team."

Also ending their season was the Junior Varsity Rams. They wound up their season with a record of six wins, eleven losses.

They had a great finish to their season by placing second in the PVC tournament. They lost to Keyser in the championship game. Dave Shotwell and Stan Skiles were picked for the all-tournament team.

Luncheon Is Held To Share Honors With Citizens And Plant Officials

Several local citizens attended a luncheon meeting Monday at Red Run lodge, given by Bausch and Lomb Lens Manufacturing company, to share in the recognition the plant received recently when Governor Marvin Mandel presented a certificate to Pat Fischetti, plant manager, from the Maryland Economic and Community Development Advisory Commission.

The certificate was for the firm's pioneering effort in locating the multi-million dollar industry in this county, providing an "unprecedented economic stimulus to the region as well as for its continuous contributions to the county's civic and cultural projects and activities."

Plant officials said they wanted to share this recognition with people of the community who assisted company officials in reaching the decision to locate here.

Both Mr. Fischetti, local plant manager, and Ed Close, from the company's Rochester, New York office, paid tribute to those present for their assistance in the project. The plant anticipates increasing employment by 60 in the near future, making a total of 350 persons to be employed. This will increase the impact on the economy by some $1,900,000 per year. Officials also pointed out the company still had in mind its expansion program with plans on the drawing board.

Among those attending the luncheon were Earl Opel, Wayne Hamilton, Bernard Guy county commissioners, Allen S Pangh former commissioner; Keith Allen of the Monongahela Power company, Bill Nace, of the Soil Conservation Service; Bob Sincell, Republican office; Bob Rudy, Chamber of Commerce; Maurice Brookhart and Courtney Tusing, bank officials; Charles L. Briner, State Employment Ageney; Lloyd Thompson, public relations for Bausch and Lomb. Mr. Fischetti and Mr. Close. Officials also paid tribute to the efforts of Col. J Haig Jackson, executive director of the Economic Development corporation, who was not present for the luncheon, being on vacation.

Byron Co-Sponsors Anti-Pollution Measure

Rep. Goodloe Byron joined with Rep. Lawrence Williams (R-Pa.) in introducing a bi-partisan anti-pollution measure in the House.

Specifically, the proposed bill would give businesses a tax incentive to promote the construction of power-producing facilities which would use waste products to generate their power.

Byron said such facilities would help to conserve dwindling supplies of natural gas and oil and would also help to reduce the pollution of the environment caused by commercial and domestic refuse.

He noted that an experimental incinerator in Sweden is successfully using waste products to generate electrical power for 25,000 people.

"In view of all the talk about an energy crisis this method would seem a constructive alternative in conserving our natural energy resources," Byron said.

Introduces Bill

Delegate DeCorsey Bolden has introduced a measure in the House of Delegates concerning advertising for bids. It would amend section 7-7 (e) of the Garrett County code requiring that the County Commissioners advertise for bids prior to purchasing road building equipment.

Care Labels for Home Sewing Projects

Finally, help for the home sewers has been provided by the Federal Trade Commission's regulation on Care Labeling. This means that when making yardage selections, a permanent fabric care label for each fabric and for as many garments as you expect to sew should be included.

Stitch the Care label into completed clothing and you have a built-in laundering guide. Also choose thread, trims, linings, etc. that conform to the same care as the fabric itself, announced Freda S. Denison, Ext. Agent, Home Economics.

6,500,000 Trees Distributed By Forest Service

Maryland's Forest Service distributed 6,500,000 trees for reforestation during 1972.

The major species produced and distributed by the state's Buckingham Forest Tree Nursery were loblolly pine, white pine, red pine, scotch pine and the spruces.

In the 1972 annual activities report of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, the Forest Service also reported that three thousand roadside trees were distributed to municipalities and public agencies, for planting on public rights of way. A continuous production of aproximately 3,000 to 4,000 trees is planned.

The Forest Service is an agency of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources and is described by its director, Adna R. Bond, as being responsible for forest improvement, fire prevention and control, management on privately owned forestlands, including advisory service, roadside tree protection, and administration of the "tree expert law."

While timber sales, forest and wildlife habitat improvements, tree planting and other basic resource protection activities are conducted in all State forests, the service also participated in three important recreational activities.

They are (1) the establishment of Big Savage Trail, a 16-mile trail on top of Big Savage Mountain in the Savage River State Forest. It provides a variety of scenic, geologic, and other attractions and will eventually become a section of the Potomac Heritage Trail;

(2) White Water Kanoe-Kayak Races on Savage River, below the dam. Olympic Trials are held here with cooperation of the dam people, the Forest Service and the Tri-towns Chamber of Commerce;

(3) Opening of Snowmobile trails on Savage River, Potomac State Forest and Swallow Falls.

TIME and TIDE

Curious, isn't it, how people look at life so differently? To some there is an irresistible desire to cope with the tides of life by escaping from dullness to new lands and faces. To others the answer seems to lie in the foaming breakers, with the sinister desire to end existence completely. And yet to others the waves of life speak of plan and order and a sureness and perfection in creation.

And so it is with time! One person begrudges every second as a relentless march toward the end of life. Another sees the sands of time as a slow and painful journey. And to still another, it is the golden passing of each day ordered and well-planned.

What shapes these different viewpoints? The Christian sees, in the certainty of seconds and the regularity of tides, a revelation of the order and beauty that God perfects in His works.

Every man needs God and His Church to give his life its noblest point of view.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE ACCOUNTING

Lesson for March 11, 1973

Background Scripture: Genesis 1:27-30; 4:1-9; Matthew 25:31-46, Acts 17: 30, 31; Romans 14:10-12
Devotional Reading, Deuteronomy 11: 10-12, 26-28.

One day this past week I sat in the cafeteria of a local high school, talking with a young teacher whose class I had just addressed. She was depressed because she felt that no matter where she looked there was human suffering and misery. At last, she gave voice to that ancient question: "Why does God allow us to make such a mess of things?"

Rev. Althouse

I tried to explain that evil is often the price we pay for our human, God-given freedom. God is often like a parent: if a mother or father see their child doing the right thing, they get a greater pleasure and satisfaction if the child really had the opportunity to choose to do so. If the parent realizes that the son or daughter did the right thing because there was no opportunity to do something else, there is little satisfaction.

Free to choose

So it is with God: he gives us the freedom to choose good or evil because it is in our right choices that he is most gratified as our Creator. God wants us to do the right thing, but he does not compel us to do so. I tried to communicate to the school teacher that, although that freedom may be frightening at times, it is also part of the glory of being human. I am glad to be free to make my choices, even though it puts far more responsibility upon me.

The Christian understanding of the nature of man has always been founded upon the understanding that man is free to choose between good and evil. We are placed in this world with tremendous privileges: created "in the image of God," blessed by God, intended to be fruitful and multiply, to fill the world and subdue it and have dominion over the earth. As God describes man's rich heritage in Genesis 1, the world is man's to enjoy as a great blessing.

Obligated to answer

Yet, there is another side to man's situation: not only is he blessed, but he is to be a blessing to others. He is placed upon the earth, not only that he might enjoy his dominion, but also that he shall employ that dominion as a good steward for God. To be set in dominion over this earth is not only a privilege, but also a responsibility. (That's the way it is in God's creation: for every privilege there seems to be a matching responsibility.) Much is given to us, but much is also expected from us.

Thus, there will come a day when a man will be examined by God to determine how well he has fulfilled his responsibilities. This judgement will be rendered to all men. As Paul puts it: "For we shall all stand before the judgement seat of God" (Romans 14: 10). Each of us shall have to be judged on the basis of what we have done with what we have received. It is an accounting no one is spared.

EAR WAX IS THE "SNEAK THIEF OF SOUND"
Many hearing problems can be due to excessive ear wax. One way that ear wax can impair your hearing is as the hairs lining the ear canals grow coarser and stronger they might eventually form a barrier and prevent the wax from getting out. This, of course, will also diminish sounds trying to get in.
If you do suspect a hearing problem of any kind, the first step is to consult your physician to find out the cause. Should it turn out to be a build up of ear wax there are products he can suggest to remove existing wax, prevent build up, and help you practice good ear hygiene.

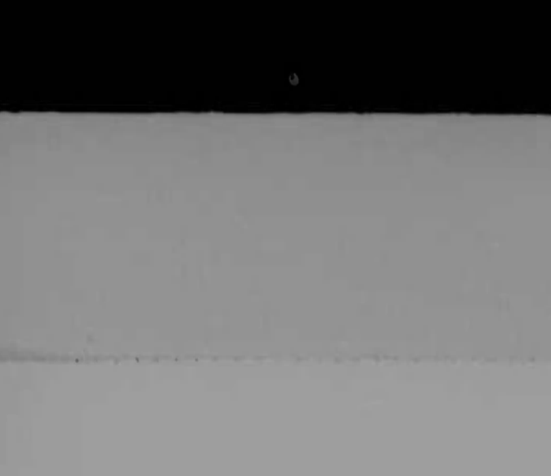
African Violets Are Hobby And Happiness For Oakland Woman



EVEN IN THE KITCHEN, plants are growing and blooming. Three violets in the foreground are surrounded by cactus, poinsettia, and the African violet "companion" known as lipstick vine.

By Carol Canan

Imagine stepping inside from six foot icicles, knee-deep snow and bone-brittling cold to the peace and beauty of room after room of blooming flowers.

That's what Mrs. Margaret Ranney of Oakland does every time she returns home from a trip in the wintertime.

Her home is a veritable garden, not of ordinary houseflowers, but of blooming African violets in all shapes, all types and all over the house.

Her special secrets include a potting mixture which includes no earth, a humidifier on the furnace, and fluorescent lighting over the plants.

A scientific, carefully-thought-out potting mixture is composed of set proportions of vermiculite, perlite, spaghnum moss, charcoal and lime.

Her main advice to would-be growers is not to water the plants too much—they love moisture in the air, but not wet feet.

Every day she goes over each plant to see if it needs anything, and removes dead blossoms. She recently obtained from Arizona some new plastic pots which hold the water in hollow sides and let the plant draw what it needs from the bottom. These pots add considerably to the health of the plants and eliminate part of the watering chore.

It doesn't cut down on the time needed to water the plants, however, with each one requiring a pint in the container and more than a hundred plants to take care of.

In between waterings, a fogger is brought into play, for the humidity its fine spray produces.

Saintpaulias, to use botanical name, have come a long way over the years, widening their color range from the usual purple to take in all shades. Mrs. Ranney's flowers range from glistening white through white shaded with rose, blue or green; purple, violet, blue, rose, pink, pinkish white, and all variations between.

The leaves also provide a showy display, from the usual ones through ruffled and crinkled multicolored leaves.

Some flowers are singles, some doubles, and some ruffled.

To ensure the plants getting all needed nutrients, Mrs. Ranney feeds every time she waters, using varying fertilizer preparations. She often uses a 20-20-20 fertilizer.

To keep away tiny insects which feed on and destroy tender violets, she uses a household preparation such as Raid, but notes that pesticide strips may also be used.

She obtained her original plants from nurseries, and traces her interest in flowers to the time she lived near Boston and maintained a greenhouse for her enjoyment and that of her late husband, who especially loved orchids.

THE LARGEST BLOOMS on any of Mrs. Ranney's African violets are found on this plant, which displays huge, white with pink bordered flowers. The pen in the foreground aids in giving an idea of the size of the flowers. This is one of Mrs. Ranney's most prized plants.

There she concentrated on orchids, although she confides that their stiff foliage was not pleasing to her individual taste. She likes violets because of their soft, symmetrical neatness, and the prolific blooming of healthy plants.

Her plants bloom year 'round. She periodically begins new plants from leaves and soon has them blooming as well.

Other interests in her life include her home, which is a testimonial to the love she feels for it. Her housework, sewing and knitting are done to background music from a collection of favorite albums played on the stereo. Aiding her in house care are Mr. and Mrs. Keith Stahl, of Red House, whose help and friendship she treasures.

For company, she has two watchdogs, Lee and She, of indeterminate breeding but keen hearing and loud voice. Mrs. Ranney also likes to feed and watch the birds which come to several feeders around the yard. She provides for them a diet of sunflower seeds, feeling that these attract the nicest birds.

Mrs. Ranney goes into growing these tender plants of hers very scientifically, subscribing to an African violet magazine and keeping up with newest ways to get better plants. She also has several textbooks to study. She says she prefers not to go into showing plants, fearing that a show may include some diseased plants which would infest all plants there.

Overflowing pots of flowers are not attractive to Mrs. Ranney, who keeps her plants all about the same size, and growing one per pot.

HER MOST TREASURED PLANTS are growing in her bedroom, where they grace a vanity table and are reflected in a mirror top.

All this may sound like a lot of trouble just for some flowers, but Mrs. Ranney truly loves and admires her plants. If and when scientists really determine that plants thrive on loving kindness, she will be able to say "I knew it all the time."

The largest share went to Montgomery county with $11,669,539.62. Baltimore county received $10,320,122.21.

School Board Ratifies Pact With Teachers

Approved Package Dependent Upon Full Funding By Agencies

The Board of Education, following considerable discussion for clarification and intent purposes, voted unanimously to ratify the agreement with the Garrett County Teachers' Association to be effective the 1973-74 school year. The approved package represents a total salary and fringe benefit package that would cost approximately $200,000 to fund. The improvements can only be given if the school board receives sufficient funding from State and local sources to support the budget. If the package cannot be totally funded, the school board's team will re-open negotiations with the Garrett County Teachers' Association prior to finalizing the budget in June.

According to Dr. William H. Buser, Superintendent of Schools, the agreement would establish a salary schedule for a Standard Professional Certificate that would start at $7,000 per year. After 30 years' successful experience teachers with these certificates could make a maximum of $10,680 per year. An additional feature in this year's agreement would provide a financial incentive from $300 to $900 for those people with credits and degrees beyond a Master's Degree. Under the proposal, the maximum salary a successful certificated teacher with a Doctor's Degree could earn per year would be $12,859 at the end of thirty years' experience. A teacher in neighboring Allegany County under their

Jurors Return 18 Indictments; Meet Two Days

Twelve Witnesses Testify; 15 Indictments Concern Drug Traffic

The March Term grand jurors completed their work on Tuesday afternoon after having been in session for two days and the results emphasized activity on the suppression of the drug traffic within the county.

The jurors returned eighteen indictments after examining twelve witnesses, and thirteen of them were related to drugs, the remaining five concerning rape.

Five indictments involved two rape cases, one against Jerry Woodrow Wavbright, Bradley Manor, which allegedly occurred with an 11-year old girl, in October.

Three men and one woman are involved in the second rape case. James Harvey, Jerry Riggleman, Kenneth Broadwater on rape, and Donna Broadwater indicted as being an accessory before the fact and aiding and abetting in rape.

Arrested and indicted on drug charges are John Liller, Arden Reeves and Robert Reeves.

Liller was indicted on two charges of distribution of marijuana, two charges of conspiring to violate the dangerous drug law, and three counts of possession.

Arden Reeves was indicted on five charges of distributing a controlled dangerous substance, five charges of possession and one charge of maintaining a common nuisance.

Robert Reeves was indicted on two counts of distribution, two of possession.

According to the state's attorney following adjournment of the grand jury five more were picked up, the names of three being available for publication. All are charged on one count of possession of a dangerous drug with intent to distribute. They are Leo Stottlemeyer, Paul DelSignore and William Sims.

Mrs. Eva Davis served as foreman of the grand jury while Mrs. Pauline E. Selby and Mrs. Kathern Stewart were named clerks and Arthur M. Savage was doorkeeper.

The jurors, in addition to investigating alleged infractions of the law, inspected the jail house, hospital, county roads garages, forestry camp and the court house and made various recommendations.

At the jail the committee recommended door locks needed replacing, replacing shield on steps and vestibule; repairing or replacing plumbing and fixtures, new light fixtures, paneling and insulation needed to save on heating in living room quarters. Paint woodwork outside, repair rain spouting and additional kitchen utensils needed. They felt the electric outlets were

Mild Winter Frees $100,000 For Other Roads Projects

The mildest winter in many years in Garrett County has resulted in snow removal costs approximately $100,000 less than in "normal" winters, according to Paul DeWitt, administrative engineer for the county roads department.

Lower overtime, vehicle operating and road supplies costs helped to free money for other roadwork projects.

According to Mr. DeWitt, "The roads department has been able to spend a good bit toward other purposes more constructive than snow removal," including such necessary jobs as brush cutting, living stone patching and ditching.

Much of this type of work has been carried on five days a week throughout the winter, due to un-mountaintop-like weather.

Under use on the roads remained about the same as last year, as several sleet storms iced the roads and caused hazardous driving conditions. About

Picketing Closes Processing Plant

The Sterling Processing Company's poultry preparation plant just west of Oakland has had no production since Monday due to a strike of approximately 200 employes.

The contract was being negotiated over several weeks but expired early in March. According to Gilman Sylvester, manager of the local plant, there is an impasse over wages. A union member stated the union workers were wanting a 25 cent an hour increase for the next two years.

The workers are represented by the Amalgamated Meatcutters and Butchers union, of Pittsburgh, local No. 124, and also by the teamsters union of Cumberland.

A picket line was formed by union members which closed the plant until a settlement is reached. Sheriff Jack Browning reported that picketing had been peaceful. The plant comes under his jurisdiction since the plant is located outside the Oakland city limits.

Mr. Sylvester said another meeting was scheduled with the union and a federal mediator on Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

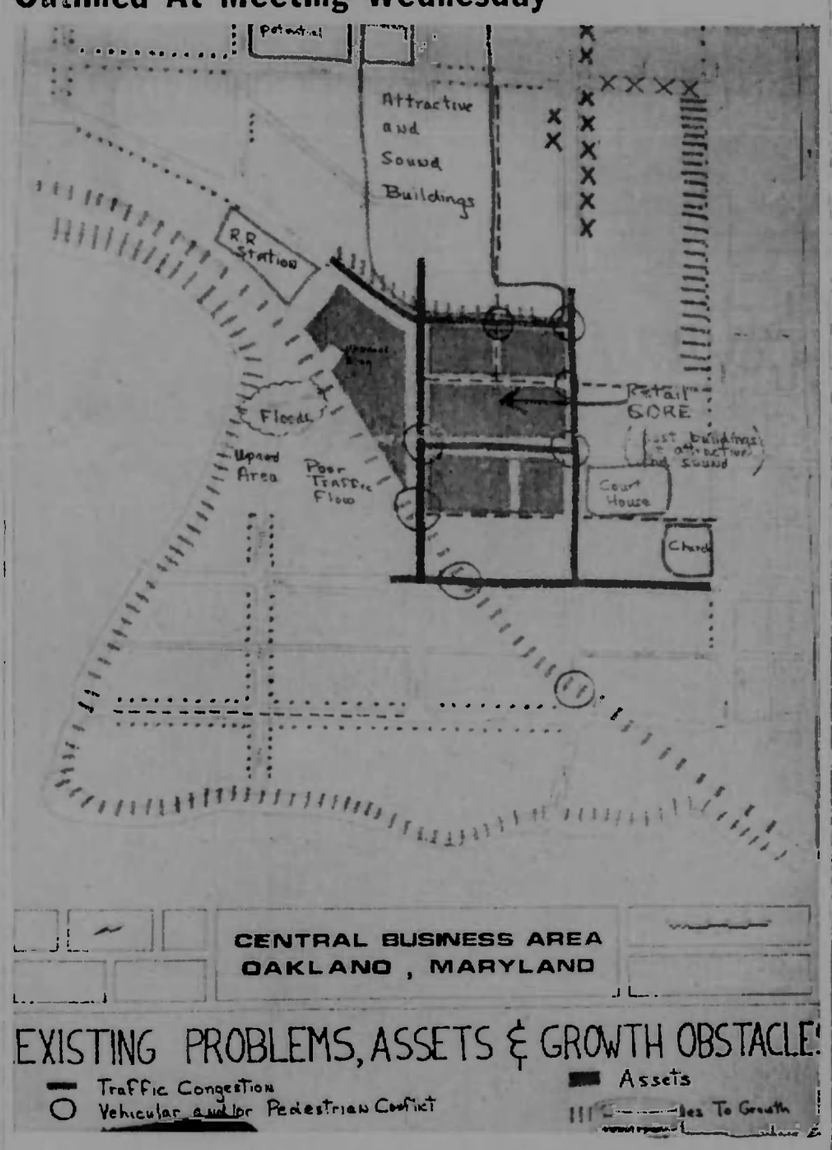
Blueprint For Oakland Betterment Outlined At Meeting Wednesday



Existing problems, as seen by the Urban Research and Development Corporation, are mapped out above, and were enumerated at a meeting Wednesday of interested persons.

A blueprint for Oakland's betterment and future growth was mapped out Wednesday afternoon at a dinner at the American Legion attended by local merchants, businessmen, the Chamber of Commerce and town officials.

Principal speaker was David H. Humphrey, vice president of Urban Research and Development Corporation, who has been working out comprehensive development possibilities for Oakland for the past year and a half.

Col. J. Haig Jackson, of the county planning council, was master of ceremonies.

W. Marshall Rickert, county planning director spoke also, bringing out the fact that although Oakland has a population of only 1,700, it serves as a retail business core for people within a 25 to 50 mile radius.

Forty-five persons were present to hear the speaker's proposal, which must be drafted with public assistance before it can be adopted by the town council.

Even after its adoption, the plan is to serve only as a guideline, not rigid laws, and is implemented by adoption of zoning and subdivision ordinances, as well as through private adoption of some of the suggestions by individuals concerned.

Mr. Rickert noted that the central business district in Oakland is bounded by the Little Youghiogheny, Bartlett, Pennington, and Fourth Streets.

Principal detriments here include lack of expansion space, which has driven some businesses to re-locate outside city limits; the B and O Railroad, which causes difficult pedestrian crossing and hazardous driving in that area.

narrow alleys, where two cars can barely pass and commercial trucks have difficulty turning in to unload; frame buildings, which have renovation potential but which at present are rather neglected.

visual congestion, with wires, signs, car lots, and other detracting features.

and also, narrow bridges, vehicle-pedestrian conflicts, poor traffic flow, and unpaved parking area.

The natural topography of the town also prevents full development, as steep slopes do not lend themselves readily to construction of new buildings.

Mr. Humphrey proceeded to list ways to overcome such blights to growth downtown. Illustrating his points with slides of maps, existing conditions, and drawings of possible corrections.

A 10 foot green buffer strip of trees and low plantings would eliminate visual congestion caused by "overused" car lots on Third Street, which are at present located too close to the highway.

Stores along the B and O could provide rear entrances. Safe pedestrian crossings of the railroad tracks were also proposed, one just northwest of the car-railroad intersection and one approximately behind the

Plan Lincoln Day Dinner April 14

A Lincoln Day dinner is being planned for Saturday evening, April 14, at the Southern High school cafetorium by Republican organizations of the county.

Admiral John S. McCain, retired, now residing in Falls Church, Va., will be the speaker. His son was one of the prisoners of war in Vietnam, due to be released this week. The cost is $6 per person.

The event is sponsored jointly by the Republican Women's clubs of Northern and Southern Garrett county, and the Republican State Central Committee.

Wilson Alters Vote Legislation

Sen. William A. Wilson, (R-Allegany-Garrett) has had an amendment tacked on to the state-wide bill for voter registration by mail, enabling each county election board to choose whether it wants the mail system.

Sen. Wilson has spoken out against two attempts in the Senate this session to mandate that counties put the mail registration policy into effect.

Last Friday he was successful in pushing through the Senate Judicial Proceeding committee his amendment. The amendment will enable local election boards to be exempt from the mail system, provided the board passes a resolution and submits it to the state prior to January 1, 1974, when the mail system would go into effect.

Wilson has said he is opposed to the change because the present registration system fully enables anyone interested in voting opportunity to register and he added that he sees no reason to change the present system.

Some attorneys on the Senate committee questioned the legality of the local senator's amendment, but Sen. Wilson secured an opinion from the Attorney General's office which said that since registration is a "privilege" rather than a "right" counties may make their own decisions in the matter.

Forestry Camps Need Volunteers

A steering committee has begun planning for the establishment of a volunteer program to provide comprehensive and ongoing services to boys at the four forestry camps in Garrett and Allegany counties.

Robert G. Wolford, superintendent of the camps said the first meeting of the committee was held last Tuesday night in Cumberland.

Mr. Wolford said this volunteer program would be under the general direction of Edward J. O'Rourke, program consultant for the State Department of Juvenile Services.

The four camps at Green Ridge, Lonaconing, Backbone Mountain and Maple Run have a total enrollment on a regular basis of between 140 and 160 boys.

It was stressed at the meeting that this program would provide opportunities for both men and women to participate in the service which Mr. Wolford believes would be beneficial to the youths.

Nine needs for the forestry camps have been outlined. They include adult contacts for boys, consistent community involvement, assistance in food service, improvement in morale through clothing needs, organized recreational program, tutorial assistance for students, professional medical assistance, responsible adults for local transportation and awareness and communication with the public.

Another meeting is set for Tuesday, March 27, at 7 p. m.

Among those agreeing to serve on the committee are Judge Stuart F. Hamill, Rev. Regis Larkin, Oakland, Rev. John Grant, Deer Park; C. W. Englander, Oakland.

The committee hopes to develop a corps of about 100 volunteers who will be available to assist the camps on a regular basis.

Summons To Greatness

"Summons to Greatness," is a collection of inspirational thoughts and practical ideas from the messages and addresses of Richard M. Nixon, president of the United States.

Here is another one of the messages:

"What America has meant is not its wealth, not its power, but its spirit and purpose—a land that enshrines liberty and opportunity, and that has held out a hand of welcome to millions in search of a better and fuller and above all, a freer life.

"We can build a great cathedral of the spirit—each of us raising it one stone at a time, as he reaches out to his neighbor, helping, caring, doing. Our greatness as a nation has been our capacity to do what had to be done when we knew our course was right.

"At first glance, there is something homely and unexciting about the basic values as we have long believed in them. We feel apologetic about espousing them, even the profoundest truths become cliches with repetition. But they can be like sleeping giants: slow to rouse, but magnificent in their strength.

"This nation became great not because of what government did for people, but because of what people did for themselves.

"What has to be done, has to be done by government and people together or it will not be done at all. The lesson of past agony is that without the people we can do nothing . . . with the people we can do everything.

"Government exists to serve the needs of people, not the other way around. The idea of creating a set of 'programs' and then expecting people to fit themselves into those programs, is contrary to the American spirit.

"The task of government is not to make decisions for people. The task of government is to enable the people to make decisions for themselves. Not to see the truth of that statement is fundamentally to mistake the genius of democracy."

"No Harm Telling a Friend About a Good Thing."

THE PEOPLE SPEAK—Rep. Goodloe Byron begins the job of reading and reolying to the thousands of constitoent questionnaires sent to his office. Early returns indicate that reduced government spending and crime prevention are the prime concerns of 6th District residents.

The Justice Dept. has started action against a new wave of obscene movies.

Survey Results Cited By Byron

Sixth District residents are fed up with Federal spending and high taxes according to Rep. Goodloe Byron.

Commenting on his recent district-wide "opinion" tour and an early tabulation of the first 2,000 constituent questionnaires returned to his office, Byron noted that 3 out of 4 respondents believe Congress should establish a mandatory spending ceiling and over half support cuts or no increases in various Federal spending categories. Foreign, renewed projects led the list of aid, welfare programs and urban areas recommended for decreased spending.

Majorities opposed a federally-subsidized compulsory health insurance program and favored using Federal revenue sharing funds to reduce property taxes. Respondents were equally divided on whether the state of the economy has improved under the controls imposed by the President.

Byron also noted that 4 out of 5 oppose amnesty for draft deserters and during the recent district tour an equal number opposed post-war aid for North Vietnam.

A formal report of the complete findings, including a county-by-county analysis, will be issued in a few weeks.

New But Old

Spring was surely here in Finzel when the frogs began to croak, or so they said. Ever since hearing this prophecy from older people, it has been my source of reliablity, even as there is no doubt of fall when the wild geese sound longingly in the sky. Perhaps in your village it would "frost" six weeks before the katydids began to sing.

Grandmother's wisdom and the almanac knowledge are coming back in a new-old science, phenology. The word is short for phenomenology, the science of climate's influence on natural life, i.e., that of flora and fauna. This field of study credits oldsters with knowing as much as science has learned to date—what country dwellers have observed all along.

If the man from an earlier generation stood on the porch in the evening he could safely predict a pleasant or rainy day after getting the feel of a southern breeze or scanning the sky to see how cinuds formed in either layers or puffy groups. One summer day you may have seen the dog eating grass or missed the chirping of birds, so you knew it would rain. In the days of chimney fires, no one wanted to see the smoke coming down, for foul weather was assured; this may be related to a falling barometer. When oldsters speak of old cows dying in March, it may have a hasis, for the animals seem to endure one segment of winter, but have lowered resistance "toward early spring," as one experienced countryman expressed it. In defense of phenology, I would suhmit that the animals' hair is definitely more coarse and thicker in some fall seasons than in others. Last spring, with such abnormal abundance of water, the leaders on spruce trees were longer and new green needles more profuse.

My modern seed packet from a New York company gives this advice on planting snow on the mountain (Euphorbia variegata): "Plant when ground as well as air is warm. A good signal is when maples are in leaf." Phenology must be here to stay.

White and Renner, the geographers, have eloquently expressed an undeniable argument for phenology in human adjustment. "The weather touches human life and behavior at every turn, and all of man's invention and science have not made, and do not promise to make, man truly less dependent upon it."

So life patterns are governed, and they begin again and again. Soon observations emerge, as the daffodil blades poke through the soil hurriedly pushed over them in fear of frost. I know that on the Appalachian Plateau crocus and pussy willow catkins are busily heralding the season with all the phenology in them. And so it has always been in Maryland.

I put on my jacket to hike over this bank and investigate leaves for arbutus. Without phenology, it is the real spring for me.

current salary schedule can earn up to $13,720 with a Doctor's Degree.

Other benefits include increases in life insurance benefits, hospitalization improvement, and income protection improvement.

A sabbatical leave policy would be implemented under the terms of the agreement that would permit one (1) teacher during the 1973-74 Budget year to receive a year off work for study or approved travel purposes at one-half their annual salary.

The Garrett county teachers had ratified the terms of the contract at a meeting March 5 at Southern high school by a wide margin, according to Robert Wilson, president of the teacher association.

Mr. Wilson further outlined parts of the agreement. He said terminal pay would provide a maximum of $1,500. Life insurance for each teacher was set at $6,000 and income protection insurance of $300 per month had been negotiated with the board paying for these benefits.

He said the board would also pay 60 percent of basic hospitalization and medical insurance for dependents and that provisions also called for elementary teachers to have additional preparation and planning, determination of excessive class sizes and teaching load. Accumulation of personal leave days was provided.

For the first time Mr. Wilson said the new contract called for a classroom control and discipline procedure, parental leave to comply with new federal regulations and voluntary extra duty compensation.

Board President William Goldsborough expressed the Board's appreciation to Lewis Domenick, chief negotiator, Richard Travis, and Ernest Spoerlein for their efforts to bring about a fair and realistic request to be included in the total Fiscal Year 1974 request.

15,000 tons of cinders were used, mixed with 200 tons of salt.

In a normal year, about 800 tons of chemical salts were needed to keep roads passable.

Blowers Never Used

The county's two new snow blowers, obtained last fall, have been idle in their garages at Oakland and Grantsville this winter, with no opportunity to show what they can do to keep roads open.

Magic, Illusion

Illusions are presented and dozens of smaller effects. The show is aimed at children of all ages as well as adults. Among the larger effects presented is the opening scene of "The Enchanted Garden," where flowers bloom and a story is unfolded about a family of three giant sized 7-foot rabbits. Another effect is the levitation of a girl. Instead of sawing a lady in half there is an illusion of sawing a lady into six pieces.

The show is based on children's stories. There are over 20 different costomes used.

Kartay has been performing magic for over 36 years, is a member of the "International Brotherhood of Magicians," and member of the Society of American Magicians He also operates a magic store in Romney, W. Va. He is also a member of the Magic Dealers association, an organization which promotes the art of magic and helps the newcomer to magic get started.

The cost is $1.00 per person.

Forest Fires Plague County

State Forestry Service personnel were called last Saturday to extinguish four fires in the county.

One fire which began about 4 p. m., on Saturday burned out an estimated ten acres of pine plantation near Friendsville.

The Forestry Service men were joined by the Friendsville Volunteer fire department in fighting the blaze which took some two hours to extinguish. The fire was apparently caused by picknickers attempting to light a charcoal burner, according to a spokesman for the forestry service.

Two acres of woodland and three acres of grass were burned in a second fire at Mt. Zion on Backbone mountain. Brush burning was reported as the cause.

Brush burning was the cause of another fire one mile north of Oakland with 20 acres of grassland destroyed.

The fourth fire occurred at Round Glade near Deep Creek Lake where two acres of grass were borned because of careless smoking. All fires were onder control by 7 p. m.

Harland Upole, Western Maryland forest supervisor, pointed out that the burning regulations are currently being enforced and will remain in effect until June 1.

Regulations state that there will be no burning of debris between midnight and 4 p. m. unless at least 200 feet from woodland or inflammable material that can carry the fire to the woodland. From 4 p. m. to midnight fires are allowed if there is at least a ten-foot fire prevention area and a responsible adult present.

At the hospital the committee found it in excellent condition, very clean. One elevator was not working but was under contract to be repaired. It was recommended that the parking lot be resurfaced and that a heating cable be installed in the ramp leading to the emergency room.

Recommendations for the court house included: shelves in addressograph room not yet installed; dome of coort house, registrar of wills office, treasorer's office, map room and photocopy room not yet painted. Storm windows not yet installed; radiator valves need replacing; Alder street sidewalk needs replaced and wall repaired. Improvements noted: library room provides more office space for parole department, new oil furnace installed, water pipes replaced with copper, rewiring onder way.

Both Grantsville and Oakland county garages in good state of repair and clean.

At Backbone Moontain forestry camp improvements were noted in education, sewerage was becoming a problem at the camp and medical care was a problem. Boys have been placed in groops of twelve under a new system.

The jury commended the state police criminal investigation division for its thorough and precise manner in conducting investigations.

Criminal cases will be called on Tuesday, March 27, when the petit jurors will be ordered to report for duty.

woods in this county in 1966. He visits his land, located in the Red Oak-Gnegy Chorch section, aboot twice a month.

Soon after buying his land, he consulted Paul Mateer, project forester for the Maryland Forest Service, whose job is to assist private woodland owners in forest management.

Mr. Bell drew up a management plan which included the building of access roads, thinning timber and other practices. He planted 20 acres of open land to 20,000 pine trees and also had planted two acres of corn for wildlife feed.

Approximately 18 other county residents are also members of the American Tree Farmers Association, but this is the first time any owner has been singled out for the state award.

To become members of the American Tree Farmers association, woodlot owners must have, and follow, a management plan.

The tree farm project is sponsored by the nation's wood indostries, acting through the American Forest institute, to recognize private land owners who do an outstanding jog of growing future crops of timber.

Other parent groups are the State Association of Forestry Boards and the Maryland Forestry Service.

Also attending the meeting in Towson were Paul Mateer, who feels that Mr. Bell has a model operation, and Max Messenger, Garrett county's representative on the Maryland Forestry Board.

Blueprint For

Professional building.

Paint could be used imaginatively to bring out architectural details of interest, trees in planters could be placed along the sidewalks, overhead wires buried underground.

Open space parks, approximately where Tom Kight's building is downtown and along the Wilson Run beside the parking lot, were suggested to beautify the town.

New streetlights in an updated traditional design were suggested along with decorative brickwork, unusually designed crosswalks to perk up the area. Sidewalks should be installed where needed.

For better traffic flow, wider bridges are a must. Mr. Humphrey noted that government help for huge financial undertakings such as these might be forthcoming.

He also noted that since the railroad is here to stay, it could be made more safe, if not more eye appealing.

Lack of expansion space can only be remedied by buying neighboring boildings as they become available, or using all existing space to its fullest extent.

The steep area off Third could conceivably become a cantilevered parking area, but only with great expense, as pointed out by Mr. Humphrey.

He also brought out that Center Street School will become vacant within a few years, and that this desirable spot could easily be converted for use as a community building, or it could be razed and a six to eight story building for elderly housing erected.

He pointed out that in a recent Housing study, here, demands for housing for elderly people is definitely a rising trend.

Another point he brought up was that the courthouse should be emphasized as a focal point for the town.

Monitoring Team Visits Head Start

A monitoring team from Region III's office of child development visited the Head Start program in the county this week, it was announced by G. Bradford Rinard, executive director of the county's Community Action program.

Rinard said monitoring was a service provided by the region to local programs through a grant at Drexel university, Philadelphia. Purpose of the monitoring is to help the Head Start staff and parents continue to improve the quality of services to the Head Start children and families by providing an operating model for program evaluation of services, in areas of administration, education, parent involvement, health and nutrition, recruitment and social services.

Sunday through Wednesday the team helped collect information about the program by talking with the staff, centrally and at the centers. The team met with parents Monday night at the Crellin Head Start center. Elizabeth Russell, team leader, said she felt "that both staff and parents were very supportive and a pleasure to work with." Team members include Gale Scott, 4-C coordinator, region III; Betty Hale, head start supplementary training specialist, University of Maryland; and Irene Slaymaker, state training officer, Lock Haven State college, Pa.

Any suggestions citizens have aboot the suggested Oakland development program are welcome and may be directed in writing to the county planning commission, located on Alder Street, Col. Jackson concluded.

Progress Reported At Federal Land Bank Conference

The annual conference of ga eral managers and directors of the Federal Land Bank and Fed- eral Intermediate Credit Bank of Baltimore, held at the Green- brier resort on March 2 was formed upon the impact and progress of implementation of the Farm Credit Act of 1971 ac- cording to H. Robert DeWitt, general manager, Romney.

The act, which broadened the two banks and their respective associations' service to the ag ricultural community, has necess- sitated a complete overhaul of policy and regulations, Mr. De- Witt said.

Changes became effective in July, 1972, and since that time recurred. New money disburse- ments for 1972 totaled $76.5 mil- lion dollars, $22 million higher than any previous year in the bank's 56 year history and $9.6 million more than 1971. Produc- tion Credit associations also en- joyed a record year with their outstanding loan volume of $270 million dollars being the highest year-end level since operations began 40 years ago.

Personnel and training was another important topic of dis- cussion at the conference. With the increase in business, the ex- panded services, and the larger staff necessary, it became im- perative that a continuing pro- gram of recruiting and training be maintained, Mr. DeWitt said.

The conference drew over 250 local directors, general man- agers and their wives, one of the largest ever. Capping off the conference was a dinner-dance on March 2.

The Federal Land Bank and Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Baltimore serve states of West Virginia, Virginia Maryland, Pennsylvania, Dela- ware and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico through 36 jointly operated local Federal Land Bank associations and Produc- tion Credit Association offices. These offices are currently pro- viding the agricultural and rural housing needs of more than 31,- 000 members with loans in ex- cess of 665 million dollars.

Among those attending were Mr and Mrs. DeWitt, Romney, W. Va. Both are former Oak- land residents.

The Staff

PAUL NAZELROD

This week we would like you to meet the most nocturnal member of our staff. He is Paul Nazelrod, who has about nine years of service with our company. Paul started work- ing in our dairy department and after two years was shifted to the grocery department where he presently works.

About four years ago when our customer count in- creased and it was a handicap to stock shelves during the daylight hours. Paul was shifted to night duty and had to perform his job after hours. It is very difficult for a person to adjust his life style to working at night and sleeping during the day, but Paul was willing to make this sacrifice for the good of the company.

Paul would have to be rated as one of the top production men in his field. His man-hour production is 1000 in the retail grocery industry, for he is able to merchandise almost twice the amount of the average worker. It is a pleasure to watch Paul performing his work as he is truly a perfectionist who knows all the tricks of the trade.

Soon you will be seeing more of Paul for he will be moving into the day shift. We are having some out-of-stock problems during the shopping hours and we're sure that the addition of Paul to our daily schedule will remedy this situation.

Paul enjoys participating in sports and is one of the best homerun hitters on our softball team. He is a substitute on our bowling team and enjoys tending a garden during the summer months. He and his wife Linda reside at Box 365, Mt. Lake Park, and they have two daughters and one son.

Comptroller Opposes Federal Collection Of State Income Tax

In testimony last week before the full Senate Finance committee at Annapolis, State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein set down reasons for his opposition to a Senate Joint Resolution calling for Governor Marvin Mandel "to proceed promptly to effect an agreement with the Secretary of the U. S. Treasury for federal collection of Maryland's State income tax. He said the state would still have to collect the corporation and local income taxes, franchise tax on net earnings and that any savings would be non-existent.

WASHINGTON REPORT

BEALL, JR.

Psychosurgery

One of the constant miracles of modern medicine is the seemingly endless chain of breakthroughs in medical research. Discoveries like the polio vaccine, open heart surgery and transplants of vital organs have emerged after years of painstaking work in the laboratory, and more will come as the work continues.

Our own state of Maryland has played a key role in many of these developments, both at government facilities like the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda and private institutions such as the medical schools of Johns Hopkins University and the University of Maryland, and the fine hospitals throughout the state.

At one time or another, however, all medical research comes to a final stage of human experimentation, and here is where there is a potential for doing great harm as well as great good.

Last year, when the health community was already reeling from the lurid reports of a syphillis study conducted many years ago in Mississippi, another controversy began over the subject of psychosurgery.

At issue was an item in the Health, Education, and Welfare budget to allow the expenditure of $1 million to continue and expand studies of violent behavior related to brain disease.

In laymans terms, this usually means operating on a person to neutralize part of his or her brain in order to control violent aggression and similar behavioral problems. Or, in other words, it is to pacify a person by destroying certain brain tissues.

One of the major concerns about these operations is that they have permanent and irrevocable results because there is no way that nerve cells will regenerate.

Thus, any decisions about condoning these operations require the greatest care and deliberation—by the doctor and his patient, by the medical community in general, and by the public policymakers who must decide on whether to provide funds for research projects of this type.

Although the medical profession has made great advances in understanding the human mind, the fact remains that even today, there are many unanswered questions that have been raised within the medical community itself about these techniques and procedures.

As a member of the Senate Health Subcommittee, I have been participating in hearings to investigate the controversies involving psychosurgery and other forms of human experimentation.

These hearings have convinced me that adequate safeguards are not always being taken in this very sensitive area of medicine.

I am, therefore, preparing and will soon introduce legislation that will provide the kind of protection that is needed to assure that the public interest is being served.

The control of a person's mind and spirit is much too dangerous and sensitive a subject to do anything less than make absolutely sure that the proper health policy is implemented and enforced.

John E. Koton, escapee from the Moundsville prison in West Virginia, may lose his battle against extradition back to that state today.

A hearing on his writ of habeas corpus was slated for 10 a.m. in circuit court. He has been battling against extradition since January, alleging he was afraid his life was in danger because he witnessed the slaying of a prison guard.

He had been apprehended at his brother's home in Crellin January 4 and was later married at the Oakland jail to a Kingwood woman.

According to sheriff Jack Browning, he will be more than happy to see the last of Koton, who has caused an estimated $2,500 damage to the jail cells and who is constantly picking locks and instigating trouble, and who engineered a jailbreak February 18 for himself and three others.

Wildlife Week Is March 18-24

While nature and wildlife enthusiasts are observing National Wildlife Week, March 18-24, the United States Department of Agriculture, Soil Conservation Service will be doing its part to make it all possible.

This means consulting with farmers, landowners and local officials about practicing proven conservation methods designed to create good cover, food and water conditions for wildlife.

District Conservationist John Reckner believes the success of National Wildlife Week depends on cooperation by everyone. "The conservation methods practiced by every individual, or the lack of them, will determine the future of our wildlife," he said.

Some of the conservation methods he suggests include agricultural methods such as contour farming, alternating strips of cropland and wildlife vegetation or wildlife border plantings around fields, pastures and woodland. Spot plantings of wildlife shrubs in and around residential areas are also beneficial as are stream protection and pond construction.

These methods help by keeping soil and nutrients in place and providing wildlife with a healthy and natural environment, Reckner said.

For information on any of the above or other conservation measures available to the public, contact the Soil Conservation office on Route 219, North of Oakland.

Bolden Bill Brings "Little Cigars" Into Tax Fold

A bill introduced into the current session of the General Assembly by Delegate DeCorsey Bolden (R., Garrett Co.) would amend the state tax laws by redefining the so-called "little cigars."

The amendment is needed because the current legal definition of cigarette does not include the "little cigars" for tax purposes.

Bolden's Bill would revamp the definition of cigarette to include the "little cigar" group and thus make them subject to tax under present Maryland law.

Capitol Comment

By Charles McC Mathias

Maryland Matters Get Action

Over the years I have frequently described the job of a Congressman as that of legislator, educator, and advocate. This column covers some of the advocacy that I have been engaged in on behalf of the people of Maryland, because this is the kind of thing that very often passes unnoticed in the rush of daily events.

One thing that does not pass unnoticed is a notice that your rent is being increased and too many Marylanders in recent weeks have received this kind of notice.

Some rents have been going up as much as ten, fifteen, or twenty per cent. This, of course, is a marked change from the Economic Phase II guidelines under which this kind of living expense was strictly controlled.

I met with other members of the Maryland delegation and the Chairman of the President's Cost of Living Council, Dr. John Dunlop, to bring to his attention the very critical problems that now face many tenants in Maryland. I believe that he had not previously fully recognized the seriousness of the situation, because it does not seem to be uniform across the nation. The problem is critical in some areas, but not in others.

As a result of our meeting, we were assured that an investigation into the problem would be intensified and that the Internal Revenue Service, which is responsible for processing complaints, would be instructed to bear down on this job. We have received further satisfaction from Dr. Dunlop's announcement that a 5.5 per cent guideline is still in effect.

This guidance to both landlords and tenants will help everyone recognize the realities of the economic situation in which this country finds itself, but it will also put some limit on the increases that are acceptable.

At the same time, we had another kind of problem in Maryland — the proposal by the Social Security Administration to move its offices out of downtown Baltimore and place them in the suburban Woodlawn section of Baltimore County where Social Security headquarters are now located. This was one of those decisions which seem to promise some fiscal efficiency and effectiveness, but it overlooked the human aspect of the problem.

The proposal overlooked those people who now live and work in downtown Baltimore. It overlooked the need to construct new roads, new sewers, new water mains, and new schools in Baltimore County to take care of the migration of people from downtown. However, we have effected a workable compromise by which the computer operation, which involves relatively few people, will be constructed in Baltimore County, while the personnel—the 3,000 to 4,000 job holders—will stay downtown in a major new office building.

Finally, I am happy to report that I have received further encouraging news as a result of meetings with Federal Agencies regarding action on the damaged railroad bridge over the C and D Canal. Instead of the ninety days it reportedly would have taken to repair both the bridge and the canal, it now appears that the job can be done in sixty days. This saving of time will assuredly be vital to both the Eastern Shore and the port of Baltimore.

Earns Promotion

Detective Terry Schlossnagle, a criminal investigator for the Howard County police department, was recently promoted to detective first class by G. R. Walters, chief of police.

Schlossnagle also was commended by Chief Walters for successfully concluding a conspiracy to commit murder case. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Schlossnagle, of Cumberland, formerly of this county. He is married to the former Janice DeWitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold DeWitt, of McHenry, and they have a son, Jerry.

To Begin Fund Drive This Week

The Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, Inc., will begin its door to door fund raising campaign this weekend, it was announced by Mrs. Linda Friend, publicity chairman.

The group is endeavoring to raise $10,000, so that it may operate on a non-fee, non-membership basis.

They plan to canvass the town of Oakland on Sunday, March 25. Money realized will be used for equipment for patient transfer, operational expenses and a radio communications system.

Civic Club Airs Plans For Trash, Rummage Sale

Plans were completed for a Trash and Treasure rummage sale, which will be held at the Oakland Fire hall on Saturday, March 17, from 9 to 4, at a meeting of the board of directors of the Oakland Civic club at the home of Mrs. W. A. Shirer last Thursday, March 8.

Any person having anything to donate may call Mrs. John O. Durst or Mrs. Maurice Brookhart by Friday, March 16.

Among other matters discussed at the board meeting was the appointment of a committee to compile old records of the club, names to be presented for nomination of secretary and treasurer for 1973. Mrs. Arleigh Hauser was appointed to write and mail a news letter to each member quarterly. A bake basket is to be started in April.

Fifteen Are Killed On State Highways

Fifteen persons lost their lives on Maryland highways last week, according to the weekly news release published by Sergeant James E. Harvey of the State Police. Nine of the persons killed were drivers, two were passenfers and four were pedestrians. At least two of the deaths could possibly have been prevented had seat belts been in use.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in four of the deaths, speed in nine and "driver error" in eleven.

According to the National Safety Council, 1972 was the deadliest year for traffic safety in the history of the United States. The Maryland fatality count for the year was 811, our worst year since 1968 when 872 persons were killed.

Persons killed thus far total 158 compared to 150 for a year ago.

Kite Flyers Cautioned

Spring is ideal kite flying weather but the sport contains hidden dangers which Monongahela Power company points out in an article this week.

Parents are urged to remind their children that when flying a kite they should use dry string, wood and paper, not wire or anything metallic; fly kites on days when there is no rain, avoid busy streets and highways; fly kites away from television and radio aerials and electric or utility poles; keep away from fallen utility wires; call the power office if a kite becomes snagged in a power line; never pull the string or climb utility poles.

WASHINGTON REPORT
FROM SENATOR J. GLENN BEALL JR.

Saving the Railroads

In the past month many Marylanders, as well as our neighbors in Delaware and Virginia, have been without rail service to the Delmarva Peninsula after a ship collided with the Penn Central railroad bridge over the C & D canal.

This accident closed the bridge until May and has dealt a severe blow to the economy of the Eastern Shore. It also took the full attention of the senators, congressmen and governors of the states to get the Coast Guard and Army Corps of Engineers to swing into action to repair the bridge without further delay.

These hardships would be magnified many times over, however, if the trains ever stopped running altogether in the Northeast; and we are, quite frankly, heading for a showdown with a railroad crisis in this part of the nation.

These railroads have often been using old methods to compete with new technology; they have been the victims of a shift in the industrial base of the Northeast; and they have been trapped by cumbersome rules and regulations as they try to make adjustments to become more efficient and competitive.

The crisis came to a head last month when the Penn Central was threatened with a strike.

Congress, which is often justifiably criticized for delaying in its actions, took only two days to pass legislation to keep the men on their jobs for 90 days while a long-range solution is being worked out.

This will not be an easy job, but it is one that has been avoided for too long.

As a member of the Surface Transportation Subcommittee of the Senate Commerce Committee, I will be taking an active part in the railroad deliberations. The subcommittee began oversight hearings in the past week, and at least three major proposals will be considered.

One of these is a plan which the Administration will submit sometime this month for the operation of essential rail services in the Northeast.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has been conducting its own study, and the ICC intends to submit a proposal at about the same time the Administration does.

The subcommittee has also received a special 750-page report on the Northeast rail situation, and a bill based on parts of the report has already been introduced as a third alternative.

This bill would create a non-profit corporation to acquire and maintain the essential rail routes of the Northeast and charge the railroads user fees to run their trains on them.

I believe there are difficult questions, however, about whether the government should enter into any arrangements which involve the actual operation of the railroads.

Other suggestions have centered on the feasability of creating two competing rail networks out of the 11 major railroads in the Northeast. This could lead to the elimination of duplicated track, numerous train crew changes as well as other delays and costs that are inevitable in our present system.

There also is a need for changes in the procedural rules under which the ICC decides on rail rates and routes.

There will be merits as well as drawbacks in each of the proposals that will be considered, and it will be up to Congress to come up with a workable plan. Otherwise, we may be faced with another alternative that no one wants: a collapse of the railroads that could lead to nationalization.

School Registration Set At Center Street

Registration for children eligible to enter school this September will be held Tuesday, March 20, at Center Street School from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m.

Parents are requested to bring the child's birth certificate and immunization forms.

Children whose sixth birthday falls on December 31, 1973 or earlier will be eligible for enrollment.

Mr. Phyllis H. Williams, principal, said it was advisable for children entering Grade One to have a physical examination prior to entering school. Children may be examined by their own private physician.

Mrs. Norma Bolding, Garrett County Health Nurse, will be in charge of the registration.

If your child is now attending Oak Street Kindergarten, it will not be necessary to register these children. It is necessary for all other children planning to attend Grade One at Center Street Elementary to register.

Fat Babies Not Always Healthy Says Health Dept.

Citing some recent medical findings, Dr. William Pope, County Health officer indicated that overweight babies and children may sometimes be affected in later life by diseases or conditions directly related to their overweight condition.

Dr. Pope explained that medical research has led to a growing feeling that obesity during childhood often leads to obesity during adulthood and that adult obesity has been associated statistically with such diseases as diabetes, high blood pressure, and coronary heart disease. While the doctor pointed out that not all children who are fat babies develop into overweight adults, he did say that this situation often occurred. For instance, he noted that excessive weight gain in the first six months of life has shown to relate to overweight and obese conditions by six to eight years of age. Marked obesity in childhood tends to persist into adulthood, with obesity developing before 9 years of age exceedingly difficult to treat for later weight reduction.

The doctor urged parents in the area to rely on doctors or clinics to help develop the diet and nutritional needs for their babies. Miss Christine Conly, nutritionist, is available for counseling and advice in these matters and can be consulted at the County Health Department. Dr. Pope stated tha in former years, fat babies were considered healthy babies, and, while that still may be true, the number of fat babies who develop into overweight teenagers and obese adults, who subsequently develop serious diseases, is significant enough that diets of overweight babies and children should be under the supervision of doctors.

Dr. Pope said that overfeeding, feeding too frequently and feeding foods which are high in fats are three of the main contributors toward increasing the likelihood that fat babies will develop into overweight children and adults. "These three factors are easily controlled" the doctor stressed "when parents follow the suggestions of their physician or clinic in feeding their babies."

Southern Speaks

by Randy Paugh and Angela Mattingly

Sbotwell, Rinker Named to All-Conference Teams

Ernie Shotwell and "Buster" Rinker, two outstanding sports figures from Southern were chosen for spots on the all-conference teams in baseball and wrestling in the PVC. This is the first time in PVC history to have all-conference teams in these sports.

Shotwell ace right-hander of the Rams baseball team was one of twelve players to be chosen for that sport. Coaches from the PVC teams voted on the players submitted from the member schools. Shotwell's record for last year was 4-1.

Rinker was the only grappler from Southern's squad to be chosen. Rinker had 10 wins and no losses for the regular season.

Baseballers To Begin Training

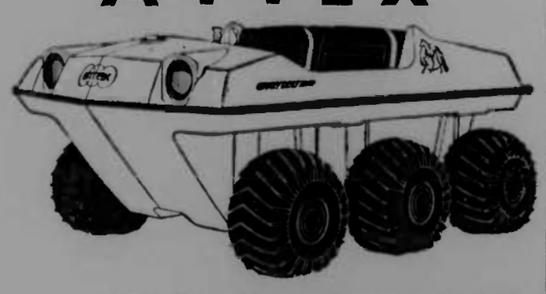
The 3-sport department at Southern never slows down. When the football season came to an end, basketball and wrestling started. These two sports are over now, and baseball will take up the slack.

The baseball season will be put into full swing this week when 40 or 50 boys do their best in trying to win a spot on this year's roster.

When talking to Mr. Green, coach of the Rams, the reporter noted a very optimistic attitude. Coach Green said this to say. "I think this season could be one of the best seasons in the school's history. We have all eighteen players from last year's squad returning. We have a tough schedule with Keyser, Bishop Walsh and Petersburg being our toughest opponents. Good pitching will make the difference between a good season and an average one."

Florida's prison system is so overcrowded that new prisoners are being refused with one reception center holding double its capacity.

ATTEX



. . . the Backwoodsman Ship!

If you're going ATVing, there's no better way to go than in a Wild Wolf from Attex. And, before you know it, you'll be prowling like a wolf yourself. The Wild Wolf delivers a full, hard-charging 20 HP that will zip you across the countryside at 35 MPH.

And, at under $1,600, the Wild Wolf is a real bargain when compared to other ATVs that cost one-third more. It does it all, goes forward (and backward) through the specially designed ATV Torque-O-Matic transmission, and even has an electric start. It's just the thing for those trips into the back country for deer or elk or bear. So, c'mon, let the wolf in you out. Get an Attex Wild Wolf.

Miss Allen Bride of Mr. Epstein

In a ceremony Saturday afternoon, February 24, at Market Heights United Church of Christ, North Canton, Ohio, Miss Barbara Jo Allen became the bride of Jerry Frank Epstein of Grantsville. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Allen of 3307 Sandalwood Ave., Canton, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Benny F. Epstein, Grantsville, and the late Mr. Epstein.

The pastor, the Rev. Charles Francis, officiated in the double-ring ceremony before an altar adorned with two candelabra and arrangements of white chrysanthemums with shades of pink carnations and baker fern.

The church organist, Mrs. James Hastings, played selections of organ music, including "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," Chopin's "Love Theme," Bach's "Air de Lune" and accompanied soloists.

The ceremony was composed by Rev. Francis and the bridal couple.

The rings were displayed on a tower-shaped white Bible on the altar. The Bible was a gift from the groom's grandmother, Mrs. John H. Folk.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, chose a floor length gown of satin peau satin. Delicate Alencon lace with seed pearl trimming was featured down the front of the gown and around the collar and sleeves. The A-line skirt was deeply flounced and featured a chapel length train. Her bouffant nylon veil was secured by a camelot style cap of satin studded with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white orchids with stephanotis streamers.

Miss Barbara Allen, serving as her sister's maid of honor, wore a floor length gown of pink organza over dotted Swiss, styled with empire waist and round stand-up collar.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Barnes Harold, North Canton, and Miss Sara Lauffer Sebring, classmates of the bride. Their gowns were of differing shades of pink, styled like the honor attendants. Each wore a pink ribbon in her hair and carried a pink and white colonial bouquet.

Best man was Captain Samuel J. Epstein of Grand Forks AFB, North Dakota, brother of the groom. Escorts of the bridesmaids were Lt. Eden Georg, McGuire AFB, of Mt. Holly, New Jersey, and Vernon Reichenbecher, Duke University, Durham, North Carolina.

The ushers were brothers of the bride, David and John Allen. The acolyte was another brother, Steven Allen. All are students at Ohio.

The mother's mother selected a floor length green polyester dress with empire waist, round stand-up collar and green accessories. The mother of the groom wore a turquoise blue polyester styled with a bolero round stand-up collar and blue accessories. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

Immediately following, a reception was held in the social room of the church with 250 guests attending. The serving table was decorated with floral arrangements of white mums, pink carnations, baker fern and long white candles. A four-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom was the center of attraction. The ladies of the Women's Guild of the church served the guests.

After the reception a buffet dinner was served at the Hotel Onesto for family and out of town guests, by the bride's parents. The guests were from Florida, New Jersey, Illinois, Maryland, North Dakota, Virginia, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Ohio, and Washington, D. C.

The bride selected a green and white print silk dress with white accessories and a corsage from her bridal bouquet for their wedding trip in the southern states.

The rehearsal party was hostessed by the groom's mother at the Pines Restaurant. Three bridal showers were given for the bride. They were given by Mrs. Roy B. Smith, Mrs. Barnes Harold and the ladies of the Market Heights Women's Guild.

The bride, a Glenwood High School and Aultman Hospital School of Professional Nursing graduate, is a captain in the Air Force Nurses Corps stationed at Keesler AFB, Miss. Her husband was graduated from Northern High School, Accident, and West Virginia University with a forestry major. He was a member of the following forestry honoraries; Gamma Sigma, Delta Xi Sigma Pi, and Alpha Zeta. He is a first lieutenant in the Air Force serving as a supply and maintenance officer stationed at Pope AFB, N. C.

Those attending the wedding from Grantsville were his mother Mrs. Benny Epstein, Mrs. John H. Folk, Mr. and Mrs. Cleman Folk, Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Durst, Mr. and Mrs. James Michael and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Reichenbecher, Sr.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

What Can We Do?

Dear Editor:

What can be done to improve our Postal Service? It surely has deteriorated since Congress turned it over to the Quasi-Official Agency — the U. S. Postal Service, with 675,197 employes (by Readers Digest Almanac for 1973).

What are they all doing? They should surely get my Republican paper from Oakland to Hopwood, Pa., in less than six days. Your paper, published on March 1, just arrived today, March 6. This is not the first time this has happened. It comes any day from Saturday to Wednesday.

Bring back the "good old days" of the Pony Express.

Board Modifies School Calendar

At the regular Thursday, March 8, meeting of the Board of Education, action was taken to lengthen Easter vacation by establishing it from Wednesday, April 18, at 1:30 p.m., to Wednesday, April 25, at 9:00 a.m., providing the school year does not need to extend beyond Wednesday, June 13.

The Board also agreed to build Friday, October 12, into the calendar as the day schools would be closed for the Autumn Glory Festival.

In other action, the Board agreed to recommend to the County Commissioners the purchase of the Frost property in Friendsville for the price of $23,647 to be used along with the Park property as the site for the new elementary school. The Commissioners will act on this request when the deed and contractural agreements have been approved between all concerned parties.

The Board spent considerable time studying the negotiated agreement prior to ratifying it. They also reviewed and suggested improvements in the Unaudited Budget Request for fiscal year 1974.

In personnel matters, the Board accepted the retirement of Mrs. Edith R. Dean, a teacher in the Accident School, effective March 1, 1973, and Mrs. Jennie D. Stark, Grantsville School, who will retire at the end of the school year.

Two principals, Mrs. Phyllis H. Williams, Center Street School, and Mrs. M. Thelma Hanlin, Accident School, also announced their intent to retire at the end of the school year.

The Board approved the transfer of Harold DeWitt's bus contract to James A. Rodeheaver, effective upon completion of contractural arrangements.

Some of the Board of Education members attended a meeting of Board members, superintendents, County Commissioners, and the State Interagency Construction Program staff in Annapolis on Monday, March 12, to work toward improvement of the building program.

William Goldsborough will represent the Board of Education at a meeting of the Northeast Region School Boards to be held in Annapolis the weekend of March 16th.

Above Normal Temperatures Heat Mountain Top

Much-above-normal temperatures have warmed the Mountain Top during the past week. Both morning lows and daytime highs have been near 17 degrees above the normal for this time of the year. Precipitation runs in the opposite direction being only about a quarter of the normal. Spring officially begins next week.

Daytime highs have been in the mid to upper 60s with 71 on Sunday and 72 yesterday. These averaged 17 degrees above the normal. Nighttime lows have been mostly in the low to mid 40s with 35 degrees Friday and 38 Tuesday. The lowest and nearest to freezing was 33 degrees yesterday morning.

Only .3 inch of rain fell during the past week. This falls short of the average for a week in March by .8 inch. The wettest rain-day was Sunday when a heavy downpour dumped nearly .2 inch of rain with more falling as occasional light showers during Sunday night and Monday. Even though there was little rain, skies were mostly cloudy with the sun showing through on occasional brief clear periods.

Winds were calm to light out of the south and southeast over the weekend. Brisk southwest to westerly breezes were blowing Monday.

Official Spring begins next Tuesday, March 20 at 1:13 p. m. The length of the day will be 12 hours and one minute. This occasion is also called the Vernal or Spring Equinox when the sun passes over the Equator on its journey north. The daylight and darkness are of equal length.

This morning it was a very summer-like low of near 60 degrees. Some light showers fell during the night.

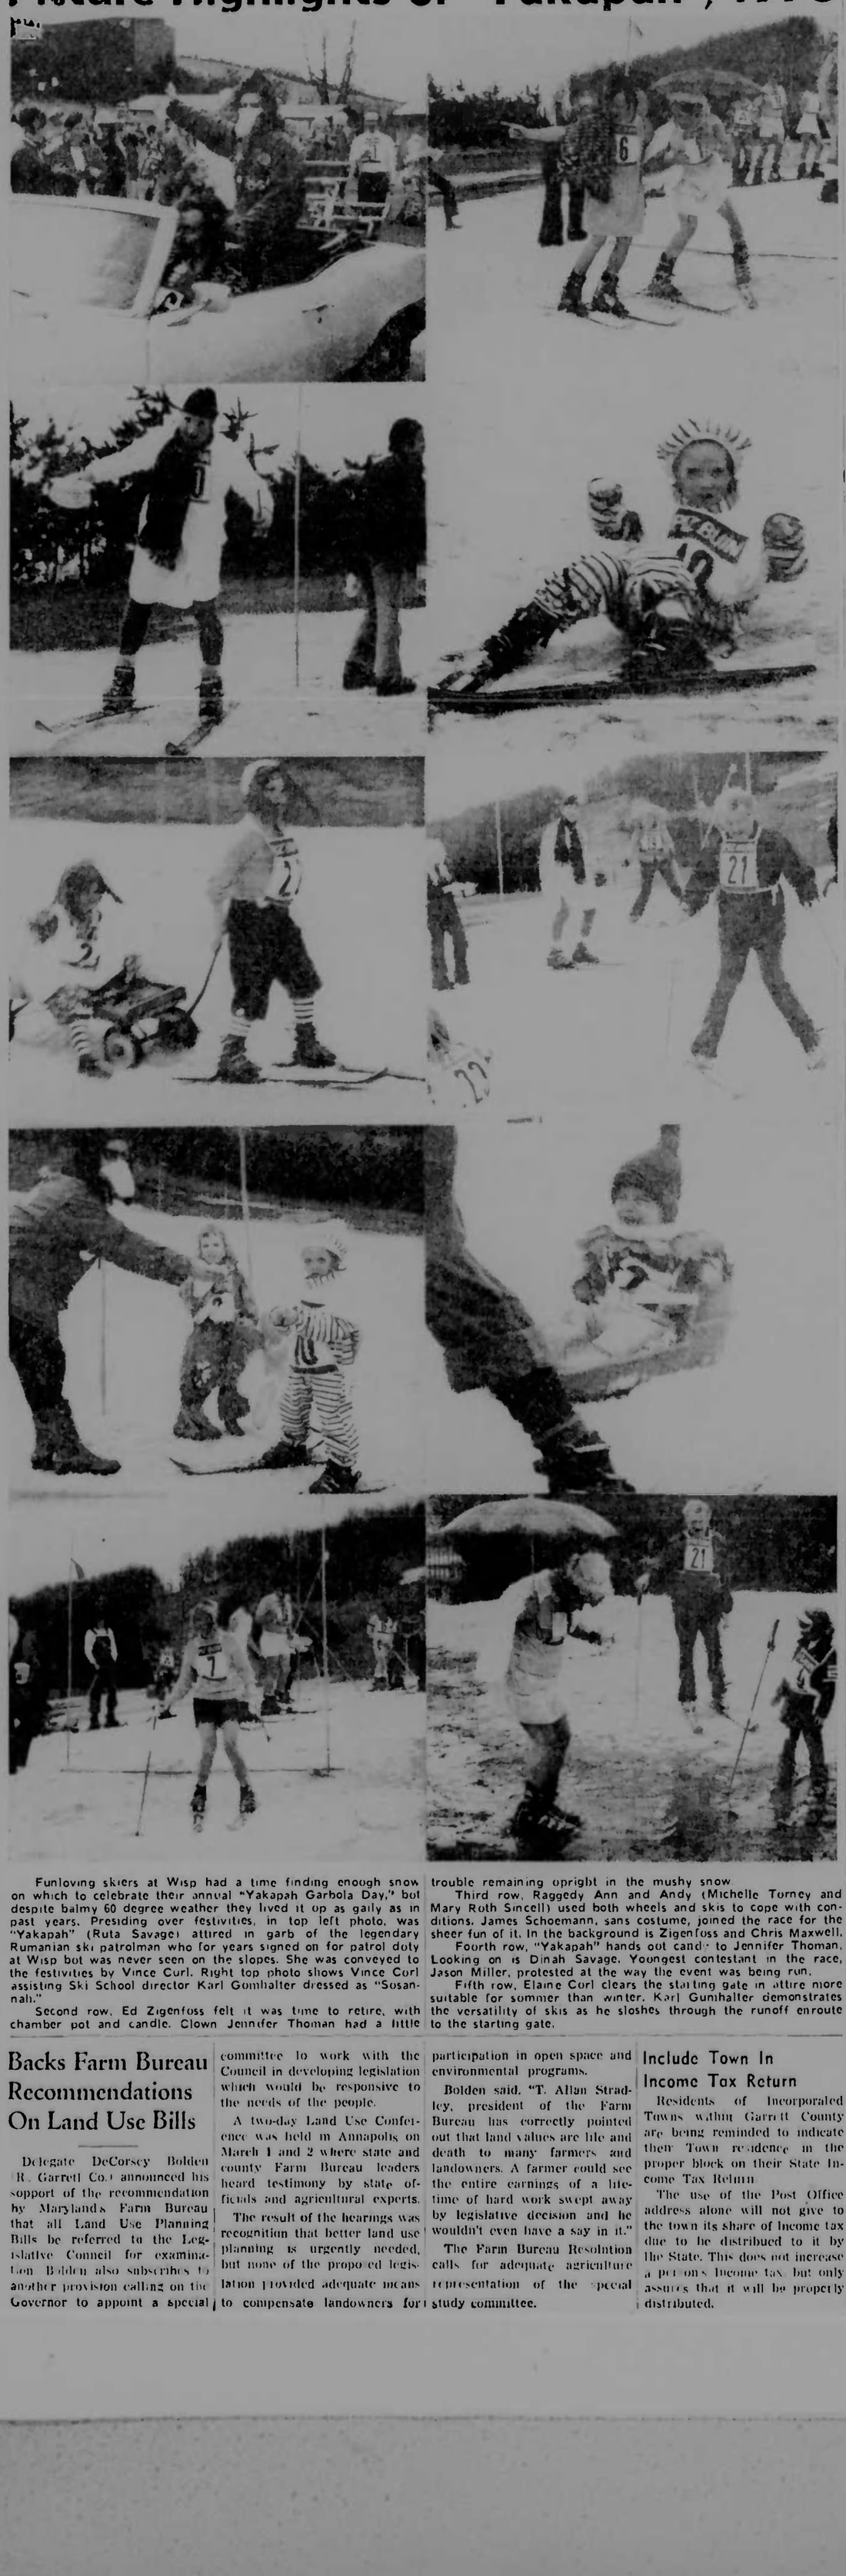
Picture Highlights of "Yakapah", 1973



Funloving skiers at Wisp had a time finding enough snow on which to celebrate their annual "Yakapah Garbola Day," but despite balmy 60 degree weather they lived it up as gaily as in past years. Presiding over festivities, in top left photo, was "Yakapah" (Ruta Savage) attired in garb of the legendary Rumanian ski patrolman who for years signed on for patrol duty at Wisp but was never seen on the slopes. She was conveyed to the festivities by Vince Curl. Right top photo shows Vince Corl assisting Ski School director Karl Gumhalter dressed as "Sosannah."

Second row, Ed Zigenfoss felt it was time to retire, with chamber pot and candle. Clown Jennifer Thoman had a little trouble remaining opright in the mushy snow.

Third row, Raggedy Ann and Andy (Michelle Torney and Mary Ruth Sincell) used both wheels and skis to cope with conditions. James Schoemann, sans costume, joined the race for the sheer fun of it. In the background is Zigenfoss and Chris Maxwell.

Fourth row, "Yakapah" hands out candy to Jennifer Thoman. Looking on is Dinah Savage. Youngest contestant in the race, Jason Miller, protested at the way the event was being run.

Fifth row, Elaine Corl clears the starting gate in attire more suitable for sommer than winter. Karl Gumhalter demonstrates the versatility of skis as he sloshes through the runoff enroute to the starting gate.

Sr. English Class To Give Program At Southern PTA

Means of communication will be the theme of the upcoming March 19 meeting of the Southern P.T.A. A special demonstration will be presented by members of two senior English classes. A short business session will precede the program.

Stodents analyzed Thomas Gray's poem "Elegy Written in a Coontry Churchyard" and will express their interpretations by various methods of communications.

Gray's Elegy, which took him nine years to write, laments the death of all men and is divided into seven distinct parts. Before the program there will be a group discussion explaining the division. Leaders for the seven groups are Leah Carlton, Lenora Fischetti, Hank Rebele, Walter Davy, Mike DeWitt, Bev Remley, and John Sherwood.

The program consists of musical, oral, and visual presentations composed by individual students. Barbara Leighton has composed an original interpretation for piano and correlated it with a collage. Appropriate slides combined with an explanation will be presented by John Sherwood.

Brian Whorton incorporates a different approach by using modern art to express death as a universal theme. Judy Friend combined several piano classics which she plays while Sheryl Corbin reads her original prose rendition of the poem. An in-depth oral explanation will be presented by Teresa Harvey.

The program will be concluded by two unusual interpretations. Judy Ingram and Dianne Dean use selected excerpts from popular songs to set the mood for a correlating slide sequence. Ben Sincell and Brian Sheally's original drum, guitar, and harmonica combinations provide an interesting conclusion.

The work of other students who chose art, prose and poetry for their interpretation will be on display, and the students will be available to answer questions.

3 Grass Fires Occur

Oakland firemen answered three alarms for grass fires within six hours on Saturday.

The first one was at the home of Jackson Thomas, route 219, north of Oakland, at 11:25. Several acres were burned over.

The next call came around 12 o'clock noon, to the Oakland cemetery. Two trucks were taken to the fire.

The third call came at 5:15, which occorred at the home of Donald Lipscomb, some three miles north of Oakland on the Oakland-Sang Run road.

Indian tanks were used to extinguish the blazes.

State Magazine Carries Stories Deer Park Water, Sandy Dauglass

The spring, 1973 edition of the Maryland magazine carried two articles of interest about Garrett county.

There is a portrait story concerning Gordon "Sandy" Douglass, boatbuilder and founder of the Douglass Boat company, North Third street, Oakland.

The second story concerns the Deer Park Water company, in an article entitled "The Drink that Satisfies."

The first story includes a pboto of "Sandy" sitting at his desk in a smiling mood. It follows the man's history from his first canoe racing victory in 1913 through his sail boating activities which eventually resulted in the manufacture of the Flying Scot, a 19-foot affair and his personal favorite. It was designed in 1957.

From the story it is learned that "much of Sandy's success may lay with the philosophy that motivated his first design: 'give the people the finest quality you can; to do less would be unsporting.'"

The story of the Deer Park drinking water was written by Jane Day with photographs by Arthur E. Smiley. The photos include the enclosed well from which the water is obtained, some 3300 feet above sea level on Backbone mountain.

Used many years ago by the Deer Park hotel and the Baltimore and Ohio railroad's diners, water is now going out to buyers in the eastern region of the United States from the Nestle Company's bottling plant.

The Nestle company acquired Deer Park in 1969 from the Boiling Spring Holding corporation which had started the business in 1966. It provides pure and untreated spring water and government regulations require a testing every two hours.

The magazine also speaks of Garrett county in an article about bridges, written by Gilbert Gude, member of the House of Representatives. It speaks of the national turnpike from Cumberland westward, with its stone bridges, particularly Casselman bridge, built in 1873 as the largest single arch stone bridge in America.

Wreck Injures One Person Last Week

Auto mishaps in the Friendsville-Accident area the middle of last week caused injury to one person. One deer was killed.

Wallace L. Walker, 25, Cumberland, was injured but apparently not treated at the time of the accident. Walker was traveling north on the Friendsville-Addison road last Thursday about 3 p. m., when his truck dropped off onto the right shoulder. The shoulder being soft, caused him to lose control of his truck which crossed the roadway and struck the parked car of William Sines on private property. Tfc. Daniel E. Tharp made no charges. Both vehicles sustained disabling damage.

Donald A. Wehr, Star Route, was driving south on U. S. Route 219 near the Accident-Bear Creek road last Wednesday about 11 p. m. At that time a deer ran from the west shoulder and struck the left rear fender of the Wehr car. Tfc Tharp investigated. The deer was killed according to the Wildlife Service.

Backs Farm Bureau Recommendations On Land Use Bills

Delegate DeCorsey Bolden (R. Garrett Co.) announced his sopport of the recommendation by Marylands Farm Bureau that all Land Use Planning Bills be referred to the Legislative Conncil for examination. Bolden also subscribes to another provision calling on the Governor to appoint a special committee to work with the Council in developing legislation which would be responsive to the needs of the people.

A two-day Land Use Conference was held in Annapolis on March 1 and 2 where state and county Farm Bureau leaders heard testimony by state officials and agricultural experts.

The result of the hearings was recognition that better land use planning is urgently needed, but none of the proposed legislation provided adequate means to compensate landowners for participation in open space and environmental programs.

Bolden said, "T. Allan Stradley, president of the Farm Bureau has correctly pointed out that land values are life and death to many farmers and landowners. A farmer could see the entire earnings of a lifetime of hard work swept away by legislative decision and he wouldn't even have a say in it."

The Farm Bureau Resolntion calls for adequate agriculture representation of the special study committee.

Include Town In Income Tax Return

Residents of Incorporated Towns within Garrett County are being reminded to indicate their Town residence in the proper block on their State Income Tax Relurn.

The use of the Post Office address alone will not give to the town its share of income tax due to be distribued to it by the State. This does not increase a person's income tax but only assures that it will be properly distributed.

America is a land of bells!

Wedding bells, door bells, dinner bells, school bells, sleigh bells . . . all speak of a country where freedom from tyranny exists.

Chimes also keynote freedom of speech as commentators broadcast the news. Typewriter bells ring out freedom of the press. And church bells, whether they be the musical chimes from a cathedral's spire, or the ding dong from the steeple of a village chapel, typify freedom of religion.

Churches throughout the land are open to all. Inside their doors, we cast aside worry that shackles our hearts in this atomic age. We find strength and courage to face the unknown future. Our faith, hope and trust in God, who says, "Fear not; for I am with thee," is renewed and peace fills our anxious souls.

Let us accept the invitation of the bells to "Come and worship," and go to church regularly.

THE OTHER SIDE

Lesson for March 18, 1973

Background Scripture: Genesis 3:1-19; Psalms 14:1-3; Jeremiah 10:23; 17:9, 10; Romans 1:28 through 2:24. Devotional Reading: Psalms 51:1-12.

Two men were arguing vigorously over what the Bible says about the nature of man. The one man maintained that, according to the Bible, man is essentially good. The other, just as adamantly, argued that the Biblical view of man is basic depravity. Both men were partly right and partly wrong.

Rev. Althouse

"In God's image"

On the one hand, the Bible tells us that man is created "in the image of God," (Genesis 1:27). The Psalmist of old raised this question about man: ". . . "what is man that thou art mindful of him, and the son of man that thou dost care for him?" (Psalms 8:4). The answer that came to him was exciting: ". . . thou hast made him little less than God, and dost crown him with glory and honor. Thou hast given him dominion over all the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet . . ." (8:5).

Man's basic nature, it would seem, is basically good.

Yet, there's another side to man and this is a dark side. Just as in the eighth psalm we see man as made "a little less than God," so in the fourteenth psalm we get another view: "They have all gone astray, they are all alike corrupt; there is none that does good, no, not one" (14:2,3). The prophet Jeremiah searched the heart of man and was discouraged with what he found: "The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately corrupt; who can understand it?" (Jeremiah 17:9).

Nor does the Apostle Paul seem much more hopeful about man: "Full of envy, murder, strife, deceit, malignity, they are gossips, slanderers, haters of God, insolent, haughty, boastful, inventors of evil, faithless, heartless, ruthless" (Romans 1:29, 30).

"They have all gone astray . . ."

The Christian view of man is two-fold, therefore. Man is created for goodness, but he has much native capacity for evil. Uniquely endowed by God above all other creatures, man is always finding himself pulled in the other direction. And this is true, not just of some men, but all of us. There is both good and evil in all of us.

This is essential for us to remember, because we sometimes are tempted to divide mankind into the "good guys" and the "bad guys." We tend to forget that there is evil in all of us. A man, angry at his neighbor, once prayed: "O Lord, let this evil man suffer your wrath!" God politely replied: "Which evil man?" When we speak with God of "evil men," let us remember what Isaiah said: "All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way" (Isaiah 53:6).

There is both a grandeur and a misery about the nature of man. Whether we personally think of man as essentially good or evil, let us always remember that there is another side.

OPEN LINE

By
Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked me:

What Federal help is available to a community that wants to establish a small public park?

There are two Department of Housing and Urban Development programs designed to assist State and local communities in acquiring land for urban parks or creating parks from land they already possess. Through the Open Space land program, HUD grants help communities acquire, preserve and develop open space land for permanent public benefit and use. Grants to assist in public ownership are available through the Urban Beautification and Improvement program.

Do you have any of those comic books left that inform young children of the dangers of accidental poisonings?

Yes. "Dennis the Menace Takes A Poke At Poison" is available from my Washington office and is a good vehicle by which to teach the message of caution to young children.

Has the government ever checked into advertising claims by pet food manufacturers?

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) recently ordered several makers of pet food to furnish documentation for certain advertising claims as part of its continuing program to determine what substantiation exists to support major claims.

What are the current legal penalties for heroin "pushers?"

For unlawful distribution of heroin, and for possession with intent to distribute, if a first offense, the Federal penalties are imprisonment up to 15 years and or a $25,000 maximum fine. An adult giving heroin to a minor is subject to imprisonment for up to 30 years for a first offense and 45 years for subsequent offenses and or a fine twice that otherwise authorized.

I recently received in the mail a bill for joining a club I never heard of. I later found out that it wasn't an invoice but a deceptive gimmick to get a contribution out of me. Can't something be done about this kind of thing?

Several months ago the Postal Service ordered that all such mail must state on the envelope —"This is not a Bill." On the bill itself the following words must also appear—"This is a solicitation. You are under no obligation to pay unless you accept this offer."

What were the results of your recent questionnaire?

Complete results are currently being tabulated and will be reported in my April newsletter.

I heard that the government was going to require mail-order companies to deliver their goods within a certain time limit or be forced to automatically return the sender's money. Any truth to that?

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) has conducted hearings on a proposal that would require mail-order merchandice to be delivered within 21 days or you get your money back. However, a final ruling on this proposed regulation has not yet been issued.

When I became 65 last year I applied for medical insurance under the Medicare program, but I didn't have the required work under Social Security to obtain hospital insurance coverage. Hasn't Congress changed this law?

Yes it has, and people like yourself who are ineligible for hospital insurance may sign up for this coverage on a voluntary basis beginning July 1. The monthly premium will be about $33 and enrollment for medical insurance will also be required.

What were the results of your recent survey?

Early tabulation of the questionnairs indicates that 3 out of 4 respondents believe Congress should establish a mandatory spending ceiling and over half support cuts or no increases in various Federal spending categories. Foreign aid, welfare programs and urban renewal projects lead the list of areas recommended for decreased spending. Majorities also opposed a federally-subsidized compulsory health insurance program and favored using Federal revenue sharing funds to reduce property taxes. Respondents were equally divided on whether the state of the economy has improved under the controls imposed by the President. Complete findings will be published in my April newsletter and will also be sent to your local newspaper and radio and television station.

Does the Corps of Engineers charge admission fees at lakes and reservoirs under its jurisdiction?

No, but nominal fees are charged for use of some of the recreation facilities such as family and group camping areas. Fees are not charged however for water accesses, visitor centers, overlook sites and certain boat launching ramps. For information on a specific area I suggest you contact your nearest office of the Corps of Engineers.

Where can I obtain a copy of the latest environmental impact report on offshore oil drilling?

The Interior Department has just issued a comprehensive report titled, "Outer Continental Shelf Resource Development Safety: A Review of Technology and Regulations for the Systematic Minimization of Environmental Intrusion from Petroleum Products." The report is available from the Marine Board, National Academy of Engineering, 2101 Constitution Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20418.

Capitol Comment

By Charles McC Mathias
U.S. Senator

Finding Fiscal Facts First-Hand

I have been travelling in Maryland the last few weeks because of the federal budget.

People are talking about the budget—that huge collection of page after page of figures—as the key to our national housekeeping for the coming year, and I believe the place to find out about it is not in Washington, but in Maryland.

As a new member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, I will have to make decisions in many areas. Should we cut back on many activities of the federal government? Can we afford to continue them? Which programs are good and which should he dropped?

It seems to me that one of the best ways to approach this task is to get all the information that is available. That includes the reports that the President makes to Congress, facts and figures from the various departments, and opinions on whether programs are really doing what they were intended to do.

But perhaps the most important information comes from talking with people who are on the front lines . . . those who actually carry out the programs in Maryland, and those who receive the services. There is no substitute [illegible]

For example, I visited a day care center in Seat Pleasant, Prince Georges County. There are several questions concerning day care and the level of funding is only one of them.

Another question is the impact of [illegible] children ineligible for day care if their mothers' earnings are above a certain level. This could force some working mothers to give up their jobs, to care for children who are no longer eligible for day care. It could put some mothers right back on relief from which the day care centers had rescued them. We must look very carefully to see if this kind of action is beneficial socially or in terms of dollars and cents.

In Baltimore, I visited a comprehensive community health program which acts as family doctor to 50,000 mothers and children in areas where the only other family doctor is a hospital emergency room. The benefits here include a lower maternal death rate, savings in hospital costs because problems are spotted early and treated without hospitalization, and early treatment of emotionally disturbed and retarded children. This alone may save us millions of dollars by averting juvenile delinquency and educational problems in the years ahead. This program is threatened by a shift in the way grants are made in Washington, a shift which doesn't save a penny of the taxpayer's money but which could eliminate those services.

Sports Slant

One of the region's outstanding wrestlers this year is Lee Sutherland, Northern High School senior, who won third place in the 155-pound division of the Maryland Public Secondary Schools Athletic association tournament.

A good account of his activities appeared in the Friday edition of the Cumberland News, written by C. V. Burns.

He said: "his finish climaxed a three-year varsity career with an overall record of 41 wins, seven losses and one draw. Sutherland, 17, is a resident of McHenry.

"Lee was undefeated through the past two regular seasons and compiled an 18-2-1 record in his senior year, including tournaments.

"A first place bye in the Bi-County qualifying round, a first place in the sectional tournament led to Lee's third place in the state

"Last year Lee was awarded the Doug Carey Memorial award as the school's most outstanding wrestler and has been team co-captain for two years.

"As a junior Sutherland also was awarded the Bi-County first place bye and ranked second in the sectional tournament. In his sophomore year he took third in the bi-County competition. While at the Greene County Wrestling school, Waynesburg, Pa., Lee won first place at 165 pounds.

"As a sophomore Lee filled Northern's 155-pound varsity slot, moved up to 167 pounds as a junior, and dropped back to complete his senior year and earn his state position at 155.

"At Northern Sutherland was a back on the football team, plays the trumpet in the senior band, is a member of the Letterman's club and won first place in the ninth grade intramural wrestling tournament.

Lee has interests in electronics and hopes to attend the U. S. Naval academy at Annapolis."

Y. D. Hance Will Address Inter-City Rotary Meeting

Maryland's first secretary of agriculture, Young D. Hance, will be the speaker at an inter-city meeting of Rotary clubs of Friendsville, Grantsville and Oakland, on Monday evening, March 26, at the Friendsville fire hall. Hance was named to that new position the day after Christmas by Governor Marvin Mandel.

B. O. Aiken of the Friendsville club, is program chairman for this event and said that the Ladies Auxiliary to the Friendsville fire department would serve the dinner. Rotarians may invite farm oriented persons to accompany them. Mr. Aiken said invitations also had been issued to the farm bureau president, members of the board of directors, the County Commissioners, the Fair board, and others.

Mr. Hance served as president of the farm bureau in 1965 and 1966. He has been chairman of the Maryland Agricultural commission since 1968 and is currently serving as chairman of the Board of Nationwide Mutual Fire Insurance company. He owns and operates a tobacco and livestock farm near Prince Frederick, Calvert county.

In a recent interview by a representative of Maryland Farm News, Mr. Hance said, "I feel that agriculture needs to develop liaison with the other state agencies on a level where the problems of agriculture are known to those agencies. There has been a lack of this in the past. Further, I believe that the problems of land use planning, pollution, water quality control, ecology and the concern of the general public for the future of the state are critical. Agriculture needs to have more input and become involved in future plans and I would hope that with all of the responsibilities of setting up this department there can be time devoted to [illegible] problems."

Poison Prevention Is More Than Packaging

New Federal law requires child-proof packaging for many products involved in childhood poisonings. To protect your children, ask for this special packaging . . . use it . . . and after using, be sure to resecure each safety closure!

However, Remember . . .

- Children are curious. They want to taste things. They will try to open the best designed safety guards.
- Children will imitate. Take your own medicine out of their sight.
- Children love sweets. Never tell them medicine is "candy." They'll eat it when you're not around.
- Small children can't read warning labels. Store hazardous household products and medicines in separate cabinets. Keep these substances locked up when not in use. Clean out cabinets periodically.
- Children get hungry and thirsty. Keep hazardous products in original containers, never in cups, soft-drink bottles or other food utensils.

VOLUME 97 | OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MARCH 22, 1973 | PER COPY 10c | NUMBER 4

Outrageous! . . .

We think of past killings in South Vietnam and many persons explode. It is terrible. But if a person really wants a cause to get up on his hind legs about, we have a suggestion.

The 1972 accidental death toll in the United States reached 117,000, a two percent increase over 1971, and cost the nation an estimated $22.3 billion, an increase of $3 billion. Further, disabling injuries from all types of accidents rose from 11.2 million to 11.4 million. Traffic fatalities increased from 54,700 to 56,300. Costs involved in motor vehicle accidents were $17.5 billion.

The death rate for all accidents in 1972 was 56.2 per 100,000 population, compared with 55.8 in 1971. Even in our own state the figures are appalling. The highway fatalities up to the present week were 143 compared to 154 for the same period last year.

Of sixteen accidents this past week four were due to alcohol, ten due to speed and thirteen due to driver error.

Anyone who wants to carry a sign or picket, could select the fatality rate to use up his energies. The record is really outrageous.

This problem will not get any better until citizens as a whole decide to make it a major project—to reduce the accident death rate. We could do something about alcohol if we so desired. We could do something about excessive speed if we were so inclined. We could do something about driver error if we were determined to keep on our toes every instant we are driving. But we've got to become really concerned over this tragedy. It is getting worse each year.

Let's really get "hepped" on the subject, and do something about it.

Worst Storm Of The Season Pounds Mt. Top

Many Secondary Roads Closed, Forcing Schools To Close

A late and the worst winter storm of the season pounded the Mountain Top over the weekend closing roads and cancelling activities and with Spring just around the corner.

The high winds along with a reported seven inches of snow closed many county roads and made some State Roads one-way for a time. Drifts of six to ten feet were reported. The storm also caused power blackouts Sunday morning in the Oakland area. Schools were closed Monday because of the weather, for the first time this school year.

Moderate gale force winds were experienced Saturday night through Sunday with sustained wind speeds of about 25 to 35 miles per hour and gusts up to 45.

A spokesman for the County Roads said crews were out from Saturday night through Monday evening attempting to open the roads and keep them so. He said abandoned cars along some roads impeded the County Roads plows from clearing some roads Monday morning and crews were forced to back track. Fallen trees also hampered operations at times. It was said roads in the Oakland area were the worst hit.

State Highway Administrations crews were out all during the storm to keep the roads open. None of the roads was closed completely. Route 219 south of Oakland, Route 42 north of Friendsville and Route 39 west of Oakland were open to one-way traffic only Monday morning.

A basketball team from Clarksburg, Roosevelt-Wilson High School, was returning home from a victorious game at Keyser and was forced to spend

Storm Sidelights

Storm damage reports are rampant over the county this week, following 60 m.p.h. gale-force winds and heavy snowfall over the weekend.

Several hundred dollars worth of damage was done to the Clarence Holdren home, Knoll Crest, when wind raised the offset roof and lifted out two pillars by the front entrance.

The wind also tore out fence posts on the Billy R. Martin property, even though the uprights had been cemented into the ground.

Numerous reports of roof damage to homes and barns were noted in Friendsville, Oakland and surrounding areas. Several broken windows were blamed on the storm, including ones at Knoll Crest, Naylors Hardware, and the H-P Store.

An awning over Marvin's Men's Wear was blown against the building and battered down Saturday night.

A county deputy, Tom Compton, had left his car along Route 219 Saturday night, and by the time Sunday morning dawned, he needed a metal detector to help him find the vehicle. Several people were seen probing with poles to find cars buried under huge drifts. A snowplow was thoroughly stuck on the Sunnyside Road Sunday evening until the auto patrol came to his rescue.

One way traffic was maintained on many of the secondary roads, and even on the main highways for some hours until the wind died down.

An unscheduled "candlelight" service at St. Peter's Catholic Church took place Sunday at 8 o'clock mass, while the electricity was off. Many other churches had canceled services due to the weather.

Some areas of the county were without electricity as much as twelve hours, some for only one hour. About 50 residents were without telephone service after ten poles were snapped off.

STILL HASN'T MISSED WORK—Mrs. Adam Lucas, telephone operator in Oakland, who resides in Pleasant Valley, hasn't missed a day of work since July, 1971, and wasn't about to break her record Sunday when the first real winter storm of the season blocked secondary highways. Mrs. Lucas was due to go on duty at 10:30 Sunday morning. Earl Boyce, telephone employe, endeavored to reach her home with a four wheel drive jeep, but was unable to do so. So Adam Lucas, Jr., got out his snowmobile and drove his mother over fields and out to a state highway where Boyce was waiting. During her snowmobile trip she fell off once but was not injured. She arrived in Oakland at 4:30 p.m. and after her work shift, spent Sunday night in a motel.

Prisoner Agrees To Return To W. Va. Penitentiary

John Koton, 24, escaped convict from the West Virginia penitentiary at Moundsville, who was fighting extradition in this county to keep from going back to the pen, agreed last Thursday to return voluntarily.

Koton, captured in this county after his escape on New Year's day, told officials that he dreaded to go back because as a witness to the slaying of a guard there, he feared being killed by other convicts.

Last Thursday, before a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus, filed by his Oakland attorney, Koton told Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill that he had talked with the warden at Moundsville and agreed to return voluntarily.

The necessary papers were signed and guards from Moundsville took him back.

Koton had been fighting his return because he witnessed the killing last October of guard William Quillams. He then offered to testify at the alleged killers' trials (four Moundsville inmates have been charged with the slaying) but began to receive threats on his life from inmates.

The West Virginia Supreme court has granted a writ of error on Koton for an appeal of his 1970 conviction of grand larceny and appointed a Kingwood attorney to represent him.

Talks Bring No Progress In Strike At Sterling Plant

Production at Sterling Processing Plant, Oakland, remains at a complete standstill for the second week, after a meeting Friday failed to resolve the differences between management and labor.

A federal mediator offered suggestions to both sides at a meeting March 16, but to date no progress in reaching an acceptable agreement has been noted.

Picketers have so far conducted an orderly work stoppage there, in the first major strike since 1961. Production then had been halted for a few weeks until wage increases and other benefit problems were resolved.

The workers are represented by the Amalgamated Meatcutters and Butchers union, local No. 421, Pittsburgh, and by the teamsters union at Cumberland.

A union member had allegedly stated the workers were asking a 25-cent-an hour increase for the next two years.

Weather To Blame For 5 Accidents Over Weekend

Five accidents Sunday and Monday were due to the weather with two due also to defective brakes. One involved a county snow plow and another a Greyhound bus. There were no apparent injuries.

The first one Sunday occurred near 1 a. m. on U. S. Route 40 just east of the Finzel road. Wayne P. McKenzie, Frostburg, traveling west, lost control of his station wagon due to snow-covered roads and high wind, causing the vehicle to turn over on it side. Tfc. C. D. Skidmore made no charges.

Another occurred on Route 40 Sunday about 2:20 p. m. just east of Church Run road. John W. Doolittle, Fairmont, W. Va., was traveling west followed by a Greyhound bus. Severe winds caused Doolittle to lose control of his car which was blown into the eastbound lane of traffic. Regaining control, he moved back into the path of the westbound bus and the two collided. Damage was minor to the car and none to the bus. Trooper David A. Miller made no charges.

Matching Fund For Library Met

The Garrett Community College Library Matching Fund goal has been met, according to Dr. Luther Shaw, President of the college. Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Thayer of Oakland had previously pledged $2,500 to the college library, provided contributions equaling this amount could be obtained from sources other than operating funds of the college.

A total of $2,999.29 has been contributed. Although this amount is greater than that needed to match Mr. and Mrs. Thayer's pledge, additional support for the college library is needed and will be appreciated, he said.

Dr. Shaw expressed the appreciation of the college for the fine support shown by the more than 25 individuals and organizations who contributed to this matching fund.

Icy Road Causes Three-Car Wreck

Two minor accidents occurred last week in opposite ends of the county, one involving three cars on an icy road.

A car driven by David E. Tracy, Rowlesburg, W. Va., was stopped on U. S. Route 219 two miles north of Red House and waiting for a vehicle ahead to make a left turn last Saturday about 6 p. m. A car driven by Clifton S. Marsh, Westernport, following, applied his brakes and skidded sidewise into the rear of the Tracy car. A car driven by Joseph D. Smith, also following, skidded into the rear of the Tracy car. Visiblity was near zero at the scene of the accident with blowing snow and an icy road surface. Tfc. Robert E. Friend made no charges.

W. H. Burnside, Uniontown, Pa., traveling south on U. S. Route 219 at the Friendsville-Hoyes road last Thursday afternoon, suddenly slowed down and made a righthand turn without giving a signal. Rodney S. Fike, RD 2, Oakland, following, could not stop, skidded past the Burnside car and sideswiped it at the intersection. Trooper Ronald C. Georg charged Burnside with not giving a signal before making a turn.

"Sword Swallowing" Act Suspected At County Jail

A potential sword-swallower has been noted in the county—this one, an inmate at the Oakland jail.

Harold Riggleman told the deputies that he had swallowed a razor blade Tuesday. The man was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for x-rays, but no trace of the sharp object was found. He was to be taken for more x-rays this morning, according to a deputy.

He later told officials that he had found the blade in one of the other cells, and still later said he had found it at the sink, broke it up, and ate it.

A blade had been missing Monday after the prisoners had finished shaving, but evidently only time will tell whether Riggleman is becoming a sword swallower.

OPEN LINE

By
Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information typical of the kind asked of me on or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked me:

Does the President's Council on Physical Fitness have any training films available for use in high school physical education classes?

Yes. The President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports provides free-loan motivational and training films to high schools enrolled in their National Varsity Club program. Also sent to Member schools on a regular schedule are coaches' newsletters, student handbooks, athletic planning guides and other supplemental publications. For information on how to enroll your school in the program, write to Mr. David Lupton, National Varsity Club, Rumson, New Jersey 07760.

Can you tell me what the budget is for the U. S. Postal Service?

In fiscal year 1972, the Postal Service operated on a $9.5 billion budget with a payroll of almost $8 billion.

What actions can the government take during Phase III if it discovers violations of its voluntary economic regulations?

According to the Cost of Living Council proposed pay and price adjustments which are "unreasonably inconsistent" with the standards set may be suspended or rolled back. Price or wage ceilings may be established in such cases and special reporting or recordkeeping requirements also may be imposed. The Council said that mandatory controls may also be reimposed whose violation is subject to both administrative and judicial sanctions.

Do the congressional committees hold hearings on all bills referred to them?

It is the view of many committees that any Member who insists on a hearing on any bill should have it. But there may be several bills almost identical or similiar in substance. In such cases, hearings frequently are on a group of related measures, or a hearing held on one bill serves for all. It is not always possible for a Member to have a hearing on his bill before a committee because of the pressure of business.

I recently had to stop working because of severe chest pains and shortness of breath. I applied for Social Security disability benefits but was denied for no apparent reason. Can you do anything?

Upon receipt of your letter my office contacted the Social Security Administration on your behalf. As you know, based on the additional medical evidence you have provided, your benefits have now been approved. Citizens experiencing similar difficulty in obtaining government benefits justly due them should feel free to contact my office in Washington for assistance.

WASHINGTON REPORT

Not By Roads Alone

In the past week, the Senate has been considering the Federal Highway Act of 1973, which includes an $18 billion authorization for Highway Trust Fund expenditures over the next three years.

The legislation is being acted on quite early this year because it is one of the important measures that failed to come to a final vote before Congress adjourned last year.

In its most simple form, the hill describes the manner in which the government will spend the trust funds that are amassed through federal taxes on gasoline and tires.

The most notable product of the Highway Trust Fund program has been the construction of the Interstate Highway System, which was begun in 1956 and is now more than 80 per cent completed.

More than half of the authorization, or $9.75 billion, is being earmarked for the 90 per cent federal matching grants to continue work on the Interstate system. The 41,000-mile network is expected to be finished in 1982.

Other sections of the bill provide trust fund authorizations for other roads, parkways, trails and scenic routes. I might also point out that the bill proposes to add to the beauty of the highways by prohibiting any billboards along the Interstate system.

But the key section of the bill, and the one that generated the most controversy, dealt with the use of highway trust funds for purposes other than road construction and improvement.

The focal point of the debate was the $2.5 billion authorization for transportation systems in urban areas. The question was whether to allow the use of highway trust funds for mass transit systems as well as roads.

Anyone who lives in the Baltimore-Washington area knows that our city streets are clogged with traffic, and our experience has been that construction of more roads does not ease the congestion, but only brings more traffic.

Most of these urban highways are used to carry suburban commuters to and from their jobs in the cities. At the same time, however, city governments are finding themselves hard pressed to come up with the money for mass transit systems that their citizens really need.

So the question that was put before the Senate was whether to give city governments the right to decide for themselves how to make use of the urban transportation funds of the Federal Highway Act.

The Public Works Committee, which prepared the bill, came out with a recommendation to let the urban transportation funds be used for the purchase of buses as well as for road work, but the committee was against the use of these funds for rapid rail systems.

I believe, however, that city officials should have complete discretion in planning the best transportation system for their community, and I therefore voted for an amendment to allow the urban funds to be used for subway systems as well as buses and roads.

This amendment passed by a 49-44 vote, and in the case of the 32 American cities with a population over 400,000, funds are to go directly to the city government instead of the state highway administration.

The urban system authorization is for $850 million in each of the next three years, and the formula makes Maryland eligible for up to $16.4 million a year.

The debate over the use of the Highway Trust Fund is sure to continue as the bill is considered in the House of Representatives, but I think it is time that local communities be given greater latitude in dealing with the problems that face them.

Summons To Greatness

"Summons to Greatness," is a collection of inspirational thoughts and practical ideas from the messages and addresses of Richard M. Nixon, president of the United States.

Here is another one of the messages:

"We must never forget the strength of America is not in its government, but in its people. There is no limit to the goals America can reach, provided we stay true to the great American traditions.

"Central to the American character is the competitive spirit. That is the inner drive that for two centuries has made the American working man unique in the world and has enabled him to make this land the citadel of individual freedom and opportunity.

"No people has ever been so close to the achievement of a just and abundant society, or so possessed of the will to achieve it. And because our strengths are so great, we can afford to appraise our weaknesses with candor and to approach them with hope.

"We are caught in war, wanting peace. We are torn by division, wanting unity. We see around us empty lives, wanting fulfillment. We see tasks that need doing, waiting for hands to do them.

"To a crisis of the spirit, we need an answer of the spirit. And to find that answer, we need only look within ourselves.

"When we listen to 'the better angels of our nature,' we find that they celebrate the simple things, the basic things—such as goodness, decency, love, kindness. Greatness comes in simple trappings.

"The special genius of American democracy, at one critical turning point after another, has led us to spot the new road to the future and given us the wisdom and courage to take it.

"Listen to Thoreau: 'Cast your whole vote, not a strip of paper merely, but your whole influence.' Youth has the freedom to reach the stars. Don't let young hearts grow earthbound. For the universe is out there waiting."

Worst Storm

the night at a motel at Aurora. The coach and the principal of the school spent the night in their car in an area resident's garage offered to them, about six miles from Oakland.

It all began with fresh breezes and rain with the temperatures in the upper 40s Saturday morning. As the day progressed, winds increased, the mercury fell and the rain changed to snow about 5 o'clock in the evening. The high winds and snow continued through Sunday with the thermometer reading in the mid-20s.

The storm subsided somewhat late Sunday and had left the area by 4 a. m. Monday. Light breezes and flurries gave way to clearing skies by late that morning. The sun melted some of the snow but a mild breeze and temperatures in the upper 20s slowed the thawing.

It was all caused by a strong low pressure system that moved up the coast from the southwest.

Spring began Tuesday afternoon at 1:13 with much of the snow melting.

The "balmy" 75 degrees of Thursday and 66 on Friday were teasers of what was to come over the weekend. The high temperature Saturday was 60 degrees early in the morning. As the day progressed the mercury declined steadily to a low of 23 degrees at night. During this time the wind-blown rain changed to snow and the storm was on. Temperatures remained below the freezing mark from Saturday afternoon until late Tuesday morning but were in the upper 30's to osher in Spring at 1:13 p.m. The lowest reading was Monday with 19 degrees. Low temperatures during the week averaged 6 degrees above normal and the highs 7 above normal. Some sun Monday and Tuesday helped to take much of the snow away. There was some light snow and flurries early yesterday. Other than during the storm, winds have been mostly calm to light. Precipitation was about a quarter inch below normal, amounting to .91 inch.

Measure Would Put Deputies Under Merit

Bills to put the deputies sheriff and the clerk to the county commissioners under the county merit system have been introduced by Delegate DeCorsey Bolden.

HB 1502 deals with the deputies and HB 1504 concerns the clerk and also take the positions out of appointment status.

Another Bolden bill, HB 1503, seeks to permit those 65 and older in the state to use public transportation vehicles at half fare.

Bolden noted that he had another bill in the House to let the elderly ride for free and that bill would take precedence over the half-fare measure if passed.

Bolden also introduced a resolution congratulating Kathleen M. Hoye, of Southern High, who has been selected as one of four delegates to represent Maryland at the National 4-H Conference.

Funds Restored

Bolden received approval on an amendment before the Capital Budget Committee Monday to have $10,000 restored in the states 1974 budget study for the Casselman River bridge.

The money will be used for a cost estimate study for the restoration of the bridge.

Free Work Right On TV Upheld

On January 23, Judge Charles L. Brieant, Jr. in the United States District Court for Southern New York upheld the right of William F. Buckley, Jr. and M. Stanton Evans to work on television without belonging to a labor union. It was an historic decision that received surprisingly little general publicity.

Mr. Evans, who is editor of the Indianapolis News and Chairman of the American Conservative Union, appears on segments of "Spectrum," a CBS radio and tv program featuring opinion from various columnists. Mr Buckley's program "Firing Line," is shown on the public television network. When Mr. Buckley was told that he had to join and pay dues to the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA), or go off the air last year, he yielded, but he brought suit because he saw a threat to freedom of speech. He said, "It is my opinion that the requirement that an individual pay dues to a private organization in order to work is a modern writ of indentore."

He was joined in his suit by Mr. Evans, who charged that AFTRA's compulsory union shop requirement violated their rights under the 1st, 5th and 9th amendments to the Constitution. Their case was argued with the assistance of the National Right to Work Legal Defense Foundation.

In his ruling, Judge Brieant held that contracts making union membership compolsory for news commenators and analysts exerted "a chilling effect" on free speech, and he declared "illegal and unconstitutional" sections of the National Labor Relations Act authorizing closed-shop agreements. The case will be appealed by AFTRA. Meanwhile—Three Cheers!"—U. S. Press Association.

Weather To

Richard E. Jordan, Deer Park, was stopped northbound on Sand Flat road due to a blinding gust of snow. Mary Ann Miller, Star Route, Oakland, following, was unable to stop due to faulty brakes and collided with the Jordan car. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater charged Mary Miller with failing to meet standards of eqoipment (faulty brakes).

Near 5 p. m. the same day a County Roads truck, with plow, and car collided at the intersection of Route 40 and New Germany road. The truck operated by Kenneth J. Savage had just plowed snow north on New Germany road and was turning around to return on the same road. At that time Logan J. Wengerd, Grantsville, pulled out onto Route 40 and applied his brakes which failed and the vehicle drifted back into the plow stopped at the intersection. Trooper Ronald C. Georg investigated.

An icy road and wind caused a mishap about 3:30 Monday afternoon on U. S. Route 219 near Gortner. Robert A. Hawkins, Beallsville, Ohio and John D. Davis, Morgantown, were traveling south on Route 219. Hawkins came upon an icy spot in the road, lost control and slid sideways. Davis also applied his brakes to avoid a collision and hit the Hawkins car. Tfc. C. D. Skidmore made no charges.

Bernie Zlomek Following Father's Rescue Squad Steps

By Carol Canan

Four necessary elements of good ambulance service are an adequate number of vehicles properly maintained and safely driven; speedy communications with a central location to receive all calls and two-way radio contact with ambulances; ample supply of first aid equipment; and well-trained personnel.

Oakland Jaycee vice-president Bernie Zlomek, who has helped spearhead the drive for a Southern Garrett County Rescue squad, is very well satisfied with the progress the group has made so far.

The four requirements above were taken from the book by Ann Cutler, "Four Minutes to Life." Her work covers the importance of resuscitation in nearly all sudden deaths, stressing that with immediate help, many heart attacks, drowning, asphyxiation, stranguiation, lightning and vehicle accident victims need not pass from "clinical" to "biological" death.

In her book, she notes especially the rescue squad of Greenport, N. Y., where three trained members are credited with saving the lives of a family there.

The men included John Zlomek, father of Bernard, who responded to a call in Greenport and helped revive Mrs. Eleanor Evans, son Gordon, and her mother, Mrs. Nellie Brown, who had been overcome by coal gas.

After resuscitation efforts continued for 45 minutes, the three were able to be transported to a hospital where all made a complete recovery.

The Cutler book noted that the Greenport squad was considered one of the best in the United States.

Young Zlomek is beginning to follow in his father's footsteps, as far as interest and civic spirit go. Although a relative newcomer to Oakland, he has been a powerful force in beginning the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, Inc.

When Dr. William Pope, county health officer, approached the Jaycees some months ago to help organize the squad, Bernie volunteered to become chairman of the project, and seems overdue for some credit for his efforts.

Currently, the Jaycees, under his direction, are sponsoring a fund raising door-to-door canvass to obtain the necessary $10,000 to properly conduct the rescue squad. The group hopes to have the squad operating in June. Robert B. Sincell undertook to teach 40 volunteers necessary emergency care techniques and the group completed its first phase of training Tuesday night.

Mr. Zlomek, the younger, is a project forester for the Maryland Forestry Service. He wound up in Garrett County when a job was offered to him upon his graduation in 1969 from Syracuse University, and so far has found no reasons to regret his choice.

He is married to the former Linda Turek, and they and their one daughter reside on Green Street.

In addition to the Jaycees, where Mr. Zlomek has been vice president for one year and a member for three, he is a member of St. Peter's Church council and a member of the Appalachian Professional Foresters Association.

He says that as far as his desires for county improvements go, he will be content to get the rescue squad on its feet and operating smoothly and efficiently.

Probably his next step will be to aim the squad for a rating as one of the best in the United States, as another step along the path blazed by Zlomek the elder.

Friendsville Wor Dead Remembered In Article

An excerpt from The Free State Warrior, March issue, by Department Adjutant Dan Burkhardt, contains a statement about the heavy loss of life by Friendsville soldiers during the Vietnam war.

Speaking of the end of the Vietnam struggle, he included the following:

When spring comes to Maryland once again I plan to drive up to our beautiful mountains. There I'll enjoy the lovely mountain laurel, the sweet smell of newly turned earth and of budding things. I'll walk down the main street of the little town of Friendsville and remember six fine young men. Yes, I'll think of Danny Nicklow, Ross Fike, Charles Hook, Roger Garlick, Norman Thomas and Thomas Fike. All, having lost their lives half way round the world and all coming from this tiny community. What a terribly high percentage of this town's youth, gave the ultimate sacrifice to secure peace and security in the world."

Tri-County Group Reports On Area

Four reports prepared by the Tri-County Council for Western Maryland were presented by members of the staff to the Executive Board at its regular monthly meeting held at Cumberland, on March 14. Each of these reports has been prepared by the Council either for the Appalachian Regional Commission in response to a formal request or as part of the Council's normal work program for the past fiscal year.

The Communications-Survey was prepared by John H. Dane, an intern from Frostburg State College, as a result of a formal request from the Appalachian Regional Commission. The Recreation Survey was also done primarily by Mr. Dane. Almost all of the information contained in this survey can be utilized as basic data for any Open Space or Recreation planning now done by the Council.

Another report prepared includes a compilation of the basic population statistics for the three county area. The report breaks down all of the population statistics as presented in the 1970 Census and displays them in tabular form so they can be easily compared county by county.

The fourth report contains all of the information and data collected in relation to the Council's activities regarding the extension of the C and O Canal from North Branch into the City of Cumberland.

All of the reports are available to the public and copies may be obtained by contacting the Council office, Suite 510, Algonquin Motor Inn, Cumberland. Available copies will be provided free of charge.

Wild Cat Trapped In Oakland Sunday Night

An unusual thief was trapped in Proudfoot's Oakland Pharmacy Sunday night.

The varmint, a small domestic stray cat, had been living wild and free in Proudfoot's Oakland Pharmacy for the past several days.

The animal was living on candy, crackers and any other edibles it could find after it had managed to find a way into the building.

After being caught in a Hava-Heart trap, the tabby is caged at the Proudfoot home on Monte Vista Road. Anyone wishing to try taming a wildcat is welcome to the beast, according to Robert Proudfoot.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

Judgment is one of the great words of the Holy Bible. The word "judgment" is used nineteen different ways in the Holy Scriptures. I shall only deal with the meaning as it relates to the justice of God. God has committed all judgment unto His Son, Jesus Christ. Our Churches believe and state in their creeds that Christ shall come to judge the living and the dead. In our text Paul says that we shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ Rom. 14:10. Later he says that every one shall give an account of himself to God. That means that we shall give an account of our sins, of our stewardship and of our deeds whether good or evil.

What judgment seat before Christ? The most literal statement of the judgment-seat is that of the great "white throne judgment" in Rev. 20:11-15. The one on the throne is Christ, who loved us so much that He died to save us. His face will be such that the earth and heaven will flee away. Earth's creatures will be left without earth's support. The resurrection has already taken place. Union has taken place between our spirits and our bodies. The account is to be given of the deeds done in the body while living on the earth. These deeds are of two kinds: good and evil. "The dead were judged by what was written in these books, by what they had done." (Moffatt Trans.)

This indicates a general judgment for all in the Book of Life are righteous. Their judgment will be glorious. Jesus says, "Come ye blessed of My Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you before the foundation of the world." God has promised that the sins He has forgiven will not be remembered any more against us.

Oh, how different will be the judgment of the wicked or those who have unforgiven sins "Depart from Me, ye cursed into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels." Mt. 25:41. "Whosoever was not found written in the Book of Life was cast into the lake of fire." Rev. 20:15. "But the fearful and the unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers (fortune-tellers), and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone." Rev. 21:8. "Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these: adultery, fornication (the same sin as adultery except between the unmarried.), uncleanness, lasciviousness, Idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies, envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings (hilarious parties with dancing—Webster's Unabridged Dictionary Theological meaning), and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have told you in time past; that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God." Gal. 5:19-21. You can find how God will judge the homosexuals in Romans 1: 24-32. What did the above word "uncleanness" mean? We are told In the words of Jesus means 'defiled' and these sins are enumerated in Mark 7:21-23.

"Woe" is a fearful word in the Bible that indicates God's judgment. Where do the liquor dealers and the beer-joint operators stand there? "Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor drink, that puttest thy bottle to him, and makest him drunken also." This indicts most of the people engaged In the intoxicating beverage business. Read Isaiah 5: 11 also.

What do we hear God say about the lazy Church member? "Woe to them that lie at ease in Zion. . .that chant to the sound of the viol and invent to them instruments of music . . . that drink wine in bowls . . . but they are not grieved with the afflictions of Joseph."

There are spiritual adulterers and adulteresses as well as physicalness. "Ye adulterers and adulteresses know ye not that friendship of the world is enmity with God? Whosoever therefore will be a friend of the world is an enemy of God." James 4:4. God means by 'the World is explained in I John 2: 15, 16. "Love not the world, neither the things that are In the world. If and, man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world." "We all shall stand before the judgment seat of Christ."

3rd Lenten Service Set For Wednesday

The third in a series of worship services and study groups will be held next Wednesday evening, March 28th, at St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

This series of services has been arranged by the pastors of five local congregations to take place six Wednesday evenings during Lent. Under the arrangements the services will be each Wednesday evening in a different church. The theme for the entire series is a comparison of the expression of religion during Biblical times and the modern day.

Guest preacher for next Wednesday's service will be the Rev. James Remley, pastor of Bethel United Methodist Church, Mt. Lake Park. Following the worship portion of the service, there will be a presentation at 8:15 p. m. based on the use of music in a church service. This service is planned to feature the use of voice and instruments in a worship service. It will begin with simple melodies, continue with more complex organ numbers, and end with "old time" favorite hymns.

The service for the following Wednesday, April 4th will be held at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland.

Deer Park Man Found Hanged In Prison Cell Sunday

A 23-year-old former resident of Deer Park, who was serving a sentence in Maryland Correctional Institution, was found hanged in his cell Sunday, March 18.

The man, Claude Wayne Friend, was serving eight years for assisting in the robbery of Route 135 Drive In restaurant and for attempted robbery of Hartman's Service Station, near Deer Park, in April 1971.

Also convicted of the robberies was Thomas E. Perry, also of Deer Park.

Prison officials at Hagerstown said Friend was found hanged from a window of his cell with a belt. They indicated that they had no inkling why the young man had taken his life.

Friend had been with the Army at Fort Bragg, N. C., as a member of the military police, and had served 14 months in Korea. He was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park, and the Hagerstown Jay-Cees.

Born January 18, 1950, in Deer Park, he was a son of Milford A. and Esther D. (Patton) Friend.

His survivors include one son, Edward J. Friend; one sister, Mrs. Linda D. Broadwater, Deer Park; one brother, Allan M. Friend, Deer Park, and his maternal grandparents, Nathan and Naomi Patton, Flushing, Ohio.

Services were conducted from the Minnich-Stewart Funeral Home Wednesday morning with Rev. John A. Grant officiating. Burial followed in Deer Park Cemetery. Full military honors were accorded at the graveside by a detachment from Fort Ritchie, near Hagerstown.

Pallbearers were Allan Friend, Robert Rollman, Dale Hinebaugh, James Patton, William Kisner and Dale Broadwater.
